RUSSIANS WIN DECISIVE VICTORY OVER THE TURKS

Two Turkish Army Corps Literally Wiped Out, One Surrendering and the Other Being Annihilated

LONDON, Jan. 5.—One of the most decisive victories of the war has been won by the Russians. In the far-off Caucasus, where two entire Turkish army corps, totalling nearly 100,000 men, have been literally wiped out, one surrendering and the other being annihilated.

The news came to London last night in an official Petrograd bulletin, which gave the location of the victory as Sari-Kamyah, a little town near the boundary between Russia's Caucasian territory and Turkey in Asia. The Ninth Turkish Army Corps, including its commander and three division commanders, fell into the hands of the Russians, while the accompanying corps was cut to pieces, such small bodies of the troops as succeeded in escaping being closely pursued and destroyed.

At the same time another Turkish column, farther to the northwest, near Ardahan, who were said in a flamboyant bulletin from Constantinople two days ago to have captured that town, has also been driven back by the Russians and is threatened with disaster. The Turks here are practically surrounded by the Russians, who hold the main roads and are frantically trying to find an outlet through passes deep with snow. The Russians are attacking Ardahan on two sides and have brought heavy field artillery into effective play.

It is likely when full details are known that the battle at Sari-Kamyah will prove to be one of the most fiercely fought and picturesque of the war. If the combatants were equally divided as to strength there were at least 200,000 men engaged in a "furious death grapple" amid the heavy snows that envelop the Caucasian foothills at this season. The ancient hatred of Turk and Slav had an outlet that was without stint. Details of the battle that came filtering into London with every hour indicate that the Turks fought gamely and showed great bravery when they saw the tide going against them. When they were compelled to give way before the furious onslaughts of the Cossacks and the Russian Infantry they made valiant but futile efforts to cover their retreat by rear guard actions, even the wounded continuing to fire from the ground after they had been struck down.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S EUROPEAN WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Two Turkish armies defeated in Trans-Caucasia; one corps captured bodily, save Russian report. French attack Cernay in Alsace. Germans say French have been driven back toward Belfort. Allies make slight gains along Belgian coast. Germans report they have captured Berlimow in Poland. Russian cavalry routs rear guard of Austrians in Black Pass. Cardinal Mercier of Belgium reported arrested by Germans. New German effort to turn Russian flank by attack from Thorn. Forth on the Dardanelles open fire on allied fleet; torpedo boat damaged. Russia still receives munitions and sends out provisions at Archangel. Kaiser reported to be eating "war bread" of potato flour; to get his people to use it. England and Germany to exchange prisoners incapacitated for further service. England gratified by American criticism, but fears addition to cargoes at sea.

300 PERSONS WERE OVERCOME BY SMOKE

Three Alarms Sounded for Fire in New York Subway at Broadway and Fifty-Fifth Street at the Height of the Rush Hours This Morning

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—20 persons, it is reported, were killed in a three-alarm fire in the subway at Broadway, near Fifty-fifth street, at the height of the rush hours this morning. More than 300 persons were overcome by smoke.

The entire subway system of the city of New York was put out of commission at eight o'clock this morning, by the burning out of a main cable. An hour and a half later a slow express service was started, only to be halted by a fire. Three alarms were turned in. Eight ambulances were sent to the scene. More were called for immediately. From trains stalled between stations, firemen emerged bearing unconscious victims. Every available fireman that could be spared was called on to help.

Fire Commissioner Adamson, who assumed personal charge of the situation, sent men scurrying throughout the city with orders to bring every pulmotor available to the scene. Some of the victims died before they could be obtained.

Congestion, the like of which the city has seldom seen, prevailed at almost every subway station. At the Brooklyn bridge, the Manhattan entrance was choked by tens of thousands. For 30 minutes detachments of police reserves struggled with the crowds before order could be restored. Elevated trains and surface cars were packed to overflowing all over the city with the throngs, that were turned away from the subway.

Sixty persons were taken in an unconscious condition from the scene of the fire to the flower hospital. Other hospitals received many victims as well.

Fire Commissioner Adamson received reports from battalion chiefs to the effect that the fire was confined to two subway cars, that several persons had been killed and a great many injured and overcome.

Ventilation gratings were taken up from the sidewalks around the 50th and 59th stations and many of the injured were removed in this manner. Police headquarters announced that the number of dead may reach 200.

WOMEN AT WHITE HOUSE

SEEK TO OBTAIN PRESIDENT'S SUPPORT OF AMENDMENT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—To obtain President Wilson's support of a constitutional amendment for nation wide woman suffrage was the object of a call today at the White House of nearly 1000 democratic women, many of them voters whom the president had arranged to see. The amendment will be voted on in the house Jan. 12 and the call on the president marks the opening of the final effort of the suffragists at the present session of congress.

The suffragists had arranged before calling on President Wilson for a meeting to act on resolutions calling on congress to submit the pending amendment and urging the president to aid in enfranchising the women. Afterwards the delegation which was to ride the White House in a long parade of automobiles bearing the suffrage colors.

THE NEW TREATMENT FOR SOUR STOMACH

Cuts out soda mints, and chalk so extensively used in the old-time "dyspepsia tablets." They are too harsh for even strong stomachs, and often do harm if continuously taken. Dys-pep-sis are made by experts who understand these things and have combined the best stomach remedies known to physicians—peppermint, mint, rhubarb and other carminatives and correctives—into delicious tablets that not only look good but taste good and do good. They quickly relieve sour stomach, nausea, indigestion, heartburn.

MILITARY PREPAREDNESS

PLANS CONSIDERED AT CONFERENCE AT SEC. GARRISON'S HOME LAST NIGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Members of the cabinet and leaders in congress were reluctant today concerning the details of the conference at Secretary Garrison's home last night in which they participated when military preparedness of the United States was discussed. Plans for co-operation between the executive and legislative departments on military and naval affairs with particular reference to appropriations for the coming year and the carrying out of a general policy for increasing the efficiency of the military arm of the government were considered. A participant declared that while no definite plans had been agreed upon those present were unanimous that every possible effort should be exerted in congress to bring the army and navy up to the highest standard of efficiency that could be produced with the resources available.

The financial condition of the government was discussed, according to Senator Chamberlain, who added that no proposals were offered for radical or extraordinary changes in the military or naval forces; the conditions of both having been considered generally satisfactory.

"MADE IN AMERICA"

Exhibit to Have Been Held in Pittsburgh Has Been Cancelled by the Art Society

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—The "Made in America" exhibit, to have been held in Carnegie Institute here, has been cancelled by the Art Society of Pittsburgh. Its sponsor, which was declared American manufacturers fear to advertise the fact that their wares were made in the United States. The small number of articles presented for exhibition caused the society to seek the reason and brought from one important manufacturer the admission that he did not wish the fact spread abroad that his products were not made in Europe because of the "popular though erroneous impression that European manufacturers are superior."

Other manufacturers have taken the same view.

THREE NEW 10,000 TONS VESSELS FOR SERVICE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND PACIFIC COAST

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 6.—Three new 10,000 tons steamers are to be built soon on the Atlantic coast for W. R. Grace & Co. for service between New York and Pacific coast ports via the Panama canal, according to an announcement made here today.

It was also announced that the Johnson line of Swedish motor ships would begin a service between Europe and North Pacific ports via the canal May 1.

WHISKEY MARKED "PICKLES"

RICHMOND, Me., Jan. 6.—Joseph E. Carter, a grocer, recently had the surprise of his life when he started to open a barrel marked "Pickles." He found the barrel filled with pint bottles of whiskey.

He then opened another barrel, similarly marked, with the same result. Mr. Carter summoned Deputy Sheriff Edward Bullock and they found 50 pint bottles of whiskey in the two barrels.

Evidently the barrels became mixed in Boston.

MATRIMONIAL

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage of Edward J. Donnelly and Miss Evelyn M. Manchester was performed at St. Patrick's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Timothy P. Callahan. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Lynch, of Amherst, while Joseph O'Donoghue of this city acted as best man. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at 84 Epping street. The happy couple left in the evening on a brief honeymoon trip.

SEEMS TO UNITE TOWNS

FOXROCK, Me., Jan. 5.—A bill will be introduced by J. H. Danforth in the legislature to secure the union of Dover and Foxcroft. Should the bill pass, the towns will vote upon the matter in mid-summer.

Congressman Frank E. Guernsey of Dover, should the towns be united, will introduce into congress a bill asking for an appropriation for a federal building here and the union of the two postoffices.

The Dover-Foxcroft board of trade committee to assist in securing the passage of the enabling act is Hon. John P. Sprague and Robert E. Hall of Dover and Hon. Willis E. Parsons of Foxcroft.

OPERATIVE SERIOUSLY BURNED

Nicholas Martis, an employee of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, was seriously burned about the face, head and hands this morning and was taken to the Lowell hospital in the ambulance. The injured man lives on Fenwick street.

HURT WHILE COASTING

Fred Burns fell off his sled while coasting in West Chelmsford late yesterday afternoon and although no bones were broken, his leg was bruised quite badly. He was removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Burns, where he was treated by the family physician.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many relatives and friends who by words of consolation and floral tributes helped to lighten the burden of sorrow caused by the death of our father. We assure all that we will always remember their kindness.

(Signed) Wm. Marquis and Family.

OPPOSES THE COLOR LINE

MISS TALBOT PROTESTS AGAINST SEPARATING WHITES AND NEGROES AT SCHOOL DANCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the University of Chicago, protested today against the color line being drawn in the social affairs of the high school, which most of the negro children of the city attend.

At the first dance of the season the white and negro children attended together. Miss Fanny R. Smith, dean of girls at the school, then arranged dances for the whites and negroes on separate nights.

In her letter of protest to Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, Miss Talbot wrote: "A good many people believe that if there was ever a time when discrimination between the races should be made this surely is not the time. Our public school certainly is an agency for fostering sympathy and democracy, which must not be allowed to fall to the community."

Miss Smith replied that the parties could be continued under no other circumstances.

"Not only white children but white parents also have made that plain," she said. "The colored pupils and the white meet under identical conditions. The colored pupils are learning. Just as the white ones have to learn that people have political rights but social privileges; that kindly interest in others cannot be forced."

GEN. NELSON A. MILES AT THE LOCAL ARMORY

Military Night Under Auspices of Board of Trade Great Success—Fine Exhibition by Companies

An event that will live long in the annals of the Lowell armory and the local board of trade was the Military Night held last evening. At this time of world war and war discussion everything relating to it is of special interest, but the affair last evening was in itself not only instructive but most enjoyable, for while the grim side of war was often emphasized, the program was so arranged as to show the lighter side of camp and battle life, and there were many informal touches throughout which appealed to these unfamiliar with the more scientific events. Yet, the program was made up of actual scenes from practical military life, with their maneuvers, struggles, war struggles, dress parades, martial music, stern discipline and all that gives a glamor to the life of the soldier. There is no doubt that in the heart of many a son of a member of the board of trade was born the ambition to don the drab uniform in the near future and enlist in the service of Old Glory.

The parade The guest of honor was Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, a distinguished soldier of many battles, who, when the enthusiasm of the evening was at its height rose and made a stirring address, closing with an eloquent salute to the flag. Preceding the affair in the armory Gen. Miles was escorted from the North club by several military companies and a delegation from the board of trade. The parade started from the club promptly at 7:30. First came the band of the Sixth regiment, which played martial music.

The members of the National Guard followed the parade, headed by their commanding officers. Then followed nine automobiles in the first of which, decorated with tiny red, white and blue electric lights rode Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, retired, and President Robert F. Marden of the board of trade. The streets were lined with people all along the route of march and the scene at the armory was most impressive. A detail of the National Guard stood at attention at each side of the entrance and as the military companies drew up they formed in single file in two lines, between which the guests of the evening marched into the armory. Hundreds were gathered in the vicinity and as Gen. Miles passed into the armory he was given a rousing welcome. Throughout the parade a military salute was fired from a cannon on the South common.

Military Program

The military program of the evening was a revelation to all civilians present, displaying not only efficiency but originality and giving glimpses into many phases of military life that most of the guests were familiar with only in books. There was also an apparent friendly rivalry between the various companies that gave a zest to each event in the nature of a contest. The members of the companies entered into the spirit of the occasion with splendid enthusiasm, often giving little individual touches that showed intelligence and lively interest.

The first event was a guard mounting ceremony by Co. M, Ninth regiment. This takes place each day in actual camp life. Men from each company are called for 24 hours duty. They walk their post for two hours, then have four hours' rest, during which time they remain at guard quarters ready to answer any call for assistance. Lieut. D. C. Christian was in command of this feature which was impressive, as the inspection of ranks went on while the band played martial music.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL HELD SESSION TODAY

The municipal council for 1915 met in special session in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this forenoon and after transacting a little routine business adjourned till tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Commissioner Carmichael, who has been ill at his home for several days, was not present at the meeting, but it was stated that he would attend tomorrow's meeting.

There was actually no speech-making inasmuch as the members had had an opportunity at the last two meetings to shoot off any superfluous hot air they might wish to dispose of. Some of them took advantage of the opportunity offered by the close of the old year and the opening of the new, and now the question arises as to whether the men who said nothing were more eloquent than those who spoke.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:10 and read the call for the special meeting. The first business had to do with garage and gasoline licenses. The petitioners were P. J. Ryan and C. P. Cunningham and the petitions were referred to Commissioner Carmichael and Fire Chief Saunders.

The next up had to do with petition for pole locations by the N. E. T. & C. Co. in Daily and Newell streets. Mr. Johnson appearing for the petitioner. The mayor read a letter from a woman in New Bedford objecting to the pole in Newell street, and the suggestion was made that the woman did not quite understand the situation, because of the fact that the telephone company asked for a location on the west side of the street and there is no west side to Newell street. She feared that the pole would be located on the same side of the street, that her property in on the north side, but inasmuch as the location has been asked for on the opposite side it was believed she would withdraw her objection as soon as the situation is made plain to her. The matter was referred to Commissioners Morse and Putnam.

Constables Appointed
The following constables were appointed and their bonds accepted: Joseph S. Lapierre, Ezra Mangus, John McManus, John E. McNamara, Daniel Emery, Harry Demaris, Nicholas D. Spiropoulos, William L. Crowley, William J. Cormier, John J. Gilley and Joseph L. Piccon. William F. Boyle petitioned for appointment as constable and Michael F. Coffey objected to the appointment. Mr. Coffey's charges were contained in a letter to the mayor or the writer asked for a hearing. The hearing was set for Saturday at 11 a. m.

Adjourned till tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Coal, Oats and Paper
Purchasing Agent Poye has received bids on 200 tons of steam coal for the water department, a car of oats for health department, and a quantity of paper for the annual reports of various departments. On the coal D. T. Sullivan bid $1.55 and E. J. Wilson, $1.58. Sullivan gets the contract. The contract for the car of oats goes to Wilder & Wotton, the company's bid being 55¢ cents against 61 1/2¢ bid by Joseph Mullin. The paper contract went to the Proctor Paper Co. The bids per 100 pounds were as follows: F. T. Flemings, sample g, $4.10; sample b, $4.35; sample c, $4.25; sample 164c, $4.55. G. C. Prince & Sons, sample c, $3.95. Proctor Paper Co., sample a, $2.96; sample b, $2.83; sample c, $3.55. This company was awarded the contracts because of its low bid on sample b, the contract for this particular sample calling for 115 reams.

On Civil Service List
"Can you give me a few weeks' work on the street department?" asked a fellow who approached Commissioner Morse in the city messenger's office this forenoon.

"Are you on the civil service list?" asked Charlie.

"Yes, siree," replied the job hunter.

"I'm on the civil service list in Charlestown, at the navy yard, and I'm in good standing, too."

"Well, we're not looking for sailors or soldiers. Go down stairs and get on the civil service list for city laborers, and I'll give you a couple of weeks' work," said Charlie, and then the job hunter got sore and said: "You gave me that same dope two months ago." Charlie was then on his way to the mayor's office and didn't stop for further argument.

Civil Service Examinations
A civil service examination for firemen and firemen will be held in the councilmanic chamber at city hall at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon. On Thursday and Friday, both the aldermanic and councilmanic chambers will be used by civil service examiners, but the city clerk said he had not been informed what these examinations were for.

Birth Enumerators
Birth enumerators for the city of Lowell will be sent out within a week. This is in accordance with a state law which requires that the enumerators will be appointed and the returns in on or before May 1. The enumerators will be appointed either by Commissioner Duncan or City Clerk Flynn, and the chances are that the appointments will be left to the city clerk, though last year they were made by the commissioner.

Possibly there would not be any need for birth enumerators if the doctors would send in birth returns as required by law, but it seems that a number of doctors are rather careless in this matter, though subject to a fine for failing to report.

Held on Murder Charge
HAMM PLEADS NOT GUILTY—MAY BE SENT TO STATE HOSPITAL

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 5.—Charles H. Hamm, 72-year-old farmer and Civil War veteran, who is alleged to have shot and killed Mrs. Marcia Whitmore, the young wife of a neighbor in Hudson last Friday, was before the municipal court yesterday afternoon in a continued hearing, having been previously arraigned on the charge of murder and pleaded not guilty.

After several witnesses testified, Hamm was bound over to the superior court without bail and remanded to jail. He appeared in a debilitated condition and reiterated that God told him to shoot Marcia Whitmore.

Deputy Sheriff Charles R. Buswell, who assisted in the arrest of Hamm, testified that Hamm talked wildly at the time and said that God told him to kill Mrs. Whitmore. It is understood that a petition will be presented to Associate Justice King for the commitment of Hamm to the Bangor state hospital for observation.

THAT GOOD TEETH ARE PRICELESS ARE THE TRUEST WORDS EVER SPOKEN.

If good, sound, healthy teeth could be purchased over a store counter and fitted perfectly and painlessly while we waited, none of us would be without them any longer than it would take us to get to the place where they were on sale. For EVERYBODY admires and desires good, sound, even teeth. But these priceless possessions cannot be secured in this manner. They never have and never will be a marketable article.

How then, can they be acquired?
Well, in the first place, the teeth are gifts of mother nature, and, just as with her gifts of intellect and beauty, they are not bestowed as bountifully upon some as others, neither do all receive teeth of equal beauty, strength, wearing qualities or health.

But few there are, fortunately, who could not have GOOD TEETH for practically their entire lives, if they at all times would give them proper care and the attention of a good dentist.

By my skillful porcelain methods I am enabled to provide natural porcelain, substitute teeth in the place of too-far-gone or entirely missing ones, so that you may take your rightful place among people who possess good looking and good acting teeth.

No pain in any operation when Dr. Gagnon's famous "Nap-A-Minit" is used—teeth extracted and filled, nerves removed, crowns and bridgework inserted with absolute painlessness. This wonderful pain destroyer does not put you to sleep—it simply makes you insensible to pain. You are wide awake and in full possession of your faculties.

EXPECT CALL TO COLORS

Local Greeks Await Call From King of Greece — Thousands Ready to Respond

It is believed that about 70 per cent. of the local Greeks will be called to the colors before a great while, for already the king of Greece has issued an order to all Greeks in Canada to report to their respective regiments in Greece by March 1.

A Sun reporter interviewed several local members of the Greek community this morning and he was informed that a similar call is expected in this country. Dr. Demosthenes J. Generalis in conversation with the writer this morning said the local Greeks have been expecting a call to arms since the opening of hostilities in Europe. He said there are between 7000 and 8000 of his fellow countrymen in this city and most of them, with the exception of those who have large families, are ready to respond to the call. The doctor said no news of the mobilization has yet reached this city, but no one can tell at what minute a general order will be issued throughout the United States. He said if the royal decree reaches Lowell the colony in a short time will be practically deserted, for the decree calls back all Greeks up to the age of 50. The order will come through the general consul in Boston, Mr. Timayenis and as soon as received will be circulated in this city.

Greek Christmas
The Greek Christmas according to the Orthodox calendar, will be observed on Thursday of this week. In both of the local Greek churches special services will be held tomorrow evening from 7 to 11 o'clock. At the old church in Jefferson street, Rev. Anastos Soussides will officiate, while in the other church at the corner of Hanover and Market streets, the officiating clergyman will be Rev. Arsenios Katakopoulas. New Year's will be observed on Thursday of this week with special services in the churches and a general celebration throughout the colony in the evening.

SAVED PET CAT

Two Little Girls Devised Plan to Get Kitten From High Perch

A unique and clever way of removing a pet cat from a perilous position on top of a 40-foot telephone pole was devised today by two 14-year-old girls and as a result the cat was allowed its freedom and the humane society officers were not obliged to climb the pole and carry the kitty to the ground.

A crowd of youngsters was coasting down a Ware street hill and the cat, owned by a family near the corner of Ware and Ralph streets, followed the children and for a time played near the top of the hill. Finally the kitty started to ascend the pole and before being discovered had gained a perch higher than any of the tots could reach. An attempt was made to coax the pet to the ground but this frightened more and it soon climbed to the top of the pole and remained there for some time, being afraid to start downward.

A resident of the vicinity notified the office of the humane society but in the meantime two of the girls who were teasing thought out a scheme to bring the cat to the ground. One of the girls secured a large quantity of heavy string. The other girl found an old doorknob and a basket. One end of the string was tied to the knob and the other end to the handle of the basket. No one appeared to help the girls to the ground but this frightened more and it soon climbed to the top of the pole and remained there for some time, being afraid to start downward.

FUNERALS

DUNN—The funeral of Michael J. Dunn took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his brother Daniel P. Dunn, 672 High street, for the Immaculate Conception church, where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by the Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. I. At the old church in Jefferson street, Rev. Anastos Soussides will officiate, while in the other church at the corner of Hanover and Market streets, the officiating clergyman will be Rev. Arsenios Katakopoulas. New Year's will be observed on Thursday of this week with special services in the churches and a general celebration throughout the colony in the evening.

DOYLE—The funeral of Mrs. Solomon Doyle took place this morning from her home, 756 Merrimack street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock by Rev. Antonio Amoy, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Joseph Bolduc, O. M. I., and Rev. L. A. Nolin, O. M. I. The bearers were Michel Goudreau, John Bonnaventura, Belanger, J. Lafamme, L. Plante and A. Lorange. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the communal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Son.

MARQUIS—The funeral of William Marquis took place this morning from his home, 209 Salem street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Dr. J. H. Racine, O. M. I. The bearers were Honore Sauvageau, Gustave Bourgeois, Hermidas Desrosiers, Pierre Holstert. Among the out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were Joseph Belleville and Misses Josephine and Valida Belleville, all of Lynn. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where the communal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Napoleon Bilodeau.

FRENCH VOLUNTEERS TO MEET
The committee in charge of the arrangements for the biennial convention of the French American Volunteer brigade of the United States, which will be held in this city in February, will hold an important meeting next Thursday evening to complete all arrangements for the event, which promises to be a banner one in the history of the organization.

The meeting will be held at the rooms of Garde Frontenac in Dutton street and will be presided over by Col. Albert Bergeron of the Second Regiment. The final arrangements for the program, which will include a military mass, banquet, business sessions and probably a dramatic entertainment, will be made. It is expected that about 200 men from all over the world will attend the convention, which will be opened by General Wollen of Marlboro.

NEW TRADE COMMISSION

EDWARD N. HURLEY, PRESIDENT OF ILLINOIS MANUFACTURERS ASSN., MAY GET PLACE

EDWARD N. HURLEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The business men of the country will have to deal with a new agency in Washington which probably is destined to play as important a part in regulating the industrial corporations of the country as the interstate commerce commission has in regulating the railroads.

President Wilson prepared to send to the senate the nominations for the new federal trade commission, and the law creating it will become effective immediately upon the confirmation of the appointments. There will be five members of this important new federal commission. It seemed certain that Joseph E. Davies would be a member. Another mentioned for the commission was Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, president of the Illinois Manufacturers association.

DANBURY HATTERS' CASE

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS THE $25,000 JUDGMENT AWARDED AGAINST MEMBERS OF UNION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The supreme court today affirmed the $25,000 judgment awarded by the New York federal court to D. E. Loewe & Co., Danbury, Ct., hat makers against some 130 members of the United Hatters' union under the Sherman anti-trust law as damages resulting from a boycott.

ORIGINAL GENUINE HORLICKS

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascarets now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascarets tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

WATER AS A REST

Many of us tired to the bone, and feeling as if life itself is an effort, dreadfully drag ourselves through the process of dressing for just one more social duty before our weary body can indulge in the sleep it craves.

But there is a way to rest up quickly and effectively, should one care to make a little effort, and the result is marvelous.

Put a towel around your head, turban fashion, to protect your marcelled tresses, and another around your neck to protect your finger from the moisture, then turn on the cold and hot water faucets. When the water is quite hot and the other stream very cold, dip two folded towels into the hot, wring them out and hold them to your face for a second. Now take two more towels and do the same with the cold water.

Alternate the two extremes this way until you begin to feel the effects. Finishing with the cold towels, you will be surprised when you glance again into the mirror.

All the tiny nerve-lines have disappeared, your skin is wonderfully freshened, and you have a faint, alluring tinge of color, your headache has gone, and you now have a renewed force to urge you on for the impending social of the evening.

CASCARETS FOR COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascarets now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascarets tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Worms Make Children Peevish
Some symptoms of worms are: Dandruff, stomach, swollen upper lip, sour tongue, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional griping and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during Trade Mark sleep, slow fever.

If you have the least suspicion that your child is troubled with stomach worms or pinworms, don't hesitate—get a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir. This remedy has been on the market since my father discovered it over 60 years ago. Put your child on the way to good health by using Dr. True's Elixir. Good for adults also. At all dealers, 35c, 50c, and $1.00. Advice free.

Physical Culture and Massage is invaluable to middle aged or elderly men or women in falling health, or in nervous run down condition. Also to children to correct spinal curvature or round shoulders.

Ten Days

If it's coffee that is causing your nervousness, headache, heart flutter, biliousness, or sleeplessness, and you want to keep on with these troubles another year, why—stick to coffee!

It's an established fact that the poisonous drug, caffeine, in coffee causes these and other ills.)

—the delightful pure food-drink.

Made from prime wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses, and free from caffeine, or any other harmful substance.

Usually a ten days' change from coffee to POSTUM is sufficient to convince most coffee drinkers that

ENGLAND'S LOSSES ON SEA GREATER THAN THOSE OF HER ENEMY, GERMANY

BATTLESHIP FORMIDABLE

Although authoritative records show that Great Britain has lost so far in the war seventeen warships as against Germany's thirty, the men, tonnage and armament lost is far to the advantage of Germany. It is also significant that the severest losses in this respect have been met with by the British in their home waters, as the result of the "wearing down" process followed by the Germans in making excursions with submarines from behind their barriers at Helgoland. The Formidable makes the third "big ship" to be lost by the British in home waters. The Bulwark, also a pre-Dreadnought, was blown up at the mouth of the Thames on Nov. 25, and the Audacious, a super-Dreadnought, was sunk off the north coast of Ireland on Oct. 27. The Bulwark may have been destroyed through an internal explosion. The Audacious probably met her fate through a mine, although the British admiralty has not yet even announced her loss. Aside from the total complements of the Good Hope and the Moamouth, numbering 1654 men, lost off the Chilean coast on Nov. 7, Germany's "wearing down" tactics accounts for the majority of the remainder, 4600 in killed, as recently announced by the admiralty. Germany's entire loss is believed to be about 2400, but no figures are accessible.

HERMIT BURNED TO DEATH

GEO. P. HAYES, 70, OF WORCESTER PERISHED IN FIRE THAT DESTROYED HOME

WORCESTER, Jan. 5.—George P. Hayes, 70, who came to Worcester from Boston about 30 years ago and who had lived as a hermit since in a shack on Hawkins street, was burned to death today and his home destroyed. Hayes never did any work and always had money to pay for what he wanted. He said years ago that he had worked at one time as a clerk in a wholesale crockery house in Boston. He buried his mother from the shack in 1857 and paid the undertaker from a bag filled with gold pieces that he unearthed from a pile of rubbish. The officers are looking through the ruins today for hidden wealth.

LAWRENCE MURDER CASE

FALZONE, WHO, IT IS CLAIMED, OCCUPIED SHACK WHERE BODY WAS FOUND, ARRESTED

FITCHBURG, Jan. 5.—Officers who have been investigating the murder of A. Lawrence, a Lawrence Jeweler at Wakefield, on Dec. 20 took into custody here today Blazio Falzone, who it is claimed was the occupant of the shack in which Albertson's body was found. The officials claim that a gold watch and some jewelry were found on Falzone.

Falzone was traced to this city by letters which he sent to friends in Wakefield. The arrest of Falzone was made by State Officer Rustace and Officer Flaherty of the local force, who had been searching for him for two days. The officers stated that when they were about to seize Falzone he attempted to draw a revolver. He was secured at once. Every chamber of the revolver was loaded, the officers said. A gold watch and several pieces of jewelry were found in his pockets. These, the police said, were identified by a man from Lawrence.

At the police station Falzone was formally served with a warrant issued in Wakefield and charging him with the murder of Albertson.

HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE

Oscar J. Comery of Manchester Arraigned — Report on Examination of Woman's Stomach

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 5.—A charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife was made in district court against Oscar J. Comery today, following the receipt of the report of the state chemist who examined the contents of the woman's stomach.

Mrs. Comery died on Nov. 29 last and at the time death was thought to have been due to acute indigestion. Later the body was exhumed and several days ago Comery was arrested. The examination of the contents of the woman's stomach is said by the state chemist to have revealed a quantity of poison.

Comery pleaded not guilty and was held without bail for the superior court.

Mrs. Comery, who was a native of Clinton, Mass., and the daughter of John Schaller of that town, retired in apparent good health on the night of her death. At midnight a local physician was called to attend her. He found her unconscious and death soon followed.

The clergyman who conducted the funeral services and to whom Mrs. Comery had spoken regarding her husband's conduct became suspicious that the woman's death was not from natural causes and that through him that an investigation was begun and the body exhumed.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

WINTER FLOWERS IN THE HOUSE

"I am homesick for some flowers in the windows," said Marie, looking up from a wooden box where she had been busy planting seeds all morning.

"With all the snow outside, I should think flowers inside would be very cheerful," Marjorie replied, removing her heavy wraps and inspecting Marie's diligent labor.

"In Italy and France, the poorest tenements have usually window boxes full of green growing things, and here only the best hotels and clubs seem to use the pretty idea of decorating window sills," sighed Marie.

"And not only do they love to see the flowers and greenery growing but they use many of the herbs in their soups and salads. Why, I have known poor families to grow a great many of their table supplies in window boxes, and of course you have heard of the wonderful cookery of the French, combined with economy."

"Yes, indeed," answered Marjorie. "I was reading about it in school only the other day. What do you propose to raise in the boxes and what is required?"

"The boxes for the raising of herbs should be five to six inches deep and as wide as is convenient. They should not be over a foot wide, however, as in that event the rows at the back will be pale and 'spindly.' Bore holes in the bottom of the box and scatter small pebbles over the bottom. Fill it with rich earth, into which two cupsful of fine sand have been worked.

"A pot of petuniums at each end of an herb box adds a touch of color and would in turn be set off by the various greens of the herbs, and by their decorative leaves, quite as beautiful in their way as the ferns and asparagus with which the florist dresses his flowers," Marie continued.

"What is a good herb to raise?" asked Marjorie, gaining information for new ideas in the school room.

"I think parsley is attractive for a dining room, especially as it diffuses a refreshing, spicy odor. Parsley, the best known of all herbs, and the one which has the most uses, is very slow to germinate, sometimes taking as long as three weeks before even a hint of green will show. Chervil and Basil are intending to abolish the battalions of 'mure's nest,' and added:

"If I had intended to do anything of the kind it would have been in military eyes tantamount to insanity."

Out of his own mouth Lord Haldane is convicted of insanity, according to Mr. White. He accuses him of interpolating words in correcting the stenographer's report of this speech, but says that even this saves him nothing.

Another accusation is that Lord Haldane struck out of his territorial bill the provision for training youths in the manual.

EXPORTS OF WAR SUPPLIES

Bartholdt Says U. S. Bullets are Killing the Kinsmen of 25,000,000 Americans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee today told proponents of legislation to prohibit exports of war materials that the German government through the Berlin foreign office had made it plain that it did not expect the United States to stop such exports.

Chairman Flood made his statement to Representative Bartholdt, who was making a general argument for his resolution to stop exports at a public hearing today.

"Suppose," he asked Bartholdt, "that you understood that the German government through the German foreign office had said that it did not expect this government to pass this legislation. Would you support it?"

Representative Bartholdt asserted that he knew nothing of the attitude of the German government and that he and his associates opposed the exportation of arms on the grounds of "international immorality."

Rep. Bartholdt said that he had heard that the neutrality of the United States had been violated by the shipments of Canadian troops over American territory in Maine on their way to the war zone.

"I have never heard of that," said Chairman Flood.

"If that is true," interrupted Rep. Temple, "it is unquestionably an un-neutral act. I think we should have some evidence beyond such a charge as that."

Representative Bartholdt said that he knew of the incident only as a matter of gossip but that he would endeavor to investigate.

"The shipment of war supplies to belligerent nations," said Chairman Flood, "has been recognized for 100 years as a right of our citizens by the law of nations. When this war began that right was recognized England through her foresight and the expenditure of her treasure had gained control of the seas. It would be to her disadvantage to change this situation now. Would it not be an unneutral act?"

The supporters of the resolution, Representative Bartholdt said, "were trying to go deeper than technical phases of international law. He said that only equally toward all nations could morally justify the exercise of the right to ship arms to belligerents."

"Without that moral background," he said, "the right should not be exercised. Now we are actually waging war on Germany and Austria and the guns and bullets we ship are killing the kinsmen of 25,000,000 Americans. We contend that all the moral support has been taken from behind this paper neutrality and that real neutrality demands that further shipments of war supplies be prohibited."

When secretary of war he recommended the abolition of ten battalions of the line. This loss, and the loss of the reserve, which would have been created if they had not been abolished, would have given Great Britain 50,000 additional trained troops to add to the expeditionary force sent into Belgium shortly after the start of the war.

At the same time Lord Haldane made what was generally thought to be a denial of his plan to abolish these battalions, according to Mr. White. In a speech in the house of lords Lord Haldane called the rumor that he was

LORD HALDANE ATTACKED

LORD HIGH CHANCELLOR OR ENGLAND SAID TO HAVE DECEIVED HIS COUNTRY

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The feeling against Lord Haldane, lord high chancellor, is exceedingly bitter in some quarters, and several London newspapers have directed a bitter crusade against him.

Arnold White, a well known writer on social problems in the Daily Express, has written a strong article under the title of "The Case Against Lord Haldane." His opening paragraph follows:

"If a man deceives you once, that is his fault; if he deceives you twice, that is your fault; if he deceives you three times, it is because he takes you for a fool and because you are a fool. The English are not fools; they are sleepy. Our nation has been deceived three times by Lord Haldane. It was deceived about the army. It was deceived about Germany and it was deceived into thinking that $50,000 a year was sufficient money to insure that the spoken word of the lord high chancellor might be implicitly trusted."

The writer calls his article and indictment of Lord Haldane and says that the first count against him is that when secretary of war he recommended the abolition of ten battalions of the line. This loss, and the loss of the reserve, which would have been created if they had not been abolished, would have given Great Britain 50,000 additional trained troops to add to the expeditionary force sent into Belgium shortly after the start of the war.

Lowell Coke Is a Better Fuel Today Than Ever Before

Don't get the idea that all coke is alike. There is good coke and poor coke, just as there is good coal and poor coal.

How good coke is depends on how it is made and what kind of coal is used in the making.

We pay 15 per cent. more for our coal than makers of ordinary coke. We have to buy the best obtainable because our gas-making plant demands it. Then Lowell Coke is made by improved equipment, that takes out all impurities and leaves coke with a higher percentage of pure carbon than any other. It is practically 90 per cent. pure carbon—only 2 per cent. volatile matter necessary for kindling.

Three chemists are employed by the Lowell Gas Light Company to see that Lowell Coke is kept up to highest standard.

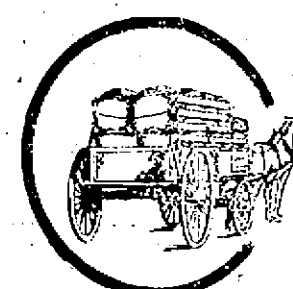

Whether you have used coke in the past or not, try LOWELL COKE. Send for our coke expert to show you how it should be burned. Then you'll realize that you never knew what a splendid fuel good coke is.

A hot, even fire, keeping for over 13 hours without attention. Money saved—at least 25 cents on every dollar.

Less bother—less dust—fewer ashes—no clinkers.

Gentlemen: Being somewhat doubtful that Lowell Coke would really save so much as some claim, I have kept close account of what it cost me and find I get the same heat for nearly one-fourth less money. Am free to recommend it to all. Have no trouble in keeping fire every night and it doesn't harm the grate in the slightest.

INAUGURAL ECHOES

Inaugural addresses read in the principal cities of Massachusetts and New England last Monday, and the editorial comments thereon show that the conditions which were referred to officially in this city and which have been discussed by our public for some time past agitate other communities. Not an inaugural or a press commentary but has its clause applicable to local conditions. In some cases the papers speak of achievements which, by contrast with local conditions, reveal our inefficiency; in others they refer to shortcomings which are likewise apparent here.

One inaugural address that has a direct application to Lowell is that of Mayor Kay of Fall River who prefaced his remarks by calling attention to the fact that the new government of that city starts with a clean financial slate—something almost unique—and that the current obligations contracted during the last year have been discharged, while there remains a surplus of $25,000 after all bills had been paid. The mayor admitted that this could not have been done were it not for the abnormally high tax rate, and on this phase of the inaugural the Fall River Globe comments as follows:

The tax rate was, he admits, abnormally high, else this remarkable showing would not have been possible. What he now urges, and professes his belief will be feasible, is that by the exercise of judicious discretion in the authorizing of public improvements, in observing a conservative policy in dealing with requests for increases in salaries and wages, and by promoting greater efficiency and economy in the administration of the several municipal departments, a material reduction of the rate can be effected this year.

It goes without saying that it will be highly gratifying to the taxpayers if his faith in this respect should be justified by results. But it is too frequently the fact that inaugural day hopes and promises fail to materialize.

In the suggestions of Mayor Kay for the reduction of the tax rate is a lesson for some of our own officials who declare that the way to reduce our rate is to avoid any new improvements and to do nothing which will involve any new expenditure, no matter how far-reaching the benefits may be. It is by genuine and sincere economy in the administration of the various departments that the tax rate may be reduced in any community.

Another reference to an inaugural that may fitly be applied to the local inaugural is that of the Worcester Post, which, commenting on the address of Mayor Wright says: "Our fault has been, as too generally with American cities, that we have been doing far too much work for the day merely, only to entail replacements and doing over again, with endless confusion and duplication between departments. In a word, it has been, not work really planned but partly a go-it-aloose-and-blind system which, with the addition of city council deals in election of officials, keeping the latter's attention engaged a good share of each year in holding their positions, results in the city getting an average of about $2 value for each $3 spent." This method of doing municipal work which describes some Lowell politics adequately will not do much to reduce our tax rate which, judging by results, is altogether indefensible. The tax rate should never have been boosted without some extraordinary undertaking, such as a great system of street extension or some other public improvement, and nothing will justify its being kept at the present figure without something of a tangible nature to show for it. The high tax rate in this city is the one real stumbling block to our administration of last year, for there is nothing to excuse it or to explain it; neither has there been any indication of a sincere desire either to reduce it or to apply it to the public benefit with the exception of Commissioner Carmichael's statement as to how it might be reduced.

Commenting on the incoming government, and its intentions, in Newburyport, the Herald says: "The incoming government has already felt the demand of the people for substantial and definite improvement of highways and for betterment of the lighting of the business streets. The former will cost money and probably must be cared for by some extraordinary form of financing. The latter improvement can be secured without a cent of cost if the city government will courageously attack the problem of the scientific rearrangement of the city's lights." This applies almost as pertinently to Lowell conditions. Another inaugural suggestion of interest to us is that of Mayor Woods of Holyoke who urges the erection of a contagious hospital. Like Lowell Holyoke has offended in this respect and, like Lowell, it is seeing the light.

FAKE CHARITIES

are so many and the needs in many quarters are so pressing that anything which would interfere with the helping of a worthy cause should be avoided, nevertheless there is need for caution lest the unworthy or the dishonest impose on good nature. When such impositions are successful and the real facts afterwards revealed, those who have been victimized are repented, perhaps, unduly cautious and in this way real charity is oftentimes injured. The many claims made on the charitable from all over the world at the present time offer an opportunity to the dishonest which many of them do not hesitate to avail of.

In some sections of the city suspicious looking individuals have sought contributions, alleged to be in aid of the Belgians, though the local committees in charge of this work had not authorized any such soliciting. Others have asked for funds for the Red Cross, and so on. In most cases the fraud is so palpable that the solicitors do not succeed in their attempt. When any request of this nature is made, it is easy enough to discover if the collector is genuine by calling up the headquarters of the charities involved, the board of trade rooms, or even the newspapers. Usually one can discover in a few minutes if the solicitor is a fake or genuine. Sometimes it may be well to call up the police.

A rather unique instance of attempted fraud was tried on a prominent business man a short time ago. A little girl, poorly clad, went to his office and in an appealing manner asked for some firewood. Filled with the spirit of the holiday season he granted her request. He also determined to send some food supplies, etc., and so asked her name and residence. Remembering a former experience, however, he took down the directory to verify the story, seeing which the girl asked if she could go out to bring in her little brother. Once outside she ran as fast as her legs could carry her to where a man, presumably her father, waited, and both disappeared. This in itself is only a slight incident but it is typical of much fraud in appeals for charity. Community organized charity may not be yet practicable but, for the sake of the deserving, all precautions

OF LOCAL INTEREST

In view of local claims pending against the city for damages resulting from the bursting of the water mains at Tower's corner in January, 1913, a recent verdict of the supreme court is of more than usual local interest. In a report handed down last Friday, January 1, the supreme court sustains a verdict of $1500 given Winfield S. Pearl, in his action against the town of Revere to recover damages for injuries inflicted by an automobile driven by an employee of the Revere water department.

The argument used by counsel for the town is practically the argument heard in this city following the bursting of the water main, viz: that inasmuch as the injury was inflicted in the course of a municipal undertaking for the good of the public, and as the statute under which the water department was created made it independent of the control of the town, Revere could not be held responsible for the injury.

In deciding against the contention of the town's counsel, the supreme court held that the town of Revere was not compelled by statute to establish a water supply, but was merely authorized to do so at the option of a popular vote of the town. It declares the water department to be a money-making enterprise on the part of the town, and not a governmental service solely for the public welfare such as schools, highways, police and fire departments. This decision will be followed with interest in many other communities besides ours, wherever, in fact, suits are pending against the water department for damages resulting from injuries to person or property.

SOUND ADVICE

Secretary Redfield speaks wisely and to the point in reminding the manufacturers and merchants of the country that now is an excellent time to attend to repairs, additions and improvements, in anticipation of a growth of business in the near future.

In all lines of business there are many minor things calling for constant attention but when business runs full blast they cannot be performed. Now that there is some degree of stagnation, it is to the interest of business and more directly to the interest of the unemployed that all necessary improvements should be attended to. It would help to tide employer and employee over the difficult place and on to the surer road. Unvarying prosperity tends to carelessness in some departments of manufacture and commerce; it takes a little adversity to show where the ends of expediency may be more fully served. Another consideration that should influence corporations and individuals to get busy in making improvements and preparing for the future is the low price of most commodities. Indications are that prices will rise speedily as the war continues.

COLD GONE! HEAD CLEAR AND NOSE OPEN—IT'S FINE!

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends Colds and Grippe in a Few Hours

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and sniffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

War news continues to give us routine accounts of pro and con without an account of anything brilliant or decisive. The weather may have something to do with this as each side seems to be content to hold what it has already gained. It may be that winter will have gone before there is any great departure from the present policy—though most neutral people would rather see peace growing up with the opening of the buds and flowers.

The ship purchase bill, otherwise known as the merchant marine bill, will soon be in the congressional limelight. As usual, there are a great many negative opinions but few positive or constructive ones. While we are bombarding our own merchant ships with oratorical shells, the opportunity to profit by the rehabilitation of the merchant marine may pass. Of all sad words, etc.

HE GOT THERE

The man was reading the front page of the newspaper as he walked across the busy street.

"Get," he mused, "I'd like to get my name in his type on the front page of a newspaper."

Just then a street car bumped into the man.

It got his name on the front page of the next edition of the paper.

But he missed the story.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A PLEASANT WAY TO HELP

"Mamma," lisped the cherub, while a smile of seraphic sweetness illumined his baby face, "do you know that sometimes I help Catherine's mamma?"

"That's nice," prompted the proud parent, "and what do you do to help her, dear?"

"Oh," replied the cherub, "when the captain looked at the girl, who was a pretty little thing, something over four feet high, with coal black hair plastered down over her temples, and blue-black roguish eyes. Let no one doubt the vital beauty of Eskimo maidens in the flush of youth and health.

"Here," said the captain to the girl, "which one of these men do you want?"

The interpreter put the question. The maiden's eyes grew brighter, her cheeks a deeper crimson and a coy smile wreathed her lips. She stepped over to one of the young men unhesitatingly and touched him on the arm.

"This one," she said, and there was no need for the interpreter to translate.

"All right," said the captain, with a roar of laughter, "take him."

And he married him on the spot. Straight from the ship back to the village the newly wedded couple paddled, to set up housekeeping and to live happily, no doubt, ever afterward.

The bridegroom touched off a few more explosions of wonted dynamite into the interpreter's ear.

"He says," declared the interpreter to Captain Henderson, "he is satisfied."

I miss you so, sometimes—When weary problems vex and fret My mind, and hands grow tired Of reaching for the things they need—

And my dry eyes are hot with unshed tears—

I miss you so, sometimes—When at the ending of the day, When all is still, I seem to catch The scent of roses from an old dead May, And seem to hold again your hand—

I miss you so, sometimes—When I awaken from some fitful slumber, And find you gone, and when I seem To feel your lips again—and then—

I miss you so, sometimes—And all of life seems want and pain, While in the turmoil and the strife I try to pray for your dear arms again.

To hold me as no others can—

I miss you so, sometimes—That nothing else seems worth the while; I long for you, dear, dear clinging lips, Your gentle eyes and the bewitching smile.

They used to hold before I came To miss and want you so!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

CONDEMNNS LITERACY TEST

One of the most un-American pieces of legislation that ever passed congress has now passed through that body. It is the literacy test to keep desirable immigrants out of this country; merely because they cannot read or write. When President Taft was in the White House he vetoed the proposition. Now President Wilson will receive for his signature a bill that embodies the same un-American provision that will not permit a man between 16 and 35 years to come into this country under any conditions if he cannot read and write some language.—Holtzke Transcript.

THIS YEAR

What is this year going to mean to each one of us and to the nations and the world? As far as our individual lives are concerned, it will be the same old story. It will depend most largely upon ourselves. For while we sleep in these days a great deal of environment and place much stress upon its power, nevertheless, it forever holds true that it is those qualities which are inherent in ourselves, our own inner lives, that determine how far we shall conquer the things about us and

ANOTHER STRAW

A welcome sign of changing industrial conditions is to be found in the announcement that the Southern Pacific railroad has resumed work in many of its shops, having taken back no less than 5000 men. It is believed the coming few months will see a general resumption of industry, especially in lines affected by the stoppage of European production.—Burlington Free Press.

CENSORSHIP

Up in Clinton, Mass., the bill board censors ordered that paper be pasted over the shape and somewhat familiar figure of a well known diving Venus. The strange part of it is, that no objection is raised to the flesh and blood counterpart of the lithographs appearing before Clinton people. Censorship seems to be a strange thing.

SUDDEN DEATHS

It is a sad subject, but the close reader of the newspapers must have noted the large number of sudden deaths throughout the country. That was a not incomplete view of the great problem of human existence that the counselor of the old British ruler gave when the first Christian preacher came to lay his doctrine before the leaders of England: "The life of a man is like that of a bird that flies in at the open casement, hovers a short time impatiently, near the fire, and flies away, none knowing whither.—Providence News.

NOTED SINGER IS DEAD

MADAME GERVILLE-MEACHE DIED IN NEW YORK HOSPITAL—TRANSFUSION UNSUCCESSFUL

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Madame Gerville-Meache, former contralto of the Manhattan Opera House, died this afternoon at Roosevelt hospital. For a week she had been seriously ill of blood-poisoning. Two operations for transfusing blood were unsuccessful.

WILL NOT FREE STRONG

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 5.—C. P. Niles was informed today that District Attorney Spawell of Steuben county, N. Y., will not release William A. Strong, who confessed to the murder of Hugh Kane, Chicago, in 1907 and whose confession was discarded but will endeavor to have him indicted on a charge of perjury.

DENIES DUMMIES USED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 5.—Questions arising to show that dummies figured in note transactions between the Atlantic National bank and the Mexico Packing Co. Ltd., were asked today of Edward P. Metcalf, former president of the bank, in his examination at the trial of Metcalf and Henry E. De Kay, a promoter of the packing company on charges alleging the misapplication of funds of the bank. The witness denied that dummies were used. He said that while some of the persons named were not "very strong" financially, their notes were backed by collateral.

LABOR COMMISSIONER

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—A petition for the abolition of the state board of labor and industry and the creation of a labor commissioner to be elected by the people was filed in the house today by a labor organization. The same organization petitioned for an act limiting to nine hours a day the working time of girls under 18 years of age.

DIED OF HER INJURIES

MRS. DEAN WAS ATTACKED SUNDAY—LATER RESCUED FROM BURNING HOME BY NEIGHBORS

TILTON, N. H., Jan. 4.—Mrs. George Dean, an elderly invalid died today from injuries resulting from an assault committed on her Sunday morning. Jack Stewart, who acted as attendant for Mrs. Dean for several months is under arrest at Concord.

Mrs. Dean was rescued by neighbors from her burning home on Sunday. Later she said that as she was wheeling her invalid chair to the telephone to summon aid she was attacked and beaten into unconsciousness. Stewart, who disappeared before the rescue of Mrs. Dean, was arrested Sunday night at Concord, when he applied for lodging at the police station.

CLEVELAND SECOND BASEMAN RELEASED TO THE PHILADELPHIA AMERICANS

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 5.—Napoleon Lajoie, for 13 years second baseman and former manager of the Cleveland American league team, today was released by President Charles W. Somers to the Philadelphia Americans. Manager Mack came here from Philadelphia and closed the deal. No other players were involved in the deal, Mr. Somers said.

FOR RELIEF OF BELGIANS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The steamer Hengshai sailed for Rotterdam today with a $500,000 cargo of food and clothing contributed by the people of Kansas for the relief of the destitute people of Belgium.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

According to a statement in a Boston paper, Cardinal O'Connell is to become a summer resident of Kennebunk, his eminence having just closed the purchase of a beautiful estate in that most attractive section of Maine.

The property is the summer villa formerly owned by Harry K. Noyes, of Lowell, and is located directly on the ocean front. It is a beautiful building of cement construction containing 10 rooms, and near by is a large garage of the same material. Nearly an acre of waterfront land is included in the estate. The house was originally the property of Joseph F. Flanagan, by whom it was designed and constructed about four years ago.

"CLEAN UP" WEEK

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The establishment of headquarters in Boston was suggested by President W. E. Wall at the annual meeting of the Master Tailors and Decorators of Massachusetts today. Mr. Wall also recommended that the society affect a closer union with kindred organizations. Other speakers urged a more active interest in "Clean-up" weeks.

The convention will last three days. Mrs. JAMES T. FIELDS DEAD BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Mrs. James T. Fields, widow of one of Boston's famous authors and publishers and a friend of Dickens and other prominent writers of 50 years ago, died today, aged 80 years.

STEAMER DRIVEN INTO PORT BOSTON, Jan. 5.—The breaking loose of a number of drums of sulphuric acid the fumes of which nearly overcame members of the crew, drove the steamer "Quincy" bound from New York for London in this port today. The steamer sailed on Wednesday and was caught off the coast by severe westerly gales which worked her cargo loose. The crew were badly used up in securing the rolling drums of acid.

WHAT THEY ARE DOING—NEW MODELS AT NEW YORK SHOW—MOTORCYCLE NEWS

It's now time to get your 1915 license plate. Make your application at once or you'll have no "comeback" if they get after you.

Jimmie Boland left last night for New York where he will meet Harry Pitts at Hotel Somerset and together they will inspect what the auto makers are offering the public in the line of 1915 cars.

S. L. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart is attending the New York auto show, having left Lowell last Sunday evening.

Claude Winters of the Sander Vibrator Co. has seen the New York auto show for 11 winters and still likes it, hence it is that he is there this year.

For the convenience of tourists going to Lawrence through this city it is suggested that a sign be put up at the corner of Bridge and First streets, to direct those who are not familiar with the way. It has often happened that even those tourists who are directed to go "First right after the bridge" pass by First street and when they realize their mistake have to turn back, while some go out Methuen street.

A Ford coupelet is a very much desired car these days. For doctors and others who must use their cars at all times and "get there" certainly need one of these handsome, comfortable vehicles.

Have you yet driven that car you received for Christmas?

Did you see the new eight-cylinder Cadillac as it was written about town yesterday by G. Russell Dana?

Stock has been taken at Pitts Auto Supply and the findings have surprised Harry Pitts. Little did he dream a year ago that he would do the great volume of business which his books show he has done.

Ford Coupelet $750
Fully Equipped, f. o. b. Detroit
This car is the most practical two-passenger model we have ever built. The top is folded, the Coupelet becomes an open Runabout of unusual smartness and style.
The change from closed to open car can be made in two minutes, so that the Coupelet is quickly adaptable to all conditions of weather and driving.
It is especially popular with women who drive their own cars. As convenient and exclusive as an electric.
For physicians, architects, contractors and all business and professional men who have to cover a great deal of territory it is admirably suited.

DRIVE IT EVERY DAY
The FORD COUPELET may be driven twelve months in the year, in the city or over country roads, without personal discomfort, no matter what the weather.
Its distinctive style and attractiveness give it an exclusive appearance not found in any open runabout.
Buyers of this car will share in profits if we sell at retail 300,000 new FORD CARS between August 1914 and August 1915.

Fewer Persons Killed in Streets of New York During 1914

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Fewer persons were killed by the automobile in the streets of New York, but deaths through accidents increased in number elsewhere in New York state in 1914, according to figures issued today by the National Highway Protective Society.

The automobile killed 290 persons in this city last year as compared with 202 in 1913. In the state, outside this city, the number in 1914 was 310, as against 247 in 1913.

Throughout the state 193 persons were killed and 35 automobiles and 31 wagons were wrecked at highway railroad crossings in 1914.

METABOLISM OF A MAN
Into the main making department of the Ford Motor company came one morning, a little while ago, Richard — a prepossessing type of young manhood, of good intellect and strong physique. For a little more than a year he had rendered good service to his employer, and seemingly possessed a determination to advance in his work and develop the best that was in him on a mutual basis.

There was nothing to be criticized, or made over, in the young man's work-a-day habits so far as the company was concerned; it was only when his profit sharing plan began to disperse benefits to its employees that the other side of this man's life came to light.

His family needed substantial assistance, and the boy needed wholesome influence and strong help along the lines of constructive manhood.

The operation of the Ford Motor company's profit sharing plan the boy was first made to realize the opportunity offered by the plan for him to be of tremendous benefit, through the company, to those about him and dependent upon him. The aunt was taken into consultation, a share in the profits given the young man and a joint bank account was opened in behalf of the boy and aunt.

The case was passed upon some two months after the profit sharing plan was inaugurated, and the accrued money applying from Jan. 1st to date was sufficient to wipe out the debts incurred for furniture for coal and for groceries in full, and leave a little bit on deposit in the bank.

The family were moved from a more or less indifferent quarters in an old section of the town where they were paying $10 a month, to a newer section into a house with all modern conveniences and at a rental of $10 less than previously paid. The whole home was given over to the family, and the investment heretofore taken care of, were placed in professional hands for care and attention.

The young man became interested through the instrumentality of the Ford Motor company's investigator in schooling himself for higher planes of skill, and then he had previously done, and with the company's investigator took up a course in one of the technical schools for mechanical drafting.

The enthusiasm and interest for still greater developments along substantial lines for health, happiness and prosperity have continued with this young man, and the company's investigator took up a course in one of the technical schools for mechanical drafting.

This is but one of many instances where the Ford Motor company is "specializing in men."

CADILLAC "EIGHT" DRAWS CROWD
In the automobile shows each year, some one car or some one advance make in the industry during the year receives a major portion of the interest of the visitors.

It seems that, in this season's show the eight-cylinder Cadillac is to be the focusing point of this attention by reason of its having been the first eight-cylinder car produced and marketed in large quantities by an American maker.

In automobile engineering circles the Cadillac achievement has been and is regarded as the most noteworthy forward step recorded during the year in motor car construction in this country.

Rumors that the Cadillac company's new production would be an eight-cylinder car flew thick and fast during the late summer, and the actual announcement awaited with the most intense interest. Since the cars have been placed in the hands of owners, their performance has been watched with interest no less intense.

It should be said that disappointment awaits those who seek the Cadillac exhibit with the expectation of viewing a car of radical external appearance. One who does not know that the hood covers a motor of eight cylinders might assume that the power plant was the same conventional four cyunder design, for the hood is no longer than that used on last year's Cadillac.

This is due to the fact that the eight cylinders are not arranged in line, but are set opposite each other, at right angles, or in V-form, four on each side. The advantages of this construction may be classified under four heads: size, weight, torque and cooling.
The compactness of construction results in correspondingly short crankshaft and camshaft, which practically eliminates the periodic vibration or thrashing to which long shafts are subject.
On a given power basis, the cylinders are smaller, as are the reciprocating parts, which—taken together with the shorter shafts and crank case and the lighter flywheel—results in material reduction of weight.
Torque or turning power is also relatively continuous and uniform with eight cylinders, according to engineers, and additional cylinders could not confer any appreciable advantage in this respect. Hence, eight is regarded as maximum so far as number of cylinders is concerned.
THROUGH FIVE STATES
After a highly adventurous month during which it had left across five states, according to Little Rock, Ark. officers, a trail of grand and petty larceny, jumped board bills and cracked safes, a stolen automobile has been returned to its owner, and the three men who were its passengers are now in custody.
The car was stolen in Atlanta and recovered in Little Rock. Though police and private detectives had thoroughly combed the entire South Atlantic section for it, the recovery came about through the efficient method by which automobile service departments trace stolen automobiles, through the medium of its field organization.
Not until the Mississippi was crossed did they relax their vigilance. At Little Rock, however, they garaged their car at the Polk Motor Co.'s place of business and registered at a leading hotel.
Mr. Polk noted immediately that sand paper had been used to obliterate someone's initials on the door handle. His suspicions aroused, he looked for the distinguishing marks and compared them with his "stolen car" correspondence. The identification was complete. He informed the police, the men were arrested and A. H. Starns, owner of the car was notified. He arrived the next day and identified his property which he noted was in good condition, and carried considerable added equipment which he believes had been fished along the way.
COMPLETES 5300 MILES.
When Miss Della Crewe, the plucky girl motorcyclist who is touring the world on her two-wheeler, accompanied by her dog "Trouble" as her only companion, recently arrived in Paoli, Kansas, N. Y., she had covered 5300 miles on wheels. This is probably the greatest distance ever traveled by a girl on a motorcycle with sidecar. And this is only a very small part of the trip which Miss Crewe plans to accomplish. When asked her reason for making the tour, Miss Crewe replied: "Well, I love nature better than beautiful clothes or luxuries, and I decided that I would enjoy a trip of this kind more than anything else. It is the call of the road I suppose. Although I have traveled a great deal, I never have derived so much enjoyment from traveling as I have since I started on this tour last June."

FOUND DEAD IN BED BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

SOMERVILLE WOMAN BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN DEAD SINCE DEC. 23

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Catherine Hayes, aged 49, a widow who had lived alone in a single house at 12 Palmer avenue, Somerville, was found dead in bed at her home late yesterday afternoon. She is believed to have been dead since Dec. 23. Medical Examiner C. P. McCaffrey, who viewed the body, said she had probably frozen to death. He will perform an autopsy today.

The body was discovered by a sister, Mrs. Nora Nagle of 1216 Great Plain, Needham, with whom Mrs. Hayes was expected to pass Christmas. Having heard from Mrs. Nagle, Mrs. Hayes sent her daughter to Mrs. Nagle's home last Monday. She was unable to get any response to her summons. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Nagle, in company with Mrs. Ellen Coughlin of 14 Palmer avenue and the latter's son, broke into the house and discovered the body. It was lying across a bed in a room on the second floor and was partially covered. Beside Mrs. Nagle, Mrs. Hayes is survived by two brothers, Patrick and John Dacey of Somerville, and a sister, Mrs. George Whiting of Mendon.

MISS RYAN TAKES STAND IN HER $50,000 SUIT AGAINST H. K. MANSFIELD

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan of New Haven, whose $50,000 breach of promise suit against Henry K. Mansfield, proprietor of the Foincroft Inn, Middleton, Mass., was placed on trial in the Suffolk superior court yesterday, told Judge Fessenden and a jury how Mansfield promised to marry her in July, 1908, and on several other occasions.

Seats were at a premium in the crowded court room, and scores stood outside the door and peered in, as they could not gain admittance. Many women were among the spectators.

HELD JANUARY MEETING

Teachers' Organization Contributes to Support of Federation Committee

The Lowell Teachers' organization held its January meeting in Kilton hall, yesterday afternoon, at 4.15 o'clock. The revised constitution as recommended by the executive board was read and notice was given that action would be taken later. The names of members of the Federation committee were read. Miss Baker of the editorial committee of the Federation explained the scope and usefulness of "Common Ground." The organization voted $35 towards its support.

During the Christmas season, the teachers contributed to a Christmas fund and Miss Burnham reported that $55 had been received, and had been distributed as follows: Belgian Relief fund, $28; Red Cross fund, $7; and the remainder to local needs.

After the business meeting, Miss Carrie Erskine, who formerly taught in the Bartlett school, gave an interesting talk on "Experiences at Hampton Institute."

LOWELL SCHOOL EXHIBIT

The sum of $20,000 has been appropriated by the state for the purpose of the division of educational exhibits at the Panama-Pacific exposition and Hugh J. Malloy, superintendent of schools, has been requested to prepare a picture of one of the Lowell schools. The Lowell Textile school will send an exhibit of the training courses for work on wood, the chemistry of dyeing, etc. The exhibit will combine the motion picture and museum ideas of display.

LOWELL TRUST COMPANY

Stockholders' Meeting
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lowell Trust Company, of Lowell, will be held at the banking rooms, No. 285 Central Street, Lowell, Mass., on Thursday, January 14, 1915, at four o'clock in the afternoon, for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Secretary, Lowell, January 1, 1915.

POLICE DANCED

Annual Ball at Associate Hall a Great Success—Fine Decorations

Associate hall last night was the scene of a highly enjoyable concert and very charming dancing party when the Lowell police officers and patrolmen, their families and their friends gathered for the twenty-seventh annual affair of its kind.

From the first number on the musical program until the last encore had been danced the event was appreciated to the utmost by those who occupied the gallery seats as well as by those who tripped the light fantastic.

Associate hall last evening presented a very pretty picture. With a huge American flag as a background, the stage was set off with pink and white bunting while miniature pine trees and potted plants all but hid the musicians from view. The stage front as well as the gallery was draped with white bunting caught up with clusters of holly while the side walls and supporting pillars were hung with white and pink bunting. Streamers of red, white and blue running from the centre chandelier to all corners of the hall completed the decorative design, making a very delightful scene.

The officers as well as patrolmen appeared in uniform which greatly enhanced the picture. Few indeed of those present realized just what a striking ballroom appearance the local guardians of the peace could present until last night's affair.

The usual large crowd which always greets the police department on such occasions was on hand, in fact the floor space was at a premium until a late hour. Long before the first number on the concert program was offered the gallery was filled and when the strains of the first waltz filtered through the stage foliage Associate hall was taxed to its capacity.

Deputy Supt. Hugh Downey was perhaps the moving genius of the affair. The deputy, besides being secretary and treasurer of the Lowell Police Relief association, filled the additional role of assistant general manager, and it was largely due to his efforts that the twenty-seventh annual ball was such a complete success. Alfred J. Conney, floor director, was another officer whose efforts greatly assisted in the successful completion of the program.

The concert program, rendered by Broderick's orchestra of twelve pieces, was as follows:

March—"World Peace"; J. S. Lamenik Overture—"Bridal Rose"; C. Lavallée "Que Voulez-Vous Encore?" played on violin by Messrs. Clark and Broderick.

"Salute to Erin"..... Julius Lenzberg
"Operatic Rag"..... Julius Lenzberg

Assistant general manager, Deputy Supt. Hugh Downey.

Assistant floor marshals, Matthew J. McCann and Charles H. Hamilton.

Chief aid, John J. Sullivan.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Judging from the demonstrations attending the ushering in of the New Year, Lowell seems destined to catch up with other communities which have long made New Year's eve an extremely lively occasion.

In little old New York the lid this year was said to have been hoisted early and in many respects it is said the Saturnalian feasts of ancient Rome had nothing on the manner modern New York welcomed the birth of 1915. The down-east provincial who has spent New Year's in the Metropolis within the last few years is likely to believe anything anybody tells him about the way they carried on there last Thursday night. Now, Lowell is conservative enough compared with Gotham. While many here spent the closing hours of the old year in churches and there greeted the new, still many more inclined to "whoop-up" and celebrated by feasting and drinking. At some places fine bonnets were spread for those who had the price. At these banquets some feasted as though they never expected another feed like it; and alas, to more than one among them this may prove true before another New Year's day.

There was one unlucky man—there may have been more—whose holder of banquet tickets who paid a big price for half an inch of tomato soup and two soda crackers, yet like the good sport that he is, he didn't kick. He wasn't particularly hungry anyway; he was glad to be there, and he felt all right the next morning. But he would like to have some more sugar to a certain hostess not to misinterpret an deplorable next New Year's eve.

Yes, indeed, Lowell, or a certain portion of her population at least, may become right up to the times in this New Year's observance; but it is likely that in a town where the curfew rings at 9 and where the boys will be bowling to get up at 5.30 and go to work, it will become a universal custom.

With the Howlers
I hear that two teams of howling experts from the municipal building are going to light it out tomorrow night. One is led by the redoubtable Connie Cronin, the other by Albert Blazon of the board of assessors. I don't know these howlers average up, but if any of the bunch gets 75 or 80 per cent I fear he will be howling better than he knows how. A team from the hall bowled a game against the P. A. C.'s of Pawtucketville a few weeks ago and were beaten three straight. A few of the C. H. bunch showed promise, but that's all they did show. Ed. Foye was good in his first ball, but he was way off at single pin work. Warren Reardon had no difficulty finding all the holes he had made. Conale was fair. A flinger they trotted out developed a wild ball and that's all. Bill Mahan, who is an experienced bowler, didn't show what he usually does—in fact, as a bowler, the farmers from Pawtucketville got the best of the night. Of Albert's team I don't know much about, but it can't be much as Connie says his team will bury them.

The Late Charles Frost

Charles Frost died suddenly, as he wished to die. He died in Central street, where he had engaged in business for about thirty years and for a longer time was a familiar figure upon that busy thoroughfare. I first knew Charlie when he was a boy, an honorary member of the Mechanics' Phalanx and associated somewhat with him when he was a member of the Rod and Gun club. As a member of both organizations he was always the champion shot.

He was a man of many parts, a man of many parts, a man of many parts.

of them, taking the principal prizes as a matter of course. Everybody knew Charlie Frost and to really know him was to like him. His social qualities were such as to make him hosts of friends and he was always a most welcome guest wherever he visited in a social way. He served for nearly three and a half years in the Union army during the Civil war, creditably. Sometimes you could get him to talk about his experiences as a soldier and upon those rare occasions it was a positive treat to hear him. To me he seemed the ideal soldier of the republic who responded to the call of his country in peril, promptly, offering his life for its defence. The colonel was born in Tyngsboro, a short ways from the bridge spanning the Merrimack, the "old Frost place" now owned by Fred Snow. The Frosts of Tyngsboro were a noted family, and Charlie inherited many sterling traits of character. In any place or upon any occasion Charlie was always ready. With the strong right hand of fellowship, and never was at a loss to fittingly express himself. He gentlemanly deportment had about it a certain military character that added charm to it. His old age had begun to affect the straight figure and the hair which we had so long known, he still continued to make his evening visits to the social organization to which he belonged; yet his eye was still bright and piercing and we knew that physical infirmities could not subdue his indomitable spirit and shed the "current of his soul." Central street will know him no more; but it will be a long time before Central street forgets Charlie Frost.

Sunday's Fire
We had another Sunday morning sounding of the fire bell which aroused us from our slumbers; and many, recognizing the locality given as likely to prove lively, had a short drive and hastened to the scene. It was a lively fire. It threatened to be more serious than it was, and required the efforts of the entire department to keep it within bounds. All day long crowds were in attendance and from many I heard expressions in praise of the manner in which the fire was handled. It is fortunate the fire was not worse. This locality has ever been regarded as the most dangerous place for a fire to start, there being so much combustible material. To be sure, the Fletcher street and Branch street fire apparatus is not far away, and a short drive from the Hose 5 house and Central station; yet the installation of a hose company in Liberty square naturally suggests itself as a safeguard and a protective measure against what might happen in this locality under present conditions.

Tribute to James E. Donnelly
City hall folks witness the departure of James E. Donnelly from the building with genuine regret and it is but natural that they should. Gentlemen always, a prince of good fellows as James is, their expressions of regret are not merely perfunctory in character. Mr. Donnelly has served the city for seven consecutive years in responsible positions and he has served it well. This feeling among his late official associates goes far to lessen whatever feelings he himself felt at the result of the last caucuses, no doubt. The statement made that "he leaves city hall as clean as when he entered it" receives qualified endorsement by all who know his personal worth and rugged integrity. The best wishes of the people at city hall, his late subordinates and the entire rank and file of his department attend him as he returns to the enjoyments of private life.

enue, Roxbury, and Mrs. Mary Gili of 174 West 9th street, South Boston, were badly shaken, and in addition received lacerations of the face and body.

A score or more managed to get out of the path of the animal, which brought up against a car, and was caught by citizens.

EDSON CLUB DANCE
A most enjoyable dancing party was conducted under the auspices of the Edson club last night, the affair being held at the new St. Anne's parish house in Kirk street. The attendance was large and all present spent a most enjoyable evening. The music was by Gray's orchestra and the officers of the evening were: General manager, Paul Williams; assistant, Frank May; chief aid, Allen Mori; aids, John Brooks, Thomas Yates, George Humphries, William Cranshaw and Charles Dates. The matrons were Mrs. Smithers, Mrs. McGannon, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Suter, Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Nourse and Mrs. Dame.

DOG STRUCK BY COAL TRUCK
A stray collie was struck by a coal truck in front of the clock tower street court house last evening and was found lying on the street a few minutes later by Patrolmen O'Keefe and Fanning. The humane corporation was notified and Special Officer Gilmore, upon finding that the dog could not live, shot it with his revolver. The dog wore no collar.

THREE HURT IN RUNAWAY
AT EAST CAMBRIDGE—THREE WOMEN KNOCKED DOWN
BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Three women were injured, one of them seriously, at the Cambridge end of the viaduct last night at 6 o'clock, when a runaway horse, attached to a wagon of Heskamp, Bunke company, 86 North street, Boston, plunged into a crowd waiting in Lechmere square, East Cambridge, to take an inward-bound car.

Miss Winifred Conley of 42 Park street, East Boston, was knocked down and injured about the head. She, with the others, was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital, where last night it was thought that her skull had been fractured.

Mrs. Bridget Clougherty of Weld avenue, Roxbury, and Mrs. Mary Gili of 174 West 9th street, South Boston, were badly shaken, and in addition received lacerations of the face and body.

A score or more managed to get out of the path of the animal, which brought up against a car, and was caught by citizens.

TOWN OF DRACUT NEWS

Prominent Residents of the Navy Yard Favor Annexation—Town Meeting First Monday in March

Although the annual town meeting of the citizens of Dracut is but two months ahead, not one word of politics is being heard in the town. The candidates, and there is usually a considerable number, have not yet come to the front. It is expected, however, that within a very short time there will be several candidates for every office to be filled. The town meeting will be held on the first Monday in March, despite the fact that the fiscal year now ends on Dec. 31.

Formerly the fiscal year or the closing of the town books took place on Feb. 1, but a law enacted last year calls for the closing of all town business on Dec. 31. Some of the towns will advance their town meetings, but the Dracut selectmen have not made any change. It was stated yesterday afternoon that the three selectmen, Percy Smith, Fred E. Pollard and Victor N. Cluff, will again be candidates for the same office, while John W. Brennan, who has held the position of town clerk for several years, will again be in line, as well as Rep. Arthur W. Colburn, the present tax collector.

Annexation
The writer came in touch with a number of prominent taxpayers of the town yesterday and most of them favor annexation. The article in Saturday's Sun pleased them immensely.

Business men, clergymen and farmers were seen by a Sun reporter yesterday and all feel that annexation would mean a lot to both the districts involved and to the city of Lowell. They say Lowell needs more land and Dracut is the proper district to supply it, while on the other hand Dracut has not a ghost of a chance of ever becoming a city and many who own homes in the village do not want to live under town conditions all their lives.

The committee appointed some time ago by the Dracut District Nine Improvement association to go over the Kenwood district and outline the territory to be included in the annexation plan, has not yet come together, but the secretary of the organization, that plans have been made for the committee to meet in a few days. It is probable the committee will make a census of

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Business at the Saco-Lowell shops is picking up and the prospects for a good trade in the spring look bright.

Miss Alice Sawyer of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. is visiting relatives in Malden and Melrose.

The Machinists' union will meet tomorrow night in Cotton Spinners' hall in Middle street.

The Messrs. Adams Shoe Co. reports business as good and a full complement of help steadily employed.

The Bigelow Hartford-Carpent Co. is in operation again after its ten-day shut-down.

John Ryan of the Billerica repair shops has returned to work after being confined to his home for some time with illness.

Agate Wadleigh of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. is still in Europe on a business trip. He is expected to return within a short time.

John Murphy of the Bay State mills is coming to Lowell rapidly as a soloist. Mr. Murphy is studying with a Boston teacher.

William Welsh of the Tremont & Suffolk mills has returned after spending a few weeks with relatives in Bradford, Pa.

Miss Ethel Callahan of the Silesia Worsted mills, North Chelmsford, is confined to her home with a severe cold.

The mills of this city are running exceptionally well in comparison to the mills of other cities and the employees are apparently well satisfied.

The Carpenters union, local 1610, will meet tonight and business of much importance is scheduled to come up for transaction. All members are requested to attend.

William Fennell, the retiring president of the Coal Teamsters union, who has been in the city for some time as an interested worker for the labor movement.

Business in the department stores which took quite a slump after the Christmas rush is starting to pick up again. When shopping remember the slogan, "Trade in Lowell."

The machinists employed at the Billerica repair shops will hold an open meeting tomorrow evening in the union quarters in Odd Fellows building.

Archibute Kenefick of the Mass. mills will be out of the basketball game tomorrow night as a result of an injury received Monday evening in practice.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. is running about as steadily as any firm in Lowell. This is no doubt due to Mr. Barry's ability as a salesman.

The Talbot mills of North Billerica are the latest addition to the list of local industries which have already profited by orders from foreign governments.

Business at the Lyon Carpet Co. is very good. This company never kicks about business but goes out and gets it. Mr. Lyons, the proprietor, is a most optimistic manufacturer.

John Farrell of Cambridge, who holds an excellent position at the Watertown Arsenal, was a visitor in this city Sunday. He returned to Cambridge early in the evening.

Edward Quinn of the Whitall Manufacturing Co. will probably manage a strong basketball team this season. Mr. Quinn looked after the interests of the Lowell Five aggregation last year.

Patrick McGowan of the Middlesex on second night.

Mr. Bernstein was questioned and he admitted that he was financing his phony but denied that he was to be benefited from the operation of the store. The matter was held on the case until the next meeting.

Two licenses were granted. John E. Wiggins, 329 Gorham street, on ice cream, confectionery, etc. on the Lord's day, and that of George Shaworth, billiards and pool, at 1224 Gorham street. A license to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day at 229 Gorham street was granted John E. Wiggins. A common victualer license to Alexander J. Morse, 508 Rogers street, was held on the table. The following newals were made: Auctioneer, Edward H. Clark, 419 Hildreth building; Alexander B. Trudeau, 120 Merrimack street; and E. C. Campbell, 323 Hildreth building; hawker and peddler, George C. Huntington, 319 Sladen street, Dracut, and Morris J. Shapiro, Nichols street.

Relief Work
About 20 women members of the Yellow Meeting house met with Mrs. Ernest C. Bartlett, wife of the pastor of the church, this afternoon at her home, corner of Alken avenue and Kearsarge avenue, and sewed for the Belgian sufferers. The women have received contributions from prominent residents of the village and with the money received they purchased linen and other merchandise and this afternoon all hands were busy in sewing and knitting. At the close of the afternoon-luncheon was served.

HURT WHILE COASTING
Fred Burns fell off his sled while coasting in West Chelmsford late yesterday afternoon and although no bones were broken, his leg was bruised quite badly. He was removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Burns, where he was treated by the family physician.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Worthington Street Baptist Society Is in Prosperous Condition—Committee Elected

The annual meeting of the Worthington Street Baptist society was held last evening in the church vestry with a good number of the members present. The usual reports were submitted and all showed that the society was in an unusually prosperous condition, all bills being paid and the assets well in excess of the liabilities.

The society voted unanimously to concur with the church in extending a call to Rev. Walter E. Woodbury of Bristol, Conn.

The appropriations for parish expenses were voted the same as last year and officers and committees were elected as follows: Moderator, Findlay Stevenson; clerk, Walter W. Carr; assistant clerk, Willard E. Symonds.

CASCARETS FOR COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

SURRENDER IN NEW YORK
NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Walter Peck, a lawyer's clerk, who with Denton Murray of Bridgeport, Conn., was indicted last week in connection with a so-called ambulance chasers' trust, surrendered himself yesterday and was released under $7500 bail.

Murray, a New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad foreman, is alleged to have testified falsely regarding the death of a lineman, the fury in the case finding the road negligent.

Peck was charged with subornation of perjury, the indictment accusing him of instructing Murray what to testify.

The Bronx county authorities allege that there has been an extensive conspiracy to obtain money in accident cases through fraudulent claims against railroads, particularly the New Haven.

Co. played a stellar game of basketball for a local club last night. This boy improves with every game played. He connected for nine baskets and some of them were very difficult.

The arbitration hearing between the Bay Street Railway Co. and its employees will be resumed in Boston tomorrow morning. President Fred Crowley will represent the local body of employees.

John McManis, formerly employed at the McElwain Shoe Co. Nashua, N. H., has accepted a lucrative position in Manchester, N. H. Mr. McManis was employed at one time at the Billerica repair shops.

George Clark, vice-president of the Street Railway Men's union, was the only man that showed any class in the City League bowling match last night. George is considered one of the most consistent bowlers in the city.

Game Called Off
The Y. M. C. I. vs. C. Y. M. L. basketball game has been called off and the old Crescent team known at the present time as the Lowell Five will play the Belvidere aggregation tomorrow night. Manager Ford of the Crescent boys could not agree to the Y. M. C. I. using Paul Clark, Patrick Owens will captain the Lowell Five bunch on the floor, while Fred Flynn will look after the team's kneeling at the altar. Flynn's boys will put up a far harder struggle than the C. Y. M. L. stars. The game is the talk of the town.

Will Oversee Missing
The police of Woonsocket, R. I., are contemplating a search of the Blackstone river in an effort to locate the body of Thomas A. Connor, who has been missing since Dec. 17, when he left home to go to the Saranac mill, where he expected to secure a position. Mr. Connor was formerly employed as an overman of twisting at two mills in that city.

A man answering the description of Mr. Connor was seen at the Fall River River-New Bedford soccer game Dec. 13, and he made a scene when he tried to participate in the game. He was ejected from the grounds by two police officials.

Carpenters Union
The Carpenters union, local 1610, held a rousing meeting last night in the union headquarters in the Russell building, with President B. B. Golden in the chair. Business of much importance was transacted and two new members were initiated. Several applications for membership were also received. Committee reports were accepted as read and a stack of important communications were properly referred to the secretary. Remarks on the good of the union were made by many of the members and they proved highly instructive. The secretary's report showed the union to be in excellent financial condition. The recent open meeting, at which William Shields of Boston was the principal speaker, injected a whole lot of new life into the members, and a series of these will be held within a short time. Many new members have been admitted as a result of the last meeting.

WE WISH EVERY LADY A HAPPY NEW YEAR

We are going to have a birthday party and we invite every lady to come and enjoy our novel reception and get a beautiful and UP-TO-THE-MINUTE BOUTONNIERE FREE.

On the 7th of January, three years ago, we christened our ribbon and millinery store and it has waxed strong and healthy and has gone beyond our most sanguine hopes, and now we feel that we should have a little celebration. On THURSDAY of this week we extend to the ladies of the city and suburbs a welcome to call and help us celebrate a genuine 1-3 off sale. Every person who purchases 25c worth or more will receive a beautiful Boutonniere Bouquet that usually sells for 30c, and every lady knows that this is the latest and most up-to-the-minute novelty in dress adornments. When you consider the generous inducement to call and the wonderful discount from the regular prices, a large crowd should be on hand. Come early and get your souvenir and do not get left. We will pass them out as they last.

READ THE SPELLBINDER

And the Other Interesting Features Which Will Appear in The Sun Tomorrow

The Spellbinder discusses the recent inaugural and other municipal matters of timely interest.

Many really helpful health and beauty suggestions are found each day in "The Rabbit's Foot." Tomorrow the writer of this department will tell why tight collars and neckbands should be avoided. This article also will describe the proper care of the neck and throat.

Comparing a small child to walk along clinging to a grown person's hand may be the cause of strain and weariness, according to "Your Girls and Boys," a feature which will be published tomorrow. The writer gives excellent information concerning the care of children.

"The Snow Gnomes" will tell how the shoulders should be beautified. This may be accomplished, she says, by a very simple form of exercise which will produce most beneficial results.

"The Snow Gnomes" is a "Sleepytime Tale" which will be printed in The Sun tomorrow especially for the children. It is sure to please them.

OPERATIVE SERIOUSLY BURNED
Nicholas Martis, an employee of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, was seriously burned about the face, head and hands this morning and was taken to the Lowell hospital in the ambulance. The injured man lives on Fenwick street.

PARTIES DAMAGED BY FIRE SUNDAY GETTING READY TO RESUME BUSINESS

It is expected within a few weeks the plants of the Amasa Pratt Co. and W. R. Hatch in Dutton and White streets, which were gutted by fire Sunday, will be again in full operation. Business at the shop of W. R. Hatch is practically at a standstill, while the Amasa Pratt Co. is filling out its many orders in its other shops in Dutton street.

A member of the Amasa Pratt Co. in conversation with a Sun reporter this morning stated the gutted shop will be rebuilt as soon as possible. The men who were employed in that building are not idle, for they were all put to work clearing out the debris in the burned building. Several large wagons are engaged in removing the burned material and the work is being rushed along. Although definite plans are not completed it is possible the interior of the new shop will be made fireproof. The four standing brick walls which were only slightly damaged by smoke will be reinforced and a new roof installed.

The three other shops of the company in Dutton street are running full time and there will be no delay in delivering the large orders on hand. Full operations will be resumed in about two weeks.

W. E. Hatch informed the writer that seven of his men are out of work on account of the fire. He said there is no power in his shop and it will be four or five weeks before work is resumed. Several men are employed in cleaning the building and the work of reconstructing the shafting and installing new machinery will be rushed along.

ATTACKS WALSH FOR REMOVING WALKER

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—In a caustic letter of criticism of his action in removing Fred F. Walker as commissioner of animal industry, Attorney John P. Feeley, who has been retained as counsel by Mr. Walker, yesterday demanded of Gov. Walsh a copy of the charges on which the removal was based and also a public hearing on them.

If these requests are not granted, Mr. Feeley will appeal to the supreme court to force the governor to grant Mr. Walker his statutory right as an officer removed for cause to a reasonable opportunity to know the charges and to defend himself against them.

In his letter, Mr. Feeley questions the right of the governor to remove Mr. Walker and discusses in detail the charges against Mr. Walker as outlined in the governor's statement relative to the removal last Saturday.

Concerning the chief charge against Mr. Walker—that he pledged the credit of the state to an amount exceeding $50,000 without any warrant in law—

Mr. Feeley declares that the so-called "Agreement of Bill of Sale" is neither one nor the other, but is a mere document of appraisal, as the governor should have realized from his legal experience.

Mr. Feeley roundly condemns the commission on economy and efficiency, "whose claim to efficiency, so far as the general public is aware, rests solely in its name," as an incompetent authority to criticize Mr. Walker's conduct as commissioner of animal industry, because of their own lack of experience, education or training in a subject that so peculiarly requires special training.

Mr. Feeley also throws some hot shot at the executive council, quoting prominent officers of the federal bureau of animal industry as to their high opinions of Mr. Walker's special fitness for the position, and cites decisions by the Massachusetts supreme court on the right of an officer removed for cause to a notice of the charges preferred against him and to a reasonable opportunity to make defense.

CLAN GRANT AUXILIARY

NEW YEAR SUPPER BY THE LADIES FOLLOWED BY A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Clan Grant, O. S. C. were hostesses last evening at a New Year's supper and entertainment given in room 120 hall. A feature of the evening was the Scotch supper served to about 75 members and friends of the clan. This was preceded by the singing of "Auld New Year," the singers being attractively attired in white, with dainty caps.

The musical program of the evening was replete with Scotch numbers, including selections by the Harlequin band and solos by members and friends of the auxiliary.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Jennie Robinson after which the following program was carried out: A quartet composed of Mrs. Margaret Reid, Mrs. Peter Caddell, Mrs. Nell Walters and Miss Margaret Taylor, "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon." The Harlequin band, then turned itself to a vocal melody, composed of a number of Scotch songs. Four of the members of the band danced a reel, and then Miss Margaret Taylor sang the plaintive folk-song, "Callin' Herrin'." A medley of American airs was played by the band, the solo part being carried by Mrs. Grace Grant. "The members of the band then sang the song, "The Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond," and then Miss Margaret Taylor sang the plaintive folk-song, "Callin' Herrin'." A medley of American airs was played by the band, the solo part being carried by Mrs. Grace Grant. "The members of the band then sang the song, "The Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond," and then Miss Margaret Taylor sang the plaintive folk-song, "Callin' Herrin'." WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

WINTER FLOWERS IN THE HOUSE

"I am homesick for some flowers in my windows," said Marie, looking up from a wooden box where she had been busy planting seeds all morning.

"With all the snow outside, I should think flowers inside would be very cheerful," Marjorie replied removing her heavy wraps and inspecting Marie's diligent labor.

"In Italy and France the poorest elements have usually window boxes full of green growing things, and here only the best hotels and clubs seem to have the pretty idea of decorating window sills," sighed Marie.

"And not only do they love to see the flowers and greenery growing but they use many of the herbs in their soups and salads. Why, I have known your families to grow a great many of their table supplies in window boxes, and of course you have heard of the wonderful cookery of the French, combined with economy."

"Yes, indeed," answered Marjorie. "I was reading about it in school only the other day. What do you propose to raise in the boxes and what is required?"

"The boxes for the raising of herbs should be five to six inches deep and as wide as is convenient. They should not be over a foot wide, however, as in that event the rows at the back will be pale and spindly." Bore holes in the bottom of the box and scatter small pebbles over the bottom. Fill it with rich earth, into which two cupfuls of fine sand have been worked.

"A pot of geraniums at each end of an herb box adds a touch of color and would in turn be set off by the various greens of the herbs, and by their decorative leaves, quite as beautiful in their way as the ferns and asparagus with which the florist dresses his flowers," Marie continued.

"What is a good herb to raise?" asked Marjorie, gaining information for new ideas in the school room.

"I think parsley is attractive for a dining room, especially as it diffuses a refreshing, spicy odor. Parsley, the best known of all herbs, and the one which has the most uses, is very slow to germinate, sometimes taking as long as three weeks before even a hint of green will show. Chervil and Basil are splendid for soups and stews and in salads are pungent and refreshing when added to the usual rather heavy winter lettuce. Chervil, Basil and Carriander are all annuals, but by care in plucking off the leaves and keeping the ground around them sterile, they may be made to live a whole year."

"I believe my father would appreciate such a source of supplies, and I believe I will start one," was Marjorie's reply.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

The Doctors Say "Use Musterole"

So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it. Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE rouses the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the messy, old fashioned mustard plaster.

MUSTEROLE is recommended for Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Sprains, Bruises, Sore Neck, Headache and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, 1c, 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

The officers of the Ladies Auxiliary are: President, Mrs. Jennie Robinson; vice president, Mrs. Peter Caddell; and past president, Mrs. Nell Walters.

SECOND HAND CLOTHIERS

TOO MANY ON DUTTON STREET SAID HARRY LEVY AT LICENSE BOARD MEETING LAST NIGHT

At last evening's meeting of the license board a protest was entered by Harry Levy, through his attorney, George F. Toye, against the granting of a second-hand clothing store license at 215 Dutton street to Abraham J. Spitzer. Lawyer Toye informed the members of the commission that there are several stores of this sort on Dutton street at the present time and that the applicant for the license is a nephew of David Bernstein, now proprietor of two second hand clothing stores. Mr. Toye intimated that Bernstein was to operate the store after a license had been secured by Spitzer.

Mr. Bernstein was questioned and he admitted that he was financing his nephew but denied that he was to benefit from the operation of the store. Action on the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

Two licenses were cancelled, that of Mary A. Wiggan, 229 Gorham street, to sell ice cream, confectionery, etc. on the Lord's day, and that of George Ashworth, billiards and pool, at 1224 Gorham street. A license to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day at 920 Gorham street was granted to John E. Hatzsch. A common victualler license to Alexander J. Morse, 508 Rogers street, was laid on the table. The following renewals were made: Abolitioner, Edward H. Clark, 419 Hildreth building; Alexander B. Trudeau, 45 Merrimack street; and E. Gaston Campbell, 328 Hildreth building; hawker and peddler, George C. Hunting, 219 Shaden street, Dracut, and Morris J. Shapiro, 31 Nichols street.

Lowell Coke Is a Better Fuel Today Than Ever Before

Don't get the idea that all coke is alike. There is good coke and poor coke, just as there is good coal and poor coal.

How good coke is depends on how it is made and what kind of coal is used in the making.

We pay 15 per cent. more for our coal than makers of ordinary coke. We have to buy the best obtainable because our gas-making plant demands it. Then Lowell Coke is made by improved equipment, that takes out all impurities and leaves coke with a higher percentage of pure carbon than any other. It is practically 90 per cent. pure carbon—only 2 per cent. volatile matter necessary for kindling.

Three chemists are employed by the Lowell Gas Light Company to see that Lowell Coke is kept up to highest standard.

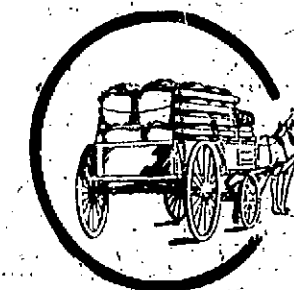

Whether you have used coke in the past or not, try LOWELL COKE. Send for our coke expert to show you how it should be burned. Then you'll realize that you never knew what a splendid fuel good coke is.

A hot, even fire, keeping for over 12 hours without attention. Money saved—at least 25 cents on every dollar.

Less bother—less dust—fewer ashes—no clinkers.

Gentlemen: Being somewhat doubtful that Lowell Coke would really save so much as some claim, I have kept close account of what it cost me and find I get the same heat for nearly one-fourth less money. Am free to recommend it to all. Have no trouble in keeping fire every night and it doesn't harm the grate in the slightest.

THE MATHEW INSTITUTE

ITS 34TH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED LAST NIGHT BY INTERESTING MEETING

The Mathew Temperance Institute celebrated the 34th anniversary of the organization last evening by holding open house to some 300 members in the spacious headquarters in Central street.

President Walter T. Powers occupied the chair and in calling the meeting to order he reviewed the work of the institute the past year and showed that by the co-operation of the members the institute spoke on the organization and told of the great need for their work at the present time. Mr. Slattery's remarks were highly interesting and he was loudly applauded.

James O'Sullivan, appealed to all the old members to rally to the support of the institute, and his talk aroused the members to a high degree of enthusiasm. Mr. O'Sullivan said that the society needed the older members at the present time more than ever before, in helping along the movement of total abstinence. As the officers had termed the meeting "revival night," he stated that he would do his share and once more become an active and interested worker for the organization.

Rev. Dr. Keleher set forth excellent reasons why every young man should become a total abstainer and a member of the Mathew Temperance Institute.

His talk concerning the manifold advantages to be derived from participation in the debate excited much interest. Before closing, Rev. Dr. Keleher cited many interesting events which occurred during his younger days as a member of a debating society, and asked all in attendance to be present at the debate to be held next Tuesday evening. Several of the "old guard" made known their intention of participating in the affair.

The members then renewed their pledge of total abstinence and after the roll call, Mr. O'Sullivan again assured the members that the society would have his active support from now on.

McNerny's orchestra rendered several pleasing selections throughout the evening. It was announced that the debates and monthly smoke talk will be continued, and the ladies' nights which proved so popular will also be held every Friday evening. The officers responsible for the success of the affair were as follows: Walter T. Powers, president; Bernard Connor, vice president; Edward Draper, financial secretary; Thomas Tighe, recording secretary and Frank Lincoln, treasurer.

bers in bringing in new members, the institute was fast becoming the largest and leading total abstinence society in the state. His remarks aroused much enthusiasm among the members and at the conclusion he was given an ovation.

Francis A. Connor, superintendent of public buildings, was next called upon for a song after which Mayor Dennis J. Murphy was introduced. His honor recalled many interesting anecdotes concerning the different members and spoke a good word for the debates which are being conducted by the members at regular intervals.

James E. Donnelly followed with several pleasing vocal selections and received a rousing reception. Harry Lauder's favorites were demanded by the members before Mr. Donnelly was allowed to resume his seat.

Former President James J. Gallagher spoke on the good accomplished by a temperance organization. He also cited the different successful men the society had developed. In closing he urged all the members to stand firm in order that the society might meet with even greater success.

A STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

MISS MARGARET FOLEY TELLS STORY OF HOW NEVADA BECAME A SUFFRAGE STATE

Miss Margaret Foley was the speaker last night at a meeting held under the auspices of the Lowell Equal Suffrage League in the hall of the Varnum school. Miss Foley was late in arriving, having missed the train she intended to take. There were graphophone selections and singing.

Miss Foley told the story of how Nevada became a suffrage state and of the difficulties of campaigning in a state where it was necessary to cover 110,000 miles in order to reach 20,000 voters. She said that Nevada is largely a mining state and in order to reach the voters it was necessary to see three different shifts of miners in each camp. To reach the third shift, she said, it was necessary to go down in the mines. She spoke about visiting every shack in a mining camp, and occasionally attending dances at the ranches where she had to dance with every man on the ranch. This, she said, gave her an excellent opportunity to talk suffrage.

The Nevada suffragists, Miss Foley says, spent only $10,000 in a three-years' campaign. While the miners were usually with them as soon as the case was presented to them, the women lost in the city of Reno, but the returns from the small places, showing every vote cast for suffrage, brought up the result to a good round total. They encountered many difficulties, among them being the opposition of the richest man in the state.

TOP NOTCH RUBBERS

WHERE DO YOUR RUBBERS WEAR OUT FIRST?

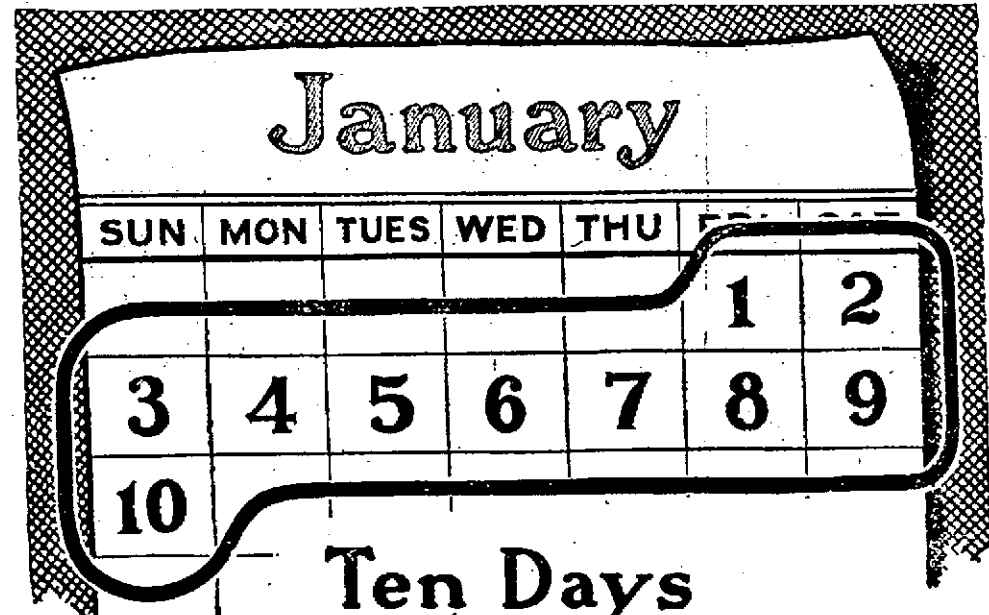

The ladies who wear high heel shoes know from past experience that it is the heel.

Then why don't you buy a pair of Top Notch Rubbers with the patented, doubly-reinforced "Clincher Cushion" heel—the only real balanced rubbers sold in town. They won't break or split through at the heel before the rest of the rubber is worn. The heel is strengthened and reinforced to resist constant wear and tear.

Now is the time to buy these longer-wearing rubbers. You will find them just as stylish as they are serviceable.

INAUGURAL ECHOES

Inaugural addresses read in the principal cities of Massachusetts and New England last Monday, and the editorial comments thereon show that the conditions which were referred to officially in this city and which have been discussed by our public for some time past agitate other communities. Not an inaugural or a press commentary but has its clause applicable to local conditions. In some cases the papers speak of achievements which, by contrast with local conditions, reveal our inefficiency; in others they refer to shortcomings which are likewise apparent here.

One inaugural address that has a direct application to Lowell is that of Mayor Kay of Fall River who prefaced his remarks by calling attention to the fact that the new government of that city starts with a clean financial slate—something almost unique—and that the current obligations contracted during the last year have been discharged, while there remains a surplus of $25,000 after all bills had been paid. The mayor admitted that this could not have been done were it not for the abnormally high tax rate, and on this phase of the inaugural the Fall River Globe comments as follows:

The tax rate was, he admits, abnormally high, also this remarkable showing would not have been possible. What he now urges, and professes his belief will be feasible, is that by the exercise of judicious discretion in the authorizing of public improvements, in observing a conservative policy, in dealing with requests for increases in salaries and wages and by promoting greater efficiency and economy in the administrations of the several municipal departments, a material reduction of the rate can be effected this year.

It goes without saying that it will be highly gratifying to the taxpayers if his faith in this respect should be justified by results. But is too frequently the fact that inaugural day hopes and promises fail to materialize.

In the suggestions of Mayor Kay for the reduction of the tax rate is a lesson for some of our own officials who declare that the way to reduce our rate is to avoid any new improvements and to do nothing which will involve any new expenditure, no matter how far-reaching the benefits may be. It is by genuine and sincere economy in the administration of the various departments that the tax rate may be reduced in any community.

Another reference to an inaugural that may fitly be applied to the local inaugural is that of the Worcester Post, which, commenting on the address of Mayor Wright says: "Our fault has been, as you generally with American cities, that we have been doing far too much work for the day merely, only to entail replacements and doing over again, with endless confusion and duplication between departments. In a word, it has been, not work really planned but partly a go-it-lose-and-blind system which, with the addition of city council deals in election of officials, keeping the latter's attention engaged a good share of each year in holding their positions, results in the city getting an average of about $2 value for each $3 spent." This method of doing municipal work which describes some Lowell politics adequately will not do much to reduce our tax rate which, judging by results, is altogether indefensible. The tax rate should never have been boosted without some extraordinary undertaking, such as a great system of street extension or some other public improvement, and nothing will justify its being kept at the present figure without something of a tangible nature to show for it. The high tax rate in this city is the one real stumbling block to our administration of last year, for there is nothing to excuse it or to explain it; neither has there been any indication of a sincere desire either to reduce it or to apply it to the public benefit with the exception of Commissioner Carmichael's statement as to how it might be reduced.

Commenting on the incoming government, and its intentions, in Newburyport, the Herald says: "The incoming government has already felt the demand of the people for substantial and definite improvement of highways and for betterment of the lighting of the business streets. The former will cost money and probably must be cared for by some extraordinary form of financing. The latter improvement can be secured without a cent of cost if the city government will courageously attack the problem of the scientific rearrangement of the city's lights." This applies almost as pertinently to Lowell conditions. Another inaugural suggestion of interest to us is that of Mayor Woods of Holyoke who urges the erection of a contagious hospital. Like Lowell Holyoke has offended in this respect and, like Lowell, it is seeing the light.

FAKE CHARITIES

The demands for genuine charity are so many and the needs in many quarters are so pressing that anything which would interfere with the helping of a worthy cause should be avoided; nevertheless there is need for caution lest the unworthy or the dishonest impose on good nature. When such impositions are successful and the real facts afterwards revealed, those who have been victimized are rendered, perhaps, unduly cautious and in this way real charity is oftentimes injured. The many claims made on the charitable from all over the world at the present time offer an opportunity to the dishonest which many of them do not hesitate to avail of.

In some sections of the city suspicious looking individuals have sought contributions, alleged to be in aid of the Belgians, though the local committees in charge of this work had not authorized any such soliciting. Others have asked for funds for the Red Cross, and so on. In most cases the fraud is so palpable that the solicitors do not succeed in their attempt. When any request of this nature is made, it is easy enough to discover if the collector is genuine by calling up the headquarters of the charities involved, the board of trade rooms, or even the newspapers. Usually one can discover in a few minutes if the solicitor is a fake or genuine. Sometimes it may be well to call up the police.

A rather unique instance of attempted fraud was tried on a prominent business man a short time ago. A little girl, poorly clad, went to his office and in an appealing manner asked for some firewood. Filled with the spirit of the holiday season he granted her request. He also determined to send some food supplies, etc., and so asked her name and residence. Remembering a former experience, however, he took down the directory to verify the story, seeing which the girl asked if she could go out to bring in her little brother. Once outside she ran as fast as her legs could carry her to where a man, presumably her father, waited, and both disappeared. This in itself is only a slight incident but it is typical of much fraud in appeals for charity. Community organized charity may not be yet practicable but, for the sake of the deserving, all precautions should be taken to guard against the dishonest.

MASSACHUSETTS LEADS

According to a statistical report published last week, Massachusetts manufactured goods valued at $1,655,428,363 in 1913. This amount taken in itself may not give any definite idea of its significance, but as contrasted with some other facts, it shows the great part being played by this state in the industrial life of the country. Commenting on the report in question, Current Affairs says: "This is more than the total exports or imports of the twenty Latin-American countries in that year. It is more than the total exports of France, of the Netherlands, or Belgium in that year. Massachusetts factories make more goods than double the total foreign trade of China, exports and imports combined. When you think of foreign trade, hitch your foreign trade thinking to New England factory production."

There is nothing in this to make Massachusetts sit back complacently, but rather is it a spur to greater effort. Unless all auguries fail the industrial life of this country is in line for an unprecedented boost, and this state will not then take a secondary place. Massachusetts has long ago ceased to be a merely textile state and there is scarcely an industry which is not represented. Even our own city is typical of the entire state in this respect, and there are many indications of the growth of agitation in favor of

In view of local claims pending against the city for damages resulting from the bursting of the water mains at Tower's corner in January, 1913, a recent verdict of the supreme court is of more than usual local interest. In a report handed down last Friday, January 1, the supreme court sustains a verdict of $1500 given Winfield S. Pearl, in his action against the town of Revere to recover damages for injuries inflicted by an automobile driven by an employee of the Revere water department.

The argument used by counsel for the town is practically the argument heard in this city following the bursting of the water main, viz: that inasmuch as the injury was inflicted in the course of a municipal undertaking for the good of the public, and as the statute under which the water department was created made it independent of the control of the town, Revere could not be held responsible for the injury.

In deciding against the contention of the town's counsel, the supreme court held that the town of Revere was not compelled by statute to establish a water supply, but was merely authorized to do so at the option of a popular vote of the town. It declares the water department to be a money-making enterprise on the part of the town, and not a governmental service solely for the public welfare such as schools, highways, police and fire departments. This decision will be followed with interest in many other communities besides ours, wherever, in fact, suits are pending against the water department for damages resulting from injuries to person or property.

SOUND ADVICE

Secretary Redfield speaks wisely and to the point in reminding the manufacturers and merchants of the country that now is an excellent time to attend to repairs, additions and improvements, in anticipation of a growth of business in the near future.

In all lines of business there are many minor things calling for constant attention but when business runs full blast they cannot be performed. Now that there is some degree of stagnation, it is to the interest of business and more directly to the interest of the unemployed that all necessary improvements should be attended to. It would help to tide employer and employed over the difficult place and on to the surer road. Unvarying prosperity tends to carelessness in some departments of manufacture and commerce; it takes a little adversity to show where the ends of efficiency may be more fully served. Another consideration that should influence corporations and individuals to get busy in making improvements and preparing for the future is the low price of most commodities. Indications are that prices will rise speedily as the war continues.

making a brief speaking tour President Wilson has aroused the ire of partisan critics, but his plans will be hailed with approbation by most of our people. It cannot surely be said that the chief executive has courted any undue publicity for in this respect he has been altogether different from other recent presidents. Though his personality has been written into every great measure of the administration, his personal views and opinions have rarely been aired either on the platform or on the press. Now after a long season of trial, it is meet that he should come before the American people to brush aside the veil of reticence. He will be received affectionately by most and heard respectfully by all.

War news continues to give us routine accounts of pro and con without an account of anything brilliant or decisive. The weather may have something to do with this as each side seems to be content to hold what it has already gained. It may be that winter will have gone before there is any great departure from the present policy—though most neutral people would rather see peace growing up with the opening of the buds and flowers.

The ship purchase bill, otherwise known as the merchant marine bill, will soon be in the congressional limelight. As usual, there are a great many negative opinions but few positive or constructive ones. While we are bombarding our own merchant ships with oratorical shells, the opportunity to profit by the rehabilitation of the merchant marine may pass. Of all sad words, etc.

Generals Scott and Villa will meet on international bridge and discuss the firing across the border. Thought that was all discussed and an understanding arrived at long ago.

A PLEASANT WAY TO HELP

"Mamma," hissed the cherub, while a smile of serpentine sweetness illuminated his baby face, "do you know that sometimes I help Catherine's mamma?"

"That's nice," prompted the proud parent. "And what do you do to help her, dear?"

"Oh," replied the cherub, "when she's all right, I tell her, 'You love her!'"

"And do you love her?" the captain asked the other.

"Yes, he love her too."

The captain looked at the girl, who was a pretty little thing, something over four feet high, with coal black hair plastered down over her temples, and sleek-black ringlets eyes. Let no one doubt the vital beauty of Eskimo maid in the flush of youth and health.

"Here," said the captain to the girl, "which one of these men do you want?"

The interpreter put the question. The maiden's eyes grew brighter, her cheeks a deeper crimson and a coy smile wreathed her lips. She stepped over to one of the young men, and, untidily and touched him on the arm.

"This one," she said, and there was no need for the interpreter to translate.

"All right," said the captain, with a roar of laughter, "take him."

And he married them on the spot. Straight from the ship back to the village the newly wedded couple paddled, large the husky Eskimo and to live happily; no doubt, ever afterward. The bride's father touched off a few more explosions of vocal dynamite into the interpreter's ear.

"He says," declared the interpreter to Captain Henderson, "he satisfied."

I MISS YOU SO
I miss you so, sometimes—
When weighty matters vex and fret
My mind and hands grow tired
Of reaching for the things they never get;
And my dry eyes are hot with unshed tears.

I miss you so!
I miss you so, sometimes—
When I am ending of the day,
When at the twilight falls, I seem to catch
The scent of roses from an old dead May,
And seem to hold again your hand—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When I awaken from some fitful dream
Wherein you come as in the long ago,
Just mine alone, and when I seem
To feel your lips again—and then—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When of life seems want and pain,
While in the turmoil and the strife
I try to pray for your dear arms
Again—
To hold me as no others can—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
That nothing else seems worth the while;
I long so for your dear, dear clinging lips,
Your gentle eyes and the bewitching smile
They used to hold before I came

AN ARCTIC SOLOMON

The "floating court" is an institution founded by the United States government for administering judgment in the far north. An interesting example of the unusual problems that confronted Capt. A. J. Henderson, one of the first judges of the court, is told by Mr. Walter Noble Burns in the Wide World Magazine.

One day, at Point Hope, there appeared before the court held on the Thetis, Captain Henderson's ship, an old Eskimo and his wife. They were accompanied by their pretty daughter and two stalwart young men, who were suitors for her hand. In choicest Eskimo they sounded like a series of explosions of vocal dynamite, the venerable father poured a voluble tale into the ears of the interpreter.

"This man, he say," began the interpreter, "these two feller want this gal for wife. One feller he offer a walrus tusk, a dog team and sled; the other feller, he give kayak, two reindeer, a bear-skin and six fox skin. This gal the old man's only daughter. He old, and he want good trade. But he not know which he best take. He say maybe you tell him."

Captain Henderson is no Cupid—he stands six feet two and weighs 250 pounds—but he determined to essay the role of Cupid's first assistant.

"You love this girl?" he asked one suitor.

"Yes," replied the interpreter, "he love her."

"And do you love her?" the captain asked the other.

"Yes, he love her too."

The captain looked at the girl, who was a pretty little thing, something over four feet high, with coal black hair plastered down over her temples, and sleek-black ringlets eyes. Let no one doubt the vital beauty of Eskimo maid in the flush of youth and health.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

CONDEMNNS LITERACY TEST
One of the most un-American pieces of legislation that ever passed congress has now passed through the senate and is the literacy test to keep desirable immigrants out of this country, merely because they cannot read or write.

When President Taft was in the White House he vetoed the proposition. Now President Wilson will receive for his signature a bill that embodies the same un-American provision that will not permit a man between 16 and 35 years to come into this country under any conditions if he cannot read and write some language.—Holyoke Transcript.

THIS YEAR

What is this year going to mean to each one of us and to the nations and the world? As far as our individual lives are concerned, it will be the same old story. It will depend most largely upon ourselves. For while we speak in these days a great deal of environment and place much stress upon its power, nevertheless, it forever holds true that it is those qualities which are inherent in ourselves, our own inner lives, that determine how far we shall conquer the things about us and

TOURIST ROUTES
During the past few years there has been a steady increase in the number of "European living," but at that time of American travelers can not decide again, compared with rates at home in touring Europe. If to the feature there be added the historical attractions, clear reason for the great demand for the propriety of thousands of people in this country to spend their vacations abroad. In the nature of things, this traffic was somewhat checked at the outbreak of the war, and a condition approaching paralysis must attend the continuance of hostilities.—Salem News.

SUDDEN DEATHS
It is a sad subject, but the reader of the newspapers must have noted the large number of sudden deaths throughout the country. That was not an uncommon view of the great problem of human existence, that the counselor of the old British ruler said when the first Christian preacher came to lay his doctrine before the leaders of England. The life of a man, that of a bird that flies in at the open casement, lingers a short time impatiently, near the fire, and flies away, none knowing whither.—Providence News.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food-tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

THE BON MARCHÉ

THE FIRST INAUGURATION

EXERCISES AT ATTLEBORO HIGH SCHOOL.—MAYOR SWEET ASKS PUBLIC CO-OPERATION

ATTLEBORO, Jan. 6.—Attleboro, one of the youngest cities in the state, held its first inauguration exercises yesterday evening in the high school hall. More than 1000 persons were present.

On the platform were Mayor Harold E. Sweet, the 11 members of the council, the city clerk and city collector. The opening address was delivered by Millard F. Ashley, chairman of the outgoing selectmen. Invocation was by Rev. Fr. P. S. McGee, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church.

The oath of office was administered to City Clerk Frank J. Babcock, and he in turn administered the oath to the other elected officers.

In his inaugural address Mayor Sweet gave a general review of the town in its transition to a city, with a statement of his purpose to proceed carefully on what is "a well-kept uncharted sea" for Attleboro and a request for the public's co-operation. That three more night patrolmen be appointed, bringing the force up to 10, and that five reserves be provided to take the place of special officers, who were condemned as "skirmishers," were urged by the mayor.

He urged a consolidation of the sewer and plumbing inspection work and a consolidation of the city's charity work in a central bureau. The positions of health officer and city physician will be consolidated, he announced.

A portion of the message dealt with industrial development and committed the administration to the policy of securing new industries for the city. The benediction was given by Rev. Dr. J. Lee Mitchell of the Second Congregational church. The two clergymen taking part in the exercises are Attleboro's senior ministers, in point of service.

Following the exercises the new city council organized with Judge Philip E. Brady as president. He defeated Col. Samuel M. Holman by 7 votes to 3. Judge Brady has been a lifelong resident of Attleboro and is a graduate of Harvard law school. He is one of the associate justices of the Fourth district court of Attleboro.

The council received a communication from Mayor Sweet recommending the following appointments: Charles B. Wilbur for chief of police, Joseph V. Curran for overseer of the poor for three years, Benjamin P. King for overseer for two years, Dr. Ralph P. Kent for city physician and health officer, William R. Packard for chief of the fire department for three years, Fred A. Clark and William E. Sweeney for assistant fire engineers, Millard F. Ashley for building inspector.

The councilors did not confirm any appointments last night but adjourned until Friday night, when the list of recommended appointments will be considered.

Until April Walter J. Newman will be clerk to Mayor Sweet. Mr. Newman has been clerk of the selectmen for several years during town government.

The new assessors organized this afternoon with Walter J. Newman as chairman and Harry E. Carpenter as clerk. The school committee selected Benjamin P. King, for chairman and Dr. R. P. Dakin for clerk.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

BALTIMORE BANKERS PROTEST AGAINST FAILURE TO ESTABLISH BANK IN THEIR CITY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Representatives of Baltimore banks were here today for a hearing before the federal reserve board to present formal arguments against the decision of the reserve bank organization committee in locating the federal reserve bank of the fifth district in Richmond, Va. instead of their city.

Today's hearing marks the first of a series which will last several weeks and in which protests from various cities and localities against the work of the organization committee will be heard.

TO BUILD BIG STEAMERS

THREE NEW 10,000 TONS VESSELS FOR SERVICE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND PACIFIC COAST

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 6.—Three new 10,000 ton steamers are to be built soon on the Atlantic coast for W. R. Grace & Co. for service between New York and Pacific coast ports via the Panama canal, according to an announcement made here today.

It was also announced that the Johnson line of Swedish motor ships would begin a service between Europe and North Pacific ports via the canal May 1.

R. A. KEYES PROMOTED

Appointed Assistant City Clerk of Somerville to Fill Place Left Vacant by H. E. Wemyss

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Richard A. Keyes, assistant clerk of committees, was appointed assistant city clerk by City Clerk F. W. Cook of Somerville yesterday afternoon to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Howard E. Wemyss as city auditor.

He was born in Somerville 27 years ago and graduated from the English high school in 1906. He was appointed assistant clerk of committees May 1, 1912.

OPPOSES THE COLOR LINE WOMEN AT WHITE HOUSE

MISS TALBOT PROTESTS AGAINST SEPARATING WHITES AND NEGROES AT SCHOOL DANCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the University of Chicago, protested today against the color line being drawn in the social affairs of the high school, which most of the negro children of the city attend.

At the first dance of the season the white and negro children attended together, Miss Fanny R. Smith, dean of girls at the school, then arranged dances for the whites and negroes on separate nights.

In her letter of protest to Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, Miss Talbot wrote: "A good many people believe that if there was ever a time when discrimination between the races should be made this surely is not the time. Our public school certainly is an agency for fostering sympathy and democracy, which must not be allowed to fail the community."

Miss Smith replied that the parties could be continued under no other circumstances.

"Not only white children but white parents also have made that plain," she said. "The colored pupils and the white meet under identical conditions. The colored pupils are learning, just as the white ones have to learn, that people have political rights but social privileges; that kindly interest in others cannot be forced."

ALLIES BARELY HELD LINES

Two British Regiments on the Yser Threw Back 16 Attacks in One Day and Had Only 200 Men Left

CALAIS, France, Dec. 16 (Correspondence).—Now that the allies in the west have taken the offensive and made some progress, French army officers are willing to talk freely of the scant margin by which they have been able to hold the positions in northern France and southern Belgium.

The lines barely held and no more. For 50 days violent German attacks were barely resisted. First at one place and then at another, it seemed as though just a little more pressure on the part of the Germans and the lines would break.

Two British regiments which had held 2400 yards on the Yser threw back in one day 16 attacks. Each time the advance was less violent and the resistance was easier. When the assaults came to an end only 200 unwounded British soldiers were holding this space. One more attack and they probably would have succumbed. But it was not made, and relief came up in a few hours.

Hardly a day passed that some very critical situation did not arise on some part of the lines extending from the sea to Arras.

"MADE IN AMERICA"

Exhibit to Have Been Held in Pittsburgh Has Been Cancelled by the Art Society

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—The "Made in America" exhibit, to have been held in Carnegie institute here, has been cancelled by the Art society of Pittsburgh. Its sponsor, because it was declared, American manufacturers fear to advertise the fact that their wares were made in the United States.

The small number of articles presented for exhibition caused the society to seek the reason and brought from one important manufacturer the admission that he did not wish the fact spread abroad that his products were not made in Europe because of the "popular, though erroneous impression that European manufacturers are superior."

Other manufacturers have taken the same view.

WHISKEY MARKED "PICKLES"

RICHMOND, Me., Jan. 6.—Joseph E. Carter, a grocer, recently had the surprise of his life when he started to open a barrel marked "Pickles." He found the barrel filled with pint bottles of whiskey.

He then opened another barrel, similarly marked, with the same result. Mr. Carter summoned Deputy Sheriff Edward Bullock and they found 80 pint bottles of whiskey in the two barrels.

Evidently the barrels became mixed in Boston.

SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZED

The school board for 1915 met in the board's meeting room at city hall yesterday and organized with Dr. John H. Lambert as chairman. City Clerk Flynn administered the oath of office to the two new members, Herbert N. Elliott and John C. Leggat, and Dr. Lambert, who was re-elected and who has already served two years as chairman.

Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools and clerk of the board, called to order at 2:30, and the city clerk then administered the oath of office. The board then proceeded to the election of a chairman and Dr. Lambert was elected, receiving four of the five votes, his own vote going to Mr. Simpson.

Mr. Lambert thanked his fellow members for the honor and said he had hoped that Mr. Simpson would have been elected, but he had refused to offer himself as a candidate. He allowed, however, that things would be harmonious and the position of chairman for 1915 would not be a strenuous one.

List of Committees

Dr. Lambert then read the following list of committees:

Teachers—Simpson, Lambert, Elliott.

Books and Supplies—Elliott, Simpson, Causey.

High School—Lambert, Simpson, Elliott.

Finance—Simpson, Lambert, Leggat.

School Houses and Hygiene—Causse, Leggat, Elliott.

Industrial School—Lambert, Leggat, Causse.

FEDERALS FILE SUIT

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Charging that the national commission, the governing body of organized baseball, its rules and the national agreement under which its members work are a violation of the common law and the anti-trust statutes, the Federal league filed suit here today asking that the national commission be declared illegal and void and its members enjoined from further continuing in the alleged unlawful combination.

The suit was filed in the United States district court and in the usual course of business would be put on the calendar of Judge K. M. Landis, who is a devotee of baseball.

SEEK TO OBTAIN PRESIDENT'S SUPPORT OF AMENDMENT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—To obtain President Wilson's support of a constitutional amendment for nation wide woman suffrage was the object of a call today at the White House of nearly 1000 democratic women, many of them voters whom the president had arranged to see. The amendment will be voted on in the house Jan. 13 and the call on the president marks the opening of the final effort of the suffragists at the present session of congress.

The suffragists had arranged before calling on President Wilson for a meeting to act on resolutions calling on congress to submit the pending amendment and urging the president to aid in enfranchising the women. Afterwards the delegation which was to ride to the White House in a long parade of automobiles bearing the suffrage colors.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE PAID

American Policies Lately Modified in France, But No Advantage Is Taken of Modification

PARIS, Dec. 31 (Correspondence).—One of the American life insurance companies has paid out about $100,000 on policies held by soldiers who were killed in the war. The last policies issued which cover the war risk were dated July 25. After that date American policies were so modified as to exclude all risks connected with the war.

A capitalist of Attleboro who paid his first premium on a $5000 policy on July 25, was killed in one of the early engagements.

Annulments and claims in case of death from natural causes are being paid promptly by American companies while others, in accordance with the provisions of the modification, are paying no annuities in excess of $240 per year and no death claims.

Six German and Austrian life insurance companies were doing business in France before the war. They come under the measures taken against Germans doing business in France and their resources, deposited with the national consignment department, will be used for the benefit of their policyholders other than those of German or Austrian nationality.

YEGGS FIRE THREE SHOTS

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Three highwaymen armed with revolvers tried to hold up Angelo Zimmet, driver, and Daniel Ahearn, foreman, both in the employ of Mrs. B. F. Quimby, contractor, of Brookline, as the pair were proceeding in a carriage about 6 o'clock last night along Hammond street, near the corner of Woodland avenue, Chestnut Hill, Brookline.

Three shots were fired by the hold-up men when the occupants of the carriage declined to slow down and instead whipped up their horse into a run. The men quickly turned into the nearby driveway of Mrs. Quimby's estate and eluded the highwaymen, whose escape is to follow. Mrs. Quimby telephoned for the police, who arrived quickly but could find no trace of the men.

SHE TALKED TO MUCH WIDESPREAD ROBBERIES

ATTEMPT TO OUST MISS PRAY, INMATE OF HOME FOR AGED WOMEN, ABANDONED

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 6.—The attempt to oust Miss Sarah E. Pray, an inmate of the Home for Aged Women, because she talked too much, has been temporarily abandoned, but before peace can be restored between the trustees and board of managers it is anticipated that there will be a general reorganization of the management of the home.

The managers have, it appears, no legal standing in the management of the home. Some years ago Mrs. Sarah J. Philbrick, secretary of the trustees, was granted permission to have some women associated with her and these were appointed by her.

Miss Pray has a contract with the home. The home is supported from the income of an endowment fund of more than $80,000.

It is stated that the legislature will be asked to pass a bill making it compulsory for all charitable institutions to make an annual report to either the secretary of state or to the state board of charities, similar to the law in effect in Massachusetts.

No statement regarding the finances of the home has been made public for some years. It is claimed.

FOURTH ARREST IN CONNECTION WITH ROBBERIES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A fourth arrest was made today by detectives who have been for some time on the trail of a group of so-called gentlemen burglars conducting widespread robberies in the homes of wealthy residents of New Jersey. The prisoner, John G. Glogow, aged 18, is charged with having robbed the home of Benjamin Douglas, a neighbor of Thomas A. Edison, in West Orange, N. J. Glogow's activities, the police charge, were connected with the alleged robberies of William Evans, a musician of this city, who was arrested after a struggle last night on charges of burglary. The police assert that Evans admitted having robbed the homes of two New York bankers who live in New Jersey, generally conducting his operations while dressed in evening clothes. Two other alleged confederates of Evans are under arrest in Newark, one of them being in a hospital with a policeman's bullet in his body.

Ford Coupelet $750

Fully Equipped, f. o. b. Detroit

This car is the most practical two-passenger model we have ever built. When the top is folded, the Coupelet becomes an open Runabout of unusual smartness and style.

The change from closed to open car can be made in two minutes, so that the Coupelet is quickly adaptable to all conditions of weather and driving.

It is especially popular with women who drive their own cars. As convenient and exclusive as an electric.

For physicians, architects, contractors and all business and professional men who have to cover a great deal of territory it is admirably suited.

DRIVE IT EVERY DAY

The FORD COUPELET may be driven twelve months in the year, in the city or over country roads, without personal discomfort, no matter what the weather.

Its distinctive style and attractiveness give it an exclusive appearance not found in any open runabout.

Buyers of this car will share in profits if we sell at retail 300,000 new FORD CARS between August 1914 and August 1915.

FOUND DEAD IN BED BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

OMERVILLE WOMAN BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN DEAD SINCE DEC. 23

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Catherine Ryan, aged 49, a widow who had lived one in a single house at 12 Palmer avenue, Somerville, was found dead in bed at her home late yesterday afternoon. She is believed to have been dead since Dec. 23. Medical Examiner P. McCaffrey, who viewed the body, said she had probably frozen to death. He will perform an autopsy today.

The body was discovered by a sister, Mrs. Nora Nagle of 1216 Great Plain, with whom Mrs. Ryan was expected to pass Christmas. Having failed to hear from Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Nagle sent her daughter to Mrs. Ryan's home last Monday. She was unable to get any response to her summons. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Nagle, in company with Mrs. Ellen Coughlin of a Palmer avenue and the latter's son, broke into the house and discovered the body. It was lying across a bed in the room on the second floor and was partially disrobed. Beside Mrs. Nagle, Mrs. Ryan is survived by two brothers, Patrick and John Dacey of Somerville, and a sister, Mrs. George Whiting of Mendon.

SCHOOL BOY A SUICIDE

OMERVILLE LAD OF 15 DIES FROM EFFECTS OF SELF-INFLICTED BULLET WOUND

SOMERVILLE, Jan. 6.—Lewis W. Martin, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Martin, and a junior at the Somerville high school, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 38 Hurston street, Winter Hill, Somerville, from the effects of a self-inflicted bullet wound. He shot himself while in his bedroom at 8.30 o'clock Monday evening. Medical Examiner Charles F. McCaffrey, who viewed the body yesterday afternoon and investigated the circumstances, said last night that the boy had committed suicide while temporarily deranged from overwork in his school studies.

The boy used a revolver owned by his father which had been in the house for a quarter of a century. He left the rest of the family shortly after 8 o'clock, saying he was about to retire for the night, and after writing a note, actually disrobed before shooting himself. The shot entered his right temple, the noise of the explosion and the fall of the body were heard by his father, and accompanied by his 16-year-old son Abbott, a classmate of the dead boy, he rushed upstairs. He found the boy lying on the floor with the revolver beside him. He summoned Dr. W. A. Bell, the family physician. The boy failed to regain consciousness before death.

MISS RYAN TAKES STAND IN HER $50,000 SUIT AGAINST H. K. MANSFIELD

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan of New Haven, whose $50,000 breach of promise suit against Henry K. Mansfield, proprietor of the Fenwick Inn, Middleton, Mass., was placed on trial in the Suffolk superior court yesterday, told Judge Fessenden, and a jury how Mansfield promised to marry her in July, 1908, and on several other occasions.

Seats were at a premium in the crowded court room, and scores stood outside the door and peered in, as they could not gain admittance. Many women were among the spectators.

HELD JANUARY MEETING

Teachers' Organization Contributes to Support of Federation Committee

The Lowell Teachers' organization held its January meeting in "Kitsun" hall, yesterday afternoon, at 4.15 o'clock. The revised constitution as recommended by the executive board was read and notice was given that action would be taken later. The names of members of the Federation committee were read. Miss Baker of the editorial committee of the Federation explained the scope and usefulness of "Common Ground." The organization voted $35 towards its support.

During the Christmas season, the teachers contributed to a Christmas fund and Miss Burnham reported that $55 had been received, and had been distributed as follows: Belgian Relief fund, $28; Red Cross fund, $7, and the remainder to local needs.

After the business meeting, Miss Carrie Erskine, who formerly taught in the Barlett school, gave an interesting talk on "Experiences at Hampton Institute."

LOWELL SCHOOL EXHIBIT

The sum of $20,000 has been appropriated for Massachusetts schools for the division of educational exhibits at the Panama-Pacific exposition and Hugh J. Malloy, superintendent of schools, has been requested to furnish a picture of one of the Lowell schools. The Lowell textile school will send an exhibit of the training courses for work on woolens, the chemistry of dyeing, etc. The exhibit will combine the museum picture and museum. Ideas of display.

LOWELL TRUST COMPANY

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lowell Trust Company of Lowell will be held at the banking room, No. 209 Central street, Lowell, Mass., on Thursday, January 14, 1915, at four o'clock in the afternoon, for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Secretary, Lowell, January 1, 1915.

POLICE DANCED

Annual Ball at Associate Hall a Great Success—Fine Decorations

Associate hall last night was the scene of a highly enjoyable concert and very charming dancing party when the Lowell police officers and patrolmen, their families, and their friends gathered for the twenty-seventh annual affair of its kind.

From the first number on the musical program until the last encore had been danced the event was appreciated to the utmost by those who occupied the gallery seats as well as by those who tripped the light fantastic.

Associate hall last evening presented a very pretty picture. With a huge American flag as a background, the stage was set off with pink and white bunting while miniature pine trees and potted plants all but hid the musicians from view. The stage front as well as the gallery was draped with white bunting caught up with clusters of holly while the side walls and supporting pillars were hung with white and pink bunting. Streamers of red, white and blue running from the center-chandelier to all corners of the hall completed the decorative design, making a very delightful scene.

The officers as well as patrolmen appeared in uniform which greatly enhanced the picture. Few indeed of those present realized just what a striking ballroom appearance the local guardians of the peace could present until last night's affair.

The annual large crowd, which always greets the police department on such occasions was on hand, in fact, the floor space was at a premium until a late hour. Long before the first number on the concert program was offered the gallery was filled and when the strains of the first waltz filtered through the stage foliage Associate hall was taxed to its capacity.

Deputy Supt. Hugh Downey was perhaps the moving genius of the affair. The deputy, besides being secretary and treasurer of the Lowell Police Relief association, filled the additional role of assistant general manager, and it was largely due to his efforts that the twenty-seventh annual ball was such a complete success. Alfred J. Cooney, floor director, was another officer whose efforts greatly assisted in the successful completion of the program.

The concert program, rendered by Broderick's orchestra of twelve pieces, was as follows:

March—"World Peace," J. S. Lamech; Overture—"Bridal Rose," C. Lavallee; "Que Vives Vous Ensembles," J. Lamech; Opinions by Messrs. Clark and Broderick.

"Salute to Erin"..... Julius Lenzberg; "Operatic Rag"..... Julius Lenzberg.

The officers of the evening were: General manager, Supt. Redmond Welch.

Deputy Supt. Hugh Downey was perhaps the moving genius of the affair. The deputy, besides being secretary and treasurer of the Lowell Police Relief association, filled the additional role of assistant general manager, and it was largely due to his efforts that the twenty-seventh annual ball was such a complete success. Alfred J. Cooney, floor director, was another officer whose efforts greatly assisted in the successful completion of the program.

The concert program, rendered by Broderick's orchestra of twelve pieces, was as follows:

March—"World Peace," J. S. Lamech; Overture—"Bridal Rose," C. Lavallee; "Que Vives Vous Ensembles," J. Lamech; Opinions by Messrs. Clark and Broderick.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Judging from the demonstrations attending the launching of the New Year, Lowell seems destined to catch up with other communities which have long made New Year's eve an extremely lively occasion.

In little old New York, the old this year was said to have been temporarily lifted and in many respects it is said the Saturday night of ancient Rome had nothing in the manner modern New York welcomed the birth of 1915. The down-east provincial who has spent New Year's in the metropolis within the last few years is likely to believe anything anybody tells him about the way they carried on there last Thursday night.

Now, Lowell is a conservative enough community with some many here spent the closing hours of the old year in churches and there greeted the new, still many more inclined to "whoop-her up" and celebrated by feasting and drinking. At some places fine banquets were spread for those who had the price. At these banquets some feasted as though they never expected another feed like it, and alas, to more than one among them this may prove true before another New Year's day. There was one unlucky man—there have been more—among holders of banquet tickets who paid a big price for half an inch of tomato soup and two soda crackers, yet like the good sport he didn't kick. He wasn't particularly hungry anyway; he was glad to be there, and he felt all right the next morning. But he would like to have somebody suggest to a certain hostess not to miscalculate so deplorably next New Year's eve.

Yes, indeed, Lowell, or certain portion of her population at least, may become right up to the times in this New Year's observance; but it is likely that in a town where the curfew rings at 9 and where part of the folks have to get up at 5.30 and go to work, it will become a universal custom.

With the Howlers

I hear that two teams of bowling experts from the municipal building are going to fight it out tomorrow night. One is led by the reputable "Smile" Crain, the other by Albert Blinn of the board of assessors. I don't know these bowlers average up, but if any of the bunch kels 75 or 50 per string I fear he will be howling better than he knows how. A team from the hall bowled a game against the P. A. C.'s of Pawtucketville a few weeks ago and were beaten three straight. A few of the C. H. bunch showed promise, but that's all they did show. Ed. Foye was good in his first ball work but was way off at single pin work. Warren Reardon had no difficulty finding all the holes he had made. Connel was fair. A ringer they trotted out, developed a little ball and that's all. Bill Mahan, who is an experienced bowler, didn't show what he usually does—in fact, as aforesaid, the farmers from Pawtucketville got their goat quite easily. Of Albert's team I don't know much about, but it can't be much as Connel says his team will bury them.

The Late Charles Frost

Charles Frost died suddenly, as he wished to die. He died in Central street, where he had engaged in business for about thirty years and for some time was a familiar figure upon that busy thoroughfare. I first knew Charlie when he was an "honorary member of the Mechanics' Phalanx" and associated somewhat with him when he was a member of the Rod and Gun club. As a member of the latter organization he was always the champion shot of them, taking the principal prizes as a matter of course. Everybody knew Charlie Frost, and to really know him was to like him. His social qualities were such as to make him hosts of friends and he was always a most welcome guest wherever he visited in a social way. He served for nearly three and a half years in the Union army during the Civil war, creditably. Sometimes you could get him to talk about his experiences as a soldier and upon those rare occasions it was a positive treat to hear him. To me he seemed the ideal soldier of the republic who responded to the call of his country in peril, promptly, offering his life for its defense. The colonel was born in Tussockboro, a short ways from the bridge spanning the river on the "old Frost place" now owned by Fred Smith. The first of Tussockboro were a noted family, and Charlie inherited many sterling traits of character. In any place or upon any occasion Charlie was always ready with the strong right hand of fellowship; and never was at a loss to fittingly express himself. His gentlemanly deportment had about it a certain military character that added charm to it. While old age had begun to affect the straight figure and alert figure which we had so long known, he still continued to make his evening visits to the social organization to which he belonged; yet his eye was still bright and piercing and we knew that physical infirmities could not subdue his indomitable spirit nor check the "genial current of his soul."

Will know him no more, but it will be a long time before Central street forgets Charlie Frost.

Sunday's Fire

We had another Sunday morning sounding of the fire bell which aroused us from our slumber; and many, recognizing the locality given as likely to prove a lively fire, jumped up and hastened to the scene. It was a lively fire. It threatened to be more serious than it was, and required the efforts of the entire department to keep it within bounds. All day long crowds were in attendance and from many I heard expressions in praise of the manner in which the fire was handled. It is fortunate the fire did not spread. This locality has ever been regarded as the most dangerous place for a fire to get started, there being so much property (the fire is a day long crowded in Liberty square naturally suggests itself as a safeguard and a protective measure against what might happen in this locality under present conditions.

Tribute to James E. Donnelly

City hall-folks witness the departure of James E. Donnelly from the building with genuine regret and it is but natural that they should. Gen. Donnelly always, in the eyes of his fellows as James is, their expressions of regret are not merely perfunctory in character. Mr. Donnelly has served the city for seven consecutive years in responsible positions and he has served it well. This feeling among his late official associates goes far to lessen whatever feelings he himself felt at the result of the last canvass, no doubt. The statement made that "he leaves city hall as clean as when he entered it" receives unqualified endorsement by all who know his personal worth and rugged integrity. Few wisher of the people at city hall, his late subordinates, and the entire rank and file of his department attend him as he returns to the enjoyments of private life.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

enue, Roxbury, and Mrs. Mary Gill of 174 West 9th street, South Boston, were badly shaken, and in addition received lacerations of the face and body.

A score or more managed to get out of the path of the animal, which brought up against a car, and was caught by citizens.

EDISON CLUB DANCE

A most enjoyable dancing party was conducted under the auspices of the Edison club last night, the affair being held at the new St. Anne's parish house in Kirk street. The attendance was large and all present spent a most enjoyable evening. The music was by Gray's orchestra and the officers of the evening were: General manager, Paul Hillman; assistant Frank Mills; chief aid, Allen Morse; aids, John Brooks, Thomas Bates; George Humphries, William Cranshaw and Charles Bates. The managers were Mr. Smith, Mrs. McCann, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Suter, Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Nourse and Mrs. Dame.

DOG STRUCK BY COAL TRUCK

A stray collie was struck by a coal truck in front of the Gorham street court house last evening and was found lying on the street a few minutes later by Patrolmen O'Keefe and Fanning. The Humane society was notified and Special Officer Gilmore upon finding that the dog could not live, shot it with his revolver. The dog wore no collar.

THREE HURT IN RUNAWAY

WILD ANIMAL DASHED INTO CROWD AT EAST CAMBRIDGE—THREE WOMEN KNOCKED DOWN

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Three women were injured, one of them seriously, at the Cambridge end of the viaduct last night at 6 o'clock, when a runaway horse, attached to a wagon of Messrs. Bunko company, 88 North street, Boston, plunged into a crowd thronging in Lechmere square, East Cambridge, to take an incoming bound car.

Minutemen Conley of 42 Park street, East Boston, was knocked down and injured about the head. She, with the others, was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital, where last night it was thought that her skull had been fractured.

Mrs. Bridget Clougherty of Weld avenue, Roxbury, and Mrs. Mary Gill of 174 West 9th street, South Boston, were badly shaken, and in addition received lacerations of the face and body.

A score or more managed to get out of the path of the animal, which brought up against a car, and was caught by citizens.

GEN. NELSON A. MILES AT THE LOCAL ARMORY

Military Night Under Auspices of Board of Trade Great Success— Fine Exhibition by Companies

An event that will live long in the annals of the Lowell armory and the local Board of Trade was the Military Night held last evening. At this time of world war and war discussion everything relating to it is of special interest, but the affair last evening was in itself not only instructive but most enjoyable, for while the grim side of war was often emphasized, the program was so arranged as to show the lighter side of camp and battle life, and there were many informal touches throughout which appealed to those unfamiliar with the more scientific events. Yet, the program was made up of actual scenes from practical military life, with their maneuvers, struggles, war struggles, dress parades, martial music, stern discipline and all that gives a glimpse to the life of the soldier. There is no doubt that in the heart of many a son of a member of the board of trade was born the ambition to don the drab uniform in the near future and enlist in the service of Old Glory.

The Parade
The guest of honor was Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, a distinguished soldier of many battles, who, when the enthusiasm of the evening was at its height rose and made a stirring address, closing with an eloquent salute to the flag. Preceding the affair in the armory Gen. Miles was escorted from the Yvick club by several military companies and a delegation from the board of trade. The parade started from the club promptly at 7:30. First came the band of the Sixth regiment which played martial music all along the route, led by Drum Major Walter Thomas, of the Fifth regiment, Somerville. Next came Companies K, G and C of the Sixth regiment and Company M of the Ninth, led by Major Colby T. Kittredge and staff. The members of the National Guard wore their drab uniforms and presented a striking appearance. Next came the officers of the high school regiment, led by Col. Warren and staff, their naty uniforms making a fine contrast with the companies gone before. The Spanish war veterans closed this section of the parade, headed by their commanding officers. Then followed nine automobiles, in the first of which, decorated with blue and white and blue electric lights rode Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, retired, and President Robert P. Marden of the board of trade. The streets were lined with people all along the route of march and the scene at the armory was most impressive. A detail of the National Guard stood at attention at each side of the entrance and as the military companies drew up they formed in single file in two lines, between which the guests of the evening marched into the armory. Hundreds were gathered in the vicinity and as Gen. Miles passed into the armory he was given a rousing welcome. Throughout the parade a military salute was fired from a cannon on the South common.

At the Armory
True to the character of the occasion the events started promptly as scheduled. Admission was by ticket only and there was no confusion. Long before 8 p. m. the large drill shed presented an animated appearance, but at the beginning of the military program the scene was most impressive. Seats to accommodate about 1500 members of the board of trade and their sons had been arranged along the sides of the long hall and at either end and these were all taken, the solid rows of spectators in dark suits making a fine frame for the military groups on the main floor. The gallery also was crowded. There was absolutely no confusion as the ushers under Major George D. Crowell attended to their duties promptly and well. Programs were given out to all.

The parade arrived at the armory at 8 sharp, and Gen. Miles, escorted by Gen. Pearson and President Marden of the board of trade entered. The distinguished guest passed to his place the band of the Sixth regiment played a stirring national air and all rose in respect. In the section occupied by Gen. Miles and other guests of honor seats were reserved for out-of-town guests most of whom were prominent in military circles of the state and nation.

Those Present
Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, Washington, D. C.; General Gardner W. Pearson, Lowell; Brig. Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, Malden; Brig. Gen. George H. Priest, Fitchburg; Col. Percy Parker, Lowell; Lieut. John Barker, Fitchburg; Colonel Warren E. Sweetser, Sixth, Quincy; Col. Edward Logan, Ninth, Boston; Lt. Col. F. S. Robinson, Wakefield; Maj. Chas. T. Cahill, Porrest Hills; Major John McMahon, Wakefield; Major Chas. A. Stevens, Lowell; Major William E. Sullivan, Nashua, N. H.; Major William H. Dolan, Fitchburg; Capt. Philo McNulty, Lowell; Capt. Henry H. Wheeler, Fitchburg; Capt. William P. White, U. S. N., retired; Capt. H. J. Patten, Tewksbury; Capt. W. Connolly, Wakefield; Capt. Herbert Leyden, Boston; Capt. Charles R. Blake, Nashua, N. H.; Capt. W. I. Elliott, Boston, N. H.; Capt. Henry D. Crowell, Boston; Lieut. Arthur Ireland, Stoneham; Lieut. McQue, naval brigade, Melrose; Lieut. Nelson Gendron, Nashua, N. H.; Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Stoltz, Supt. of Police Raymond Welch, President Robert P. Marden of the Lowell board of trade.

Military Program
The military program of the evening was a revelation to all civilians present, displaying not only efficiency but originality and giving glimpses into many phases of military life that most of the guests were familiar with only in books. There was also an apparent friendly rivalry between the various companies that gave a zest to each event in the nature of a contest. The members of the companies entered into the spirit of the occasion with splendid enthusiasm, often giving little individual touches that showed intelligence and lively interest.

The first event was a guard mounting ceremony by Co. M, Ninth regiment. This takes place each day in actual camp life. Men from each company are detailed for 24 hours duty. They walk their posts for two hours, then have four hours' rest during which time they remain at guard quarters, ready to any call for assistance. Lieut. D. C. Christian was in command of this feature which was impressive as the inspection of ranks went on while the band played martial music.

RECORD SESSION OF THE BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

Great and General Court Convened Today—Gov. Walsh Will be Inaugurated for Second Time Tomorrow— Other Inaugurations

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The great and general court of Massachusetts which convened today promised to begin the longest session in the history of the legislature. The usual flood of bills has been filed and many subjects of importance are to be considered.

Today was given over to organization. As the republicans have a large majority in both branches the election of senate and house officials was merely a ratification of the caucus action of that party. President Calvin Coolidge of the senate was renominated last night. The republican house caucus and the democratic caucuses in both branches were held before the legislature met today. Gov. David I. Walsh, democrat, will be inaugurated for a second term tomorrow.

At a spirited caucus held by the democrats before the session, E. A. McLaughlin of Boston, a former clerk of the house, defeated J. E. Doherty of Fall River as the party candidate for speaker. The minority candidate for speaker is usually regarded as the party's floor leader.

At the organization of the house the two progressive members voted with the republicans. Channing of Boston, the republican floor leader last year, was chosen speaker of the house, and Calvin Coolidge of Northampton was re-elected president of the senate.

Both presiding officers appointed the customary committees before adjourning.

so that a combination of republicans and progressives against the democrats would produce a tie vote.

The progressives last night nominated state officers to be chosen by the legislature. As a majority vote in required to elect this implied refusal to support the democrats seemed likely to precipitate a deadlock on the opening day.

INAUGURATION AT CONCORD
Gen. Roland H. Spaulding Will Deliver His Inaugural Address Tomorrow—Republicans in Control

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 6.—In contrast to the legislature of 1914 which was in control of a combination of democrats and republicans, the house and senate which met today in biennial session are strongly republican. Consequently the opposition to the election of George I. Hascett of Manchester for president of the senate, Edwin C. Bean of Belmont for speaker of the house and the other republican caucus nominees was only nominal. Governor Roland H. Spaulding will deliver his inaugural address tomorrow.

CONTEST FOR SPEAKERSHIP

MONTPELIER, VT., Jan. 6.—A con-

test for the speakership of the house appeared probable when the members gathered for the opening of the biennial session of the legislature today. The aspirants, John E. Weeks of Middlebury and Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea, both are republicans, the party having a majority of 107 in the house. The senate is solidly republican. Charles W. Gates will be inaugurated as governor tomorrow.

HEAR WHITMAN'S MESSAGE
Governor of New York Reads Inaugural Address Today—Initial Session of 1915 Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—The initial session of the 1915 legislature today was to be short. The plan was to meet at noon, elect leaders, hear the governor's message and then adjourn for a week.

Thus far there is no sign of serious defection in the ranks of the controlling party, the republicans, over anything.

There are 39 republicans, 43 democrats and two progressives in the assembly. The senate embraces 33 republicans, 17 democrats and one republican-progressive. The attitude of the latter has not been announced.

tion Powers. In this the men responded to orders given only by whistle or signal by their able and active commander. There was a snap and vigor throughout that aroused the interest and the entire affair had the look of real fighting. As on the field of battle the men ran to strategic points, by at full length, advanced in squads and did it all with an alacrity and energy that was admirable. The last act of this feature was a bayonet charge in which the men ran at full speed at the imaginary foe, cheering loudly. It was applauded most heartily.

The rescue race which followed was won by J. W. Delderfield and Stephen Kane of Company C. Two teams were entered from each company and the winners were donated a silver cup by the board of trade.

Dress Parade

The dress parade, being primarily meant for display, was as usual the most striking event of the evening. Company after company formed and marched around the drill shed, finally forming in a hollow square, in the center of which was Taber's Sixth Regiment band. Finally as the band played the patriotic airs the flag was lowered and the exhibition part of the evening was ended. It would not be just to close this part of the affair without reference to the music of Taber's band, which was one of the most notable features. The selections were appropriate, the men were in fine control and all seemed animated with the martial spirit of the occasion. Lowell is fortunate in having such a musical aggregation in general.

At the conclusion of the drill those present grouped onto the floor and a platform was brought out, which President Robert P. Marden mounted to present the cups donated by the board of trade. President Marden said that in his opinion the evening was the most enjoyable the board of trade has ever had, and he expressed his own pleasure at being present and in presenting the board of trade to the respective winners. He then introduced Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who spoke as follows:

Gen. Miles
I thank you for your cordial greeting. It is a pleasure for me to be at an event of this nature, attended by such a large audience, and it is surely always a pleasure to be with military men. I appreciate the honor of being invited and I have enjoyed the evening thoroughly.

As I sat here this evening witnessing the exercise of this splendid body of members of the National Guard I cannot help recalling the days gone by when I first joined a company of cadets in the city of Boston. The company advanced rapidly in number and after various furnished officers for many Massachusetts regiments. This evening as I watched the splendid maneuvers between your conditions here and in the trenches of the continent of Europe. There, too, they are in the prime of manhood, the bloom of youth. They have left their homes and kindred, but in a different cause. They are subjects; you are citizens. They have nothing to say about the war one way or another; they must march to battle to maintain the dignity of some dynasty or to carry out some design of conquest. The present war is the most deplorable and most unjustifiable war in history. Its losses will never be recorded. It must go on until the nations, or some of them, are reduced in resources or men.

Communities on the continent that were happy and prosperous a short time ago now hear the groans of the dying and the sound of cannon. I hope that when the war drums sound no more and when peace is restored there will be enough intelligence and patriotism left in the world to ring the curtain down forever on the terrible drama of war. I trust there will be enough intelligence and patriotism to demand a congress of nations that will settle all international tragedies and draw the nations closer together. There is no reason why the world should not have a federation to settle disputes by the laws of humanity.

But even with such a system it will not be necessary for nations to disarm. There must still be sufficient physical force to maintain authority. A city has its police, the state has its national guard, the nation has its army and navy. There are in this country 20,000,000 men capable of bearing arms, but we have a greater power than this. The greatest power in America is in the hands of its citizens. One hundred years ago our fathers placed this power in your hands. We must first be good citizens in order to be good soldiers. It will ever be thus so long as the intelligence of our people is maintained. Our glory is in a supreme type of citizenship. I rejoice to see that your patriotism is appreciated.

My one message, in closing, is this: Our flag represents our nationality; its stars represent the galaxy of states; its stripes the sacrifices made to maintain it. The flag is a symbol of our nation. We speak of it in connection with our system of government. Stand then by the flag on land or sea. Stand as our fathers stood while living, and in dying placed it on to us. At the end of Gen. Miles' address all rose and sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." It was a great occasion from first to last.

FOUR PLANS FOR CITIES

FINDINGS OF RECESS COMMITTEE OF LAST GENERAL COURT

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The recess committee of the last general court, appointed to investigate city laws and charters, returned its findings yesterday.

Concerning the principle of "home rule" for cities the committee is expressed that while this principle may be applied with safety to political questions, as well as to some of the minor matters of administration, yet the legislature should continue to reserve to itself the regulation of such fundamental matters as relate to municipal finances in general.

The committee submits four plans, any one of which it recommends may be accepted without recourse to the legislature by cities desiring to change their form of government, so far as it relates to the chief executive and the legislative branch.

No recommendations regarding the city of Boston were made and all drafts of legislation proposed exempt Boston from all their provisions.

The four plans are as follows: "Plan A—A mayor and city council of nine members, to be elected at large for terms of two years in each case. The mayor is given absolute power in appointments, removals and veto.

"Plan B—A mayor and city council composed of not more than 15 members, one to be elected from each ward of the city and the remaining members to be elected at large. The mayor is given the power of appointment, removal and veto, subject to the approval of the city council.

"Plan C—The so-called commission form of government with five commissioners, one of whom shall be mayor, to be elected at large for terms of two years each.

"Plan D—The so-called 'city manager' plan of government, consisting of a mayor and four councilors, the city manager to be elected by the council.

RUSSIANS WIN DECISIVE VICTORY OVER THE TURKS

Two Turkish Army Corps Literally Wiped Out, One Surrendering and the Other Being Annihilated

LONDON, Jan. 6.—One of the most decisive victories of the war has been won by the Russians in the far-off Caucasus, where two entire Turkish army corps, totalling nearly 100,000 men, have been literally wiped out, one surrendering and the other being annihilated.

The news came to London last night in an official Petrograd bulletin, which gave the location of the victory as Sari Kamysh, a little town near the boundary between Russia's Caucasian territory and Turkey in Asia. The Ninth Turkish Army Corps, including its commander and three division commanders, fell into the hands of the Russians, while the accompanying corps was cut to pieces, such small bodies of the troops as succeeded in escaping being closely pursued and destroyed.

At the same time another Turkish column, farther to the northwest, near Ardahan, who were said in a family bulletin from Constantinople two days ago to have captured that town, has also been driven back by the Russians and is threatened with disaster. The Turks here are practically surrounded by the Russians, who hold the main roads and are frantically trying to find an outlet through passes deep with snow. The Russians are attacking Ardahan on two sides and have brought heavy field artillery into effective play.

It is likely when full details are known, that the battle at Sari Kamysh will prove to be one of the most fiercely fought and picturesque of the war. If the combatants were equally divided as to strength there were at least 200,000 men engaged in a furious death grapple amid the heavy snow that cumber the Caucasian foothills at this season. The ancient hatred of Turk and Slav had an outlet that was without stint.

Details of the battle that came filtering into London with every hour indicate that the Turks fought gamely and showed great bravery when they saw the tide going against them. When they were compelled to give way before the furious onslaughts of the Cossacks and the Russian infantry they made valiant but futile efforts to cover their retreat by rear guard actions, even the wounded continuing to fire from the ground after they had been struck down.

ENGLAND WILL NOT WAIVE RIGHT TO SEARCH SHIPS

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Although the foreign office regards with high favor the American government's plan of certifying cargoes loaded under the direction of officials of the treasury department and destined for European ports, it was said yesterday that England cannot accept such certification as an absolute guarantee of the nature of the cargo in case any cause for suspicion arises after a vessel leaves America. In other words, the right of search cannot be waived, because of the possibility of shifting cargoes at sea and of the impossibility of having the treasury officer who issues the certificate accompany the ship to her destination to guard against smugglers who may carry copper or other contraband on small ships to be transferred at sea.

The waiving of the right to search ships leaving contraband cargoes in the opinion of several prominent British officials, would be an invitation for smugglers to ply their trade, whereas the retention of the right would tend to prevent dishonesty.

This position is precisely the same as that taken by the foreign office concerning the certification of manifests of American cargoes by British consuls at American ports.

The government is constantly in communication with representatives of Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland. It is reported that all of these nations are making steps to revise their lists of prohibited exports, so that they will correspond with the British contraband list, thus making possible a resumption of shipping to neutral European countries from America without delays or the danger of seizure.

A decidedly favorable impression has been produced here by the American certification plan. British officials regard it as a further manifestation of the desire of the American government to hasten a satisfactory settlement of the differences concerning the delay and seizure of American cargoes. In view of the failure of the London negotiations between Ambassador Page and Foreign Secretary Gray extending over several weeks before the American note was presented, the English public was not well advised concerning the differences which grew up

HENNESSEY ROBBERY STORE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Axel Jensen, a police sergeant, said yesterday that George Hennessey, whom he shot and killed yesterday morning on discovering him robbing a drug store, was a boyhood chum with whom he had been intimate for years.

The coroner's jury commended Jensen for his promptness in performing his duty. Jensen wept when he told of killing his former playmate.

WARSHIPS TORPEDOED

CONFIRMATION OF REPORT THAT AUSTRIAN VIRIBUS UNITIS AND RADETZKY WERE DAMAGED

GENEVA, Switzerland, via Paris, Jan. 6.—Recent reports that the Austrian battleships Viribus Unitis and Radetzky had been damaged during the attack by the Anglo-French fleet on Pola were confirmed in a despatch received by the Geneva Tribune yesterday from Trieste.

The message says that both battleships were torpedoed and greatly damaged. They are now docked at Pola and will be useless for a long time.

A despatch from Venice, Dec. 31 said that the Viribus Unitis, one of the largest ships of the Austrian navy, had been torpedoed by a French submarine. The damage sustained by the Radetzky, a smaller battleship, was said at that time to have been due not to a torpedo, but to the fire from the Austrian forts at Pola, mistakenly directed against the Austrian warships.

CITY GOVERNMENT ORDERS BIG LOAN

Municipal Council to Borrow $1,200,000 — Mayor Murphy Comes Down From High Chair

The city government for 1915 will borrow $1,200,000 more than was borrowed last year for current expenses in anticipation of revenue. The two new members, Messrs. Duncan and Putnam, are very mild of voice, and it was probably on their account that the mayor proposed such close quarters. The long table will be used except at public hearings. At all other meetings the mayor and other members of the new council has adopted bank directors' methods by seating them-

LODGE HITS WILSON POLICY

Mass. Senator Attacks the President's Mexican Policy During Review of Urgent Deficiency Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Lodge attacked President Wilson's Mexican policy today during a review of the urgent deficiency bill. The error of the administration's course, he declared, had begun with the refusal to recognize General Huerta on moral grounds rather than on the broader international grounds on which it could have been based.

"The spectacle of the United States at war with Victoriano Huerta," Senator Lodge said, "was not a pleasing one for Americans to contemplate. I fear it is too late now to adopt any policy unless it be military occupation, which all of us would deplore."

The senator asserted that 200 American lives had been lost in Mexico without reparation "being secured or demanded."

CLEAN UP THE BARROOMS

Also Dens and Sunday Theatres up North Before Complaining of Child Labor, Says Southerner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Dr. A. J. McKelway, southern secretary of the National child labor committee, and David Clark, editor of a paper at Charlotte, N. C., had a lively clash at today's session of the 11th annual conference on child labor.

Clark declared that until northern states had cleaned up their barrooms, gambling and vice dens and Sunday theatres they had no right to complain that children under 13 years were permitted to work in cotton mills.

"Plainly speaking, it is none of their business," he declared, referring to complaints from Massachusetts and New York. He charged the representatives of the committee with misrepresenting facts in the south, declared against national child labor legislation and urged the delegates to clean up affairs in their home states before looking after the affairs of others. Dr. McKelway, he said, had issued pamphlets only half representing the facts. Dr. McKelway replied to Clark. As to national legislation, he said, he had only to quote Clark's father, Chief Justice Clark of the North Carolina supreme court who held child labor legislation to be constitutional. The committee, he said, had not issued to the public pictures of humanity

FORMER LOWELL COUPLE

ARE DIVORCED IN LAWRENCE COURT—WIFE SECURES DIVORCE FROM LOWELL MAN

Judge James B. Carroll granted two divorces of interest to Lowell people, in the superior court at Lawrence yesterday.

On the grounds of desertion Callisto J. Lor was granted a divorce from his wife, Demargue Lor, who, he alleged, left him on Feb. 1, 1907. Attorney John P. Sweeney represented the libellant.

The couple were married in Manchester, N. H., and lived there for a number of years. They removed to Lowell and after residing here for a short time removed to Lawrence. Mr. Lor said that his wife had refused to live with him of late and prior to her last desertion she had left him on a number of occasions. He said that he provided her with a good home. A 20-year-old son of the couple corroborated the father's testimony and Mr. Lor's employer said that he was a sober and industrious man.

On the grounds of confirmed habits of intoxication and drunkenness Alice Maud McElaine was granted a divorce from her husband, Thomas P. McElaine, of Lowell. The case was uncontested and the libellant was represented by Attorney C. F. Sargent.

200 INJURED IN NEW YORK SUBWAY FIRE

Woman Killed—Transportation System Demolished — Fire Caused by Explosion—700 in Panic—Early Reports Stated Many Were Killed

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—New York's subway was visited by fire and panic today, which sent some 200 persons to hospitals, caused the death of one woman and demoralized the transportation system of the city.

The fire was said to have been due to an electrical explosion in a conduit in the 50th and 54th street stations. The noise, flame and smoke terrified the 700 or more passengers, of two downtown trains stalled nearby and in their efforts to escape scores were badly bruised, many were knocked unconscious and still others were overcome by smoke.

The subway service, it was said later, may be tied up for several days as a result of the accident. If this proves true, it will mean that the more than a million persons a day carried by subway trains will be diverted to the surface and elevated systems.

"It was at first thought there had been a terrible catastrophe and reports reached police headquarters that at least a score had been killed. The entire fire department and all the ambulances in the city were called out. It was the most serious accident in the history of underground transportation in New York, declared police officials.

During the first excitement the authorities seriously considered blowing up sections of the street on either side of the scene of the accident to let fresh air in the tube.

Fire Chief Kenyon said that when his men entered the two trains they found many of the passengers sitting in their seats unconscious, others lying in the aisles and everywhere evidences of a terrific panic. The floors were strewn with hats and torn clothing. Still others were found lying on the ground beside the tracks. Practically every window of the cars was broken.

Volume of Smoke and Flames

It was shortly before 9:30 o'clock that wisps of smoke began to curl from the manholes along Broadway between the two stations. The spot where the fire burned fiercely was at a point opposite 54th street. Hampered in their efforts to reach the blaze, the firemen dug into the paving with their axes. They succeeded in making a hole above the subway at 52nd street. From this opening there belched a volume of smoke and flames. Hose was directed through the opening and even hand extinguishers were used.

For ten blocks the streets were lined with the fleet of ambulances that came from all over the city. A cordon thrown around Broadway by the police held in check tens of thousands of spectators.

Crawled Through Manhole

All manhole covers were removed as well as the ventilator gratings. In the openings thus made firemen placed their hoses. Other squads of firemen crawled down through the blinding smoke that poured from the 50th and 54th street stations into the tube itself and worked in relays.

Through the smoke that rolled up through the manholes could be seen the red flames below. It was intensely hot.

The fire started in a train between the 50th and 54th street stations. Some of the passengers wedged tight in the cars said afterwards that it started with an explosion and that the train came almost immediately to a standstill. Aboard the train there was a frantic rush for the end car. Through the open doors at each end there poured a stream of men and women who struggled through the smoke apparently oblivious of the danger of third rail toward the two stations.

Many Persons Trampled

The platforms at these stations were jammed and in the wild rush for the exits some persons were thrown down and trampled on.

As the work progressed indications were that the number of fatalities would be larger than first estimated. Emergency calls to hospitals brought to the spot every ambulance in Manhattan. As fast as the unconscious victims were removed from the tube they were laid on the sidewalk, carried to nearby stores and offices and given first aid treatment by squads of firemen and surgeons.

Aid From Brooklyn

So great was the demand upon the fire fighting forces of the city to aid in the work of reviving the unconscious that hurry calls were sent by telephone to Brooklyn for aid from the firemen there.

The transportation tieup resulting from the fire spread to the Bronx and to Brooklyn and tens of thousands of persons struggled at elevated railroad and subway stations in those boroughs in an effort to reach Manhattan.

THEY STARTED TO WALK FROM BOSTON TO BILLERICA—GOT HUNGRY

BillERICA is not much of a place to walk from Boston to inspect but that is what Louis Bongiorno and Tony Pasanti, both aged 11 years, intended to do had they not become weary at East Lexington and been forced to quit by hunger. The boys set out on their adventure yesterday morning and were escorted and questioned at East Lexington. They said that they wanted to see the town of BillERICA. Why, nobody has been able to discover. After talking with the police the pair seemed quite willing to return to their parents.

MEDALS FOR THE HEROES

13 MEN WHO WON SPECIAL MENTION AT VERA CRUZ HONORED BY SEC. DANIELS

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Thirteen enlisted men of the navy who won special mention for distinguished conduct at the occupation of Vera Cruz were presented with medals by Secretary Daniels today on the deck of the battleship Florida at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, now commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, who commanded the American naval forces at Vera Cruz, and other high officers of the navy participated in the formal ceremony.

The medal winners were:

James A. Walsh, quartermaster, third class.

George Cregan, boatswain's mate, first class.

Joseph G. Harner, boatswain's mate, first class.

Henry W. Nickerson, boatswain's mate, first class.

William Zuiderveld, hospital steward.

Fred Schnepel, seaman.

Charles L. Borsdale, seaman.

Abraham De Somer, chief turret captain.

L. G. Smetton, gunner's mate, third class.

P. A. Decker, chief boatswain's mate.

Charles F. Bishop, quartermaster, first class.

Berrie H. Jarrett, gunner's mate, third class.

Edward A. Bensley, coxswain.

Edward A. Gishburne, electrician, second class, was not present to receive his medal but it had been sent to him.

In presenting the medals, Secretary Daniels said they were tokens of a grateful country's appreciation of work nobly done, of duty well performed or readiness to face grave danger.

THE BOTTOM OF ECONOMY

HAS BEEN REACHED BY THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD, SAYS PRESIDENT HUSTIS

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The bottom of economy has been reached by the Boston & Maine railroad, said fixed charges are not expected to be earned this year, according to President J. H. Hustis, who appeared before the public service commission today to urge a proposed increase in passenger fares. Marcus P. Knowlton, chairman of the board of trustees, was present at the hearing.

Mr. Hustis said there had been an increase of 56 per cent. in the gross revenue since 1901, but that the operating expenses had increased $3 per cent. in the same period.

The heaviest burden on the road was the agreement with the leased lines, he said, and the road had no power to modify these leases. He believed that all interests were fully alive to the situation and he hoped that a way out of the difficulty might be found.

Tomorrow night the institute team will play the Lowell Five at Associate Hall.

WINGO TO JOIN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—"Ivy Wingo, the St. Louis national league catcher, will play with the Cincinnati 'next season.' This statement was made by Manager Herzog of the local team who returned here today from the south where he signed Wingo to a contract. Wingo was reported to have signed with the Federal league some months ago. Just who Cincinnati will give up for Wingo has not been definitely decided upon but Manager Herzog said today that only a few details remained to be completed and both he and Manager Huggins of the St. Louis Nationals insist that these were not of consequence enough to stand in the way of the deal.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The United States revenue cutter Androsogogh which has been fitted as a hospital ship for fishermen sailed from the navy yard today on her first cruise to the fishing grounds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Works continued his speech today, attacking proposed medical legislation. He submitted many more testimonials on behalf of Christian Science.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The American steamer Denver, bound for Bremen, Germany, with only cotton from Norfolk, has been detained at Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, north of Scotland. The owners have asked the state department to make representations.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 6.—The reported Russian victory at Sari-Kamysh in the Russian Caucasus and the capture of Ardahan, an important junction point of the mountain roads from the Turkish frontier to Kars and Tiflis, apparently removes whatever menace to those cities that was presented by the Turkish invasion.

ROMANIA MAY SOON JOIN IN EUROPEAN WAR

Allies Blow up German Trench—Rout of the Turks Complete—French Checked in Alsace

A despatch from Paris states that developments "of the highest importance" are imminent in Rumania. A dozen French and British newspaper correspondents left Paris today for Rumania by way of Bulgaria.

A German trench nearly half a mile long in the Argonne region was blown up by the allies, according to today's official statement from Paris. The French then made an infantry attack and captured half of the trench. During this charge a grandson of the Italian patriot Garibaldi was killed. The recent death in action of another grandson was said in Rome to have re-awakened the war spirit in Italy.

Aside from the fighting in the Ar-goonne, activity is limited chiefly to upper Alsace where the Germans seem to have checked the French advance. The only claim made in the French statement is that the ground won has been held. The loss of one position to the Germans is admitted.

The Berlin war office states that the French are bombarding towns to the rear of the German lines and "seem indifferent to the killing of their own countrymen and to the destruction of French homes." The capture of several trenches from the allies is reported.

Fighting continues along the main line west of Warsaw but despatches from Petrograd and Berlin agree that there have been no important developments.

LOCAL TELEPHONE CLERKS TO BE MADE CARDINAL

ARRANGEMENTS FOR ANNUAL SOCIAL AND DANCE ON JANUARY 27 AT LINCOLN HALL

Invitations have been sent out for the annual social and dance of the clerks of the local exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company to be held in Lincoln hall on the evening of January 27. A capable committee is now working to make this year's affair an unprecedented success from a social standpoint; and it is expected that a large number of friends of the clerks will be present. The evening's program will be similar to those given by the organization in the past and a splendid time is promised all who accept the invitations.

PRESIDENT MET WOMEN

REITERATED ANNOUNCEMENT THAT WOMAN SUFFRAGE IS A STATE ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Wilson today reiterated to a delegation of woman suffragists his previously announced position that equal franchise should be brought about through action by the states rather than through a federal constitutional amendment. Nearly 100 women from different parts of the country saw the president at the White House to ask him to support the Bristow-Mondell amendment which comes to a vote in the house Jan. 12.

REMOVED TO HOSPITAL

Alber Denault, assistant superintendent of the Boston & Maine repair shops at BillERICA, who sustained a fractured leg in an accident at the plant last week, was removed from St. John's hospital to his home at 25 Oak avenue yesterday. When the accident occurred Dr. Neil K. Forhan was summoned and after treating the man ordered him taken to the hospital.

Y. M. C. I. LADIES' NIGHT

The sixth in a series of ladies' nights was held by the members of the Y. M. C. I. at the rooms of the society in Stockpole street last evening, and the affair proved highly enjoyable. A basketball game between two teams composed of members of the institute was held in conjunction with the dancing. The regulars beating the Y. M. C. I. by a score of 52-38. The game was fast and exciting. The Y. M. C. I. orchestra furnished the music for the dancing. The committee responsible for the success of the affair were: Frank Haggerty, chairman; Paul O'Neill, Thomas Clark, John King, Charles Burns, John McGee, John Shea, Paul Clark, William King and Walter Lyons. Tomorrow night the institute team will play the Lowell Five at Associate Hall.

WINGO TO JOIN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—"Ivy Wingo, the St. Louis national league catcher, will play with the Cincinnati 'next season.' This statement was made by Manager Herzog of the local team who returned here today from the south where he signed Wingo to a contract. Wingo was reported to have signed with the Federal league some months ago. Just who Cincinnati will give up for Wingo has not been definitely decided upon but Manager Herzog said today that only a few details remained to be completed and both he and Manager Huggins of the St. Louis Nationals insist that these were not of consequence enough to stand in the way of the deal.

THE NEW TREATMENT FOR SOUR STOMACH

Cuts out soda milks and chalk so extensively used in the old-time "dyspepsia tablets." They are too harsh for even strong stomachs, and often do harm if continuously taken. Dys-pepsia are made by experts who understand these things, and have combined the best stomach remedies known to physicians—pepsin, bismuth, mint, rhubarb and other carminatives and correctives—into delicious tablets that not only look good but taste good and do good. They quickly relieve sour stomach, nausea, indigestion, heartburn.

REPORTED THAT ARCHBISHOP IRLELAND OF ST. PAUL WILL BE ELEVATED

A report from New York states that Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul will be created cardinal at the next consistory, the date of which has not yet been fixed.

This information comes through diplomatic channels, relations between Great Britain and the Vatican having recently been resumed.

Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul has for years been considered one of the most powerful of the Roman Catholic forces in America.

REFUSED TO DISCOUNT NOTE OF DE KAY WITH ENDORSEMENT OF METCALF—LATTER TESTIFIES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 6.—The Traders National bank of Lowell, Mass., refused to discount a note of Henry E. DeKay, a New York broker, with the endorsement of Edward F. Metcalf, at that time president of the Atlantic National bank. Metcalf testified in his cross examination today at the trial of De Kay and Metcalf on charges of stealing the application of funds of the Atlantic bank.

The Lowell institution questioned De Kay's financial standing, Metcalf said. A note of E. S. Riker of New York was substituted for the one rejected, being accepted at once, the witness added.

Metcalf testified that he sold 50 shares of Walpole Tire & Rubber Co. stock at a loss to obtain money to help the De Kay brothers, Henry E. and John W. He expected to receive a bonus of $25,000 for doing this, and for other similar acts, he said. He denied that the bonus was offered as inducement to cause him to extend the aid of the Atlantic bank to the De Kays.

BASEBALL SUIT TO ELECT JUDGES

Summons for Owners of Big League Clubs to Appear in Court

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Summons were issued today for the owners of the 16 clubs in the National and American leagues and members of the national commission to appear before Judge K. M. Landis of the United States district court here on Jan. 20, the date set for hearing of the injunction sought by the Federal league in its bill filed yesterday charging that organized baseball is operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The injunction asked seeks to restrain the 21 clubs from participating in the game of baseball, constituting the "baseball trust" from tampering with players now under Federal league contract and from interfering in any manner with the operations of the league.

James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, in a statement today said the suit would wipe out the smaller cases now pending between the Federal and organized baseball and existing, in one action, all differences between the rival leagues.

GARDE SACRE-COEUR MEETING

The annual meeting of Garde Sacre-Coeur was held last night in the organization's quarters in East Pine street with practically all members present. The report of the treasurer, Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O. M. L., was read and showed this semi-military organization to be in good financial condition. An invitation was received from a Lawrence guard to attend a whist and social to be conducted in the down-river city on the evening of Jan. 29, and another invitation to attend the whist and social under the auspices of Garde Frontenac of this city on Jan. 14 was also received and accepted. Privates Henri Guerin and Simoes Goulet were promoted to first and second sergeants respectively to fill the vacancies created by the resignation of Sergt. Leo Berger, resigned, and Sergt. J. Cote, who was promoted to second sergeant. Private Charles Chagnon was also promoted to second sergeant. BASEMENT

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

The council will abandon their original seats.

It was all right for the mayor to come down from his high seat, but there may be some question as to the formation at the long table. Mayor O'Donnell never occupied the high chair. He occupied a seat at the clerk's desk, but the other members remained at their desks.

Commissioner Carmichael was present at today's meeting, the first meeting that he has been able to attend this year. The commissioner has been ill for some time and was unable to attend the inaugural exercises. He is not looking as well as usual, but says he is feeling all right.

The first business before today's meeting had to do with petitions for pole locations and wire attachments and they were properly referred.

Notices of claims for personal injuries were received from Thomas Donohoe, George Whelan, Charles Leasure, Mary Crow, Anna Moulton, and Julia Riley. The claims were referred to the commissioner of public property and the city solicitor.

The mayor then took up the annual report of the superintendent of cemeteries which appears in another column and under a separate head.

Then came the order to borrow money for current expenses in anticipation of revenue of the financial year. Commissioner Putnam asked for some light on the order. He wanted to know what more was being borrowed this year than last year. The mayor said that not enough money was borrowed last year. The city solicitor said it would probably not be necessary to borrow the full amount. He said that in naming the larger sum it meant one authorization instead of two as was the case last year. He explained that the money could be borrowed from time to time and said that if there are quick returns from the tax of 1914 it will not be necessary to borrow all of the $1,200,000, but it was better to pass the order, he said, in order that the city treasurer would know where he was at during the year. He said that in all probability there would be no necessity of going the full extent.

Mayor Murphy advised new legislation on temporary loans. He said that inasmuch as people have two years in which to pay their taxes he believed the city should get two years on temporary loans.

The order was adopted.

Assessors' Annual Report

The annual report of the assessors of taxes for 1914 was in the hands of the city clerk at the meeting. The report of papers that showed the table. All of the figures contained in the report of the assessors have already appeared in The Sun with the exception of the limit of municipal debt for 1915 and the report gave that amount as $2,170,365.63.

THE CEMETERIES

Municipal Council Accepts Report of Superintendent

The annual report of the superintendent of cemeteries for the year 1914 was included in the business of today's meeting of the municipal council and was accepted and placed on file. The report:

Lowell, Mass., Dec. 31, 1914.

James B. Donnelly, Commissioner of Public Property, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

I beg to submit the report of the cemeteries department for the year 1914.

The aim has been to keep the cemeteries neat and attractive at all times. An important improvement in the Edison cemetery is the completion of work begun in the latter part of 1912, the enlargement of the workshop and the building of a new shed for the protection of wagons and implements. The yard round about the stable, where there has been many years' accumulation of rubbish, has been cleared, making a clean, attractive appearance.

Considerable work has been done in painting and repairing fences. In the lower part of Westlawn, a large tract of woodland has been cleared in preparation for future use. Also, one section has been prepared for the Old English School street and Pawtucketville cemeteries have been given due care.

INSTALL THEIR OFFICERS

The Lowell Aerie, F. O. E. met last night at the rooms for the annual installation of officers. The evening was a large and successful one, and a large membership was present during the impressive ceremonies.

The ritualistic work last night was in charge of District Deputy George E. Cabot and the officers-elect were inducted into office with the usual pomp of the order.

The officers who were installed last night were as follows: Worthy president, William H. Quinn, worthy vice president, Joseph F. McDermott, chaplain, Patrick T. Riley; secretary, John M. Hogan, assistant secretary, Hartin M. Crowe; treasurer, Richard H. Griffiths; inside guard, Patrick J. Sullivan; outside guard, James P. McMahon.

The three trustees for the ensuing year who were also installed last night are Thomas Corcoran, Patrick J. Freeman and Richard J. Flynn. The aerie physicians are Drs. Harold B. Plunkett and John H. Donovan. Aside from the installation there were no formalities.

JOHN E. KELLOGG DEAD

FITCHBURG, Jan. 5.—The announcement of the death last night at Pinehurst, N. C., of John E. Kellogg, one of the founders of the Fitchburg Sentinel and editor of the paper for 41 years, was contained in a telegram received here today. Mr. Kellogg went to Pinehurst late in November, intending to spend the winter at that place.

WATER AS A REST

Many of us tired to the bone, and feeling as if life itself is an effort to drag ourselves through the process of dressing for just one more day before our weary body can indulge in the sleep it craves. But there is a way to rest up quickly, and effectively, should one care to make a little effort, and the result is marvelous.

Pin a towel around your head, turban fashion, to protect your untraveled tresses, and another around your neck to protect your delicate throat from the moisture, then turn on the cold, hot water faucet. When the water is quite hot and the other stream very cold, dip two folded towels into the hot, wring them out and hold them to your face for a second. Now take two more towels and do the same with the cold water. Alternate the two extremes this way until you begin to feel the effects of tugging with the cold towels.

Then if you give yourself a heavy massage with some good cold cream, you will be surprised when you glance again into the mirror.

All the tiny nerve-fibers have disappeared, your skin is wonderfully refreshed, and you have a faint, alluring flush of color, your headache has gone, and you now have a renewed force to urge you on for the impending social of the evening.

ABBOTT—The funeral of Mrs. Julia Abbott was held Monday afternoon from her home, 19 Franklin street. The services were conducted by Rev. Raymond G. Clapp, pastor of the First Unitarian Congregational church. Miss Eva Henderson and Miss Alfrida Morris sang appropriate selections. The bearers were Messrs. Thomas J. Allen, Ralph Appleby, Henry Mayo and Hiram Vining. The flowers included Willow inscribed "Mother," the family cross on base, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Appleby and family; basket, Julia Abbott; mound, Mrs. H. D. Mellon; basket of pinks, Willis Melton; pillow, Miss Nellie Tully; wreath, Mr. Mrs. Lederman and Mrs. Arthur Campbell; sprays, Etta Aldrich and Mrs. Hattie Trenholm. Mrs. Herbert Ball and Nellie Monahan, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Corey and from a friend. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

MONTAGUE—William J. Montague died last evening at the Lowell hospital after a brief illness, aged 13 years. He leaves his parents, Patrick and Marie Louise Poulin, 99 John street. Besides her parents she leaves three brothers, John, Bernard and Edward; also three sisters, Elizabeth, Margaret and Annie.

POULIN—Marie Louise Poulin, aged 11 years, 5 months and 8 days, died today at the home of the parents, Ernest and Marie Louise Poulin, 99 John street. Besides her parents she leaves a sister, Cyrilida.

SULLIVAN—John P. Sullivan died last evening at his home, 11 Bertram street, at the age of 69 years. Mr. Sullivan arrived in this city in 1900, shortly after which he was killed while his home was burned. He is survived by a wife, Agnes, two sons, John J., manager of Ring's piano store, and Joseph J., of California.

FUNERALS

HENENWAY—The funeral of Roden H. Henenway was held yesterday afternoon from the funeral chapel of Undertaker William H. Saunders, 15 Third street, and were largely attended. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiated. There were many floral tributes, which included a pillow inscribed "Mother and Grandmother," from Charles F. Hubbard and family; and places from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Craig and family; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Runkle, Mrs. M. W. Dodge, The Bearers were: Arthur J. Hubbard, Charles, Arthur and Elmer Craig, grandsons of the deceased. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Matthews.

HUBBARD—The funeral services of Mrs. Nancy S. Hubbard were held yesterday afternoon from the funeral chapel of Undertaker William H. Saunders, 15 Third street, and were largely attended. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiated. There were many floral tributes, which included a pillow inscribed "Mother and Grandmother," from Charles F. Hubbard and family; and places from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Craig and family; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Runkle, Mrs. M. W. Dodge, The Bearers were: Arthur J. Hubbard, Charles, Arthur and Elmer Craig, grandsons of the deceased. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Matthews.

TOWN OF DRACUT NEWS

Prominent Residents of the Navy Yard Favor Annexation—Town Meeting First Monday in March

Although the annual town meeting of the citizens of Dracut is but two months ahead, not one word of politics is being heard in the town. The candidates, and there is usually a considerable number, have not yet come to the front. It is expected, however, that within a very short time there will be several candidates for every office to be filled. The town meeting will be held on the first Monday in March, despite the fact that the fiscal year now ends on Dec. 31.

Formerly the fiscal year or the closing of the town books took place on Feb. 1, but a law enacted last year calls for the closing of all town business on Dec. 31. Some of the towns will advance their town meetings, but the Dracut selectmen have not made any change. It was stated yesterday afternoon that the three selectmen, Percy Smith, Fred E. Pollard and Victor K. Quinn, will again be candidates for the same office, while John W. Brennan, who has held the position of town clerk for several years, will again be in line, as well as Rep. Arthur W. Colburn, the present tax collector.

Annexation. The writer came in touch with a number of prominent taxpayers of the town yesterday and most of them favor annexation. The article in Saturday's Sun pleased them immensely.

Business men, clergymen and farmers were seen by a Sun reporter yesterday and all feel that annexation would mean a lot to both the districts involved and to the city of Lowell. They say Lowell needs more land and Dracut is the proper district to supply it, while on the other hand Dracut has not a ghost of a chance of ever becoming a city and many who own homes in the village do not want to live under town conditions all their lives.

The committee appointed some time ago by the Dracut District Nine, Improvement association to go over the Kenwood district and outline the territory to be included in the annexation plan, has not yet come together, but the secretary of the organization informed the writer yesterday that plans have been made for the committee to meet in a few days. It is probable the committee will make a census of the district and will gather data concerning the acreage and valuation of the property. This committee is composed of James J. McManis, Fred Vinal, James P. Craven and Dennis Morrill. The president of the association is Rep. Arthur W. Colburn, while the secretary is H. A. Flinders. As soon as the committee is ready to report a meeting of the association will be called and matters will be discussed.

Cutting Ice. H. A. Flinders, the Belle Grove ice man informed the writer that he hopes to cut about 300 tons of ice within a few days. The cutting operations were started a few days ago and within a few days the houses will be filled to their capacity. Last year the crop consisted of about 150 tons and that was not enough to carry the district half way through the summer. Mr. Flinders did not bother cutting more for he was of the opinion that the Daniel Gage Co. would supply the district, but for reasons unknown, Miss Gage would not allow her wagons in that district. Mr. Flinders has moved a barn near the water's edge and converted it into an ice house and with 300 tons of ice he hopes to supply all demands throughout the summer.

Concert and Dance. A concert and dance will be held at Harmony hall in Collinsville on the evening of Jan. 13 for the benefit of St. Mary's church. The affair is in the hands of a committee of parishioners and it is hoped it will be very successful. A feature of the evening will be music supplied by a Victoria. The committee in charge consists of Thomas Burke, assisted by George Fogarty, Thomas Foley, Miss Mary O'Reilly, assisted by Miss Mary Fogarty and Miss Josephine Whelan.

Beaver Brook Mill. The Beaver Brook mill in Collinsville has completed a large foreign order, and accordingly a part of the mill is now idle. However, it was stated yesterday the company is in receipt of more orders and within a few days overtime operations will be resumed.

Merrimack Woolen Co. The plant of the Merrimack Woolen company in the Navy Yard is running full time and a number of departments are being operated during the night. This mill is experiencing a very good season and it is said the company has orders on hand for a long time.

Coasting Good. In the Navy Yard district coasting is exceptionally good and many are taking advantage of the good roads to enjoy this clean sport. Sladen street by the Hillside church is the scene of large gatherings every night and coasting is enjoyed by men, women and children up to a late hour.

Sleighride Party. The members of the Earnest Workers' society of the Yellow. Meeting house will be treated to a sleighride on Friday evening. In the early part of the evening the women will take places in a large sleigh owned and conducted by Eugene Fox and they will be taken to Pelham, N. H. Upon their return they will be served lunch in the vestry of the church.

Ballot Work. About 10 women members of the Yellow. Meeting house met with Mrs. Ernest C. Bartlett, wife of the pastor of the church, this afternoon at her home, corner of Alken avenue and Kearsarge avenue, and sewed for the Belgians. The women have received contributions from prominent residents of the village and with the money received they purchased linen and other merchandise and this afternoon all hands were busy in sewing and knitting. At the close of the afternoon luncheon was served.

MURT WHILE COASTING. Fred Burns fell off his sled while coasting in West Chelmsford late yesterday and although no bones were broken, his leg was bruised quite badly. He was removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Burns, where he was treated by the family physician.

Worms Make Children Peevish. Some symptoms of worms are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour tongue, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red spots sticking out on tongue, starting during Trade Mark sleep, slow fever.

If you have the least suspicion that your child is troubled with stomach worms or pinworms, don't hesitate—get a bottle of Dr. Tru's Elixir. This remedy has been on the market since my father discovered it over 60 years ago. Put your child on the way to good health by using Dr. Tru's Elixir. Good for adults also. At all dealers, 35c, 50c, and $1.00. Advice free.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Business at the Saco-Lowell shops is picking up and prospects for good trade in the spring look bright.

Miss Alice Sawyer of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. is visiting relatives in Malden and Melrose.

The machinists' union will meet tomorrow night in Cotton Spinners' hall in Middle street.

The Mears, Adams Shoe Co. reports business as good and a full complement of help steadily employed.

The Bigelow Hartford Carpet Co. is in operation again after its ten-day shut down.

John Ryan of the Billerica repair shops has returned to work after being confined to his home for some time with illness.

Agnes Wadsworth of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. is still in Europe on a business trip. He is expected to return within a short time.

John Murphy of the Bay State Mills is coming to the front rapidly as a soloist. Mr. Murphy is studying with a Boston teacher.

William Welsh of the Tremont & Suffolk mills has returned after spending a few weeks with relatives in Scituate, Pa.

Miss Ethel Callahan of the Silsbee Worsted mills, North Chelmsford, is confined to her home with a severe cold.

The mills of this city are running exceptionally well in comparison to those of other cities and the employees are apparently well satisfied.

The Carpenters' union, local 1619, will meet tonight and business of much importance is scheduled to come up for transaction. All members are requested to attend.

William Fennell, the retiring president of the Coal Teamsters' union, who led the strike last year, is now working as an interested worker for the labor movement.

Business in the department stores which took quite a slump after the Christmas rush is starting to pick up again. When shopping remember the slogan, "Trade in Lowell."

The machinists employed at the Billerica repair shops will hold an open meeting tomorrow evening in the union quarters in Odd Fellows building.

Archibute Keneffick of the Mass. mills will be out of the basketball game tomorrow night as a result of an injury received Monday evening in practice.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. is running about as steadily as any firm in Lowell. This is no doubt due to Mr. Barry's ability as a salesman.

The Talbot mills of North Billerica are the latest addition to the list of local industries which have already profited by orders from foreign governments.

Business at the Lyon Carpet Co. is very good. This company never lacks about business but goes out and gets it. Mr. Lyons, the proprietor, is a most optimistic manufacturer.

John Farrell of Cambridge, who holds an excellent position at the Watertown arsenal, was a visitor in this city Sunday. He returned to Cambridge early in the evening.

Edward Quinn of the Whitall Manufacturing Co. will probably manage a strong basketball team this season. Mr. Quinn looked after the interests of the Lowell Five aggregation last year.

Patrick McGowan of the Middlesex

Co. played a stellar game of basketball in a local club last night. This improves with every game played. By connected for nine baskets and some of them were very difficult.

The arbitration hearing between the Bay State Street Railway Co. and its employees will be resumed in Boston tomorrow morning. President Fred Crowley will represent the local body of carmen.

John McMann, formerly employed at the McElwain Shoe Co. Nashua, N. H., has accepted a lucrative position in Manchester, N. H. Mr. McMann was employed at one time at the Billerica repair shops.

George Clark, vice-president of the Street Railway Men's union, was the only man that showed any class in the City League bowling match last night. Clark is considered one of the most consistent bowlers in the city.

Game Called Off. The Y. M. C. I. vs. O. Y. M. I. basketball game has been called off and the old Crescent team, known as the present time, as the Lowell Five will play the Belvidere aggregation tomorrow night. Manager Ford of the Crescent team could not agree with the Y. M. C. I. using Paul Clark, Patrick Owens will captain the Lowell Five bunch on the floor, while Fred Flynn will look out for the team's financial end. Manager Flynn's boys will put up a far harder struggle than the O. Y. M. I. stars. The game is the talk of the town.

Mill Overseer Missing. The police of Woonsocket, R. I., are contemplating a search of the Blackstone river in an effort to locate the body of Thomas A. Connor, who has been missing since Dec. 17, when he left home to go to the Saranac mill, where he expected to secure a position. Mr. Connor was formerly employed as overseer of twisting in two mills in the city.

A man answering the description of Mr. Connor was seen at the Fall River River-New Bedford soccer games Dec. 13, and he made a scene when he tried to participate in the game. He was ejected from the grounds by two police officials.

Carpenters Union. The Carpenters' union, local 1619, held a rousing meeting last night in the union headquarters in the Runels building, with President E. B. Golden in the chair. Business of much importance was transacted and two new members were initiated. Several applications for membership were also received. Committee reports were accepted as read and a stack of important communications were properly referred to the secretary. Remarks on the good of the union were made by many of the members and they proved highly instructive. The secretary's report showed the union to be in excellent financial condition. The recent open meeting, at which William Shields of Boston was the principal speaker, injected a whole lot of new life into the members, and a series of these will be held within a short time. Many new members have been admitted as a result of the last meeting.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING. Worthen Street Baptist Society Is In Prosperous Condition—Committee Elected

The annual meeting of the Worthen Street Baptist society was held last evening in the church vestry with a good number of the members present. The usual reports were submitted and all showed that the society was in an unusually prosperous condition, all being paid and the assets well in excess of the liabilities.

The society voted unanimously to concur with the church in extending a call to Rev. Walter E. Woodbury of Bristol, Conn.

The appropriations for parish expenses were voted the same as last year and officers and committees were elected as follows: Moderator, Philip Stevenson; clerk, Walter W. Carr; assistant clerk, Willard E. Symonds;

CASCARETS FOR COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS.

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

READ THE SPELLBINDER

And the Other Interesting Features Which Will Appear in The Sun Tomorrow

The Spellbinder discusses the recent inaugural and other municipal matters of timely interest.

Many really helpful health and beauty suggestions are found each day in "The Rabbit's Foot." Tomorrow the writer of this department will tell why tight collars and neckbands should be avoided. This article also will describe the proper care of the neck and throat.

Compelling a small child to walk along clinging to a grown person's hand may be the cause of strain and weariness, according to "Your Girls and Boys," a feature which will be published tomorrow. The writer gives excellent information concerning the care of children.

"The French Maid" will tell how the shoulders should be beautified. This may be accomplished, she says, by a very simple form of exercise which will produce most beneficial results.

"The Snow Gnomes" is a "Sleepytime Tale" which will be printed in The Sun tomorrow especially for the children. It is sure to please them.

OPERATIVE SERIOUSLY BURNED. Nicholas Martis, an employee of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, was seriously burned about the face, head and hands this morning and was taken to the Lowell hospital in the ambulance. The injured man lives on Fenwick street.

CLEARING THE FIRE RUINS.

PARTIES DAMAGED BY FIRE SUNDAY GETTING READY TO RESUME BUSINESS

It is expected within a few weeks the plants of the Amasa Pratt Co. and W. E. Hatch in Dutton and White streets, which were gutted by a Sunday fire, will be again in full operation. Business at the shop of W. E. Hatch is practically at a standstill, while the Amasa Pratt Co. is filling out its many orders in its other shops in Dutton street.

A member of the Amasa Pratt Co. in conversation with a Sun reporter this morning stated the gutted shop will be rebuilt as soon as possible. The men who were employed in that building are not idle, for they were all put to work clearing out the debris in the burned building. Several large wagons are engaged in removing the burned material and the work is being rushed along. Although definite plans are not completed it is possible the interior of the new shop will be made fireproof. The four standing brick walls were only slightly damaged by smoke but will be reinforced and a new roof installed.

The three other shops of the company in Dutton street are running full time and there will be no delay in delivering the large orders on hand. Full operations will be resumed in about two weeks.

W. E. Hatch informed the writer that seven of his men are out of work on account of the fire. He said there is no power in his shop and it will be four or five weeks before work is resumed. Several men are employed in clearing the building and the work of reconstructing the shafting and installing new machinery will be rushed along.

CARD OF THANKS.

To all those kind friends who assisted by word or act to lessen the grief occasioned by the death of our beloved wife and daughter, we return sincere thanks. Their kindness will ever be remembered.

THE BON MARCHE

ATTACKS WALSH FOR REMOVING WALKER

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—In a caustic letter of criticism of his action in removing Fred F. Walker as commissioner of animal industry, Attorney John P. Feeney, who has been retained as counsel by Mr. Walker, yesterday demanded of Gov. Walsh a copy of the charges on which the removal was based and also a public hearing on them.

If these requests are not granted, Mr. Feeney will appeal to the supreme court to force the governor to grant Mr. Walker his statutory right as an officer removed for cause to a reasonable opportunity to know the charges and to defend himself against them.

In his letter, Mr. Feeney questions the right of the governor to remove Mr. Walker and discusses in detail the charges against Mr. Walker as outlined in the governor's statement relative to the removal last Saturday.

Concerning the chief charge against Mr. Walker—that he pleaded the credit of the state to an amount exceeding $50,000 without any warrant in law—

Mr. Feeney declares that the so-called "Agreement of Sale" is neither one for the other, but is a mere document of approval, as the governor should have realized from his legal experience.

Mr. Feeney roundly condemns the commission on economy and efficiency, "whose claim to efficiency, so far as the general public is aware, rests solely in its name," as an incompetent authority to criticize Mr. Walker's conduct as commissioner of animal industry, because of their own lack of experience, education or training in a subject that so peculiarly requires special training.

Mr. Feeney also throws some hot shot of the executive council, quotes prominent officers of the federal bureau of animal industry as to their high opinions of Mr. Walker's special fitness for the position, and cites decisions by the Massachusetts supreme court on the right of an officer removed for cause to a notice of the charges preferred against him and to a reasonable opportunity to make defense.

CLAN GRANT AUXILIARY

NEW YEAR SUPPER BY THE LADIES FOLLOWED BY A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Clan Grant, O. S. C. were hostesses last evening at a New Year's supper and entertainment given in Post 120 hall. A feature of the evening was the Scotch supper served to about 75 members and friends of the clan. This was preceded by the singing of "Auld New Year," the singers being attractively attired in white, with dainty caps.

The musical program of the evening was replete with Scotch numbers, including selections by the Harlequin band and solos by members and friends of the auxiliary.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Jennie Robinson after which the following program was carried out: A quartet composed of Mrs. Margaret Reid, Mrs. Peter Caddell, Mrs. Nell Waters and Miss Margaret Toole. Mrs. Grace Grant, Mrs. Catherine Kelley, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Walters, Miss Rebecca Thompson, Miss Annie Mowatt, Miss Christina Mowatt, Miss Elizabeth Martin and Miss Asabel Caddell.

The officers of the Ladies Auxiliary are: President, Mrs. Jennie Robinson; vice president, Mrs. Peter Caddell, and past president, Mrs. Nell Waters.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHOR YOU?

The Doctors Say "Use Musterole"

So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it. Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the mussy, old fashioned mustard plaster.

MUSTEROLE is recommended for Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff Neck, Headache and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your drugists, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

TOO MANY ON DUTTON STREET SAID HARRY LEVY AT LICENSE BOARD MEETING LAST NIGHT

At last evening's meeting of the license board a protest was entered by Harry Levy, through his attorney, George E. Toye, against the granting of a second-hand clothing store license at 215 Dutton street to Abraham J. Snider. Lawyer Toye informed the members of the commission that there are several stores of this sort on Dutton street at the present time and that the applicant for the license is a nephew of David Bernstein, now proprietor of two second hand clothing stores. Mr. Toye intimated that Bernstein was to operate the store after a license had been secured by Snider.

Mr. Bernstein was questioned and he admitted that he was financing his nephew but denied that he was to benefit from the operation of the store. Action on the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

Two licenses were cancelled, that of Mary A. Wiggins, 329 Gorham street, to sell ice cream, confectionery, etc. on the Lord's day, and that of George Ashworth, billiards and pool, at 1234 Gorham street. A license to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day at 328 Gorham street was granted to John B. Hatch. A common victualer license to Alexander J. Morse, 508 Rogers street, was laid on the table. The following renewals were made: Auctioneer, Edward H. Clark, 419 Hildreth building; Alexander B. Trudeau, 45 Merrimack street, and E. Gaston Campbell, 328 Hildreth building; hawker and peddler, George C. Hunting, 319 Sladen street, Dracut, and Morris J. Shapiro, 31 Nichols street.

Lowell Coke Is a Better Fuel Today Than Ever Before

Don't get the idea that all coke is alike. There is good coke and poor coke, just as there is good coal and poor coal.

How good coke is depends on how it is made and what kind of coal is used in the making.

We pay 15 per cent. more for our coal than makers of ordinary coke. We have to buy the best obtainable because our gas-making plant demands it. Then Lowell Coke is made by improved equipment, that takes out all impurities and leaves coke with a higher percentage of pure carbon than any other. It is practically 90 per cent. pure carbon—only 2 per cent. volatile matter necessary for kindling.

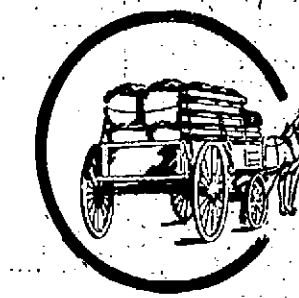

Three chemists are employed by the Lowell Gas Light Company to see that Lowell Coke is kept up to highest standard.

Whether you have used coke in the past or not, try LOWELL COKE. Send for our coke expert to show you how it should be burned. Then you'll realize that you never knew what a splendid fuel good coke is.

A hot, even fire, keeping for over 12 hours without attention. Money saved—at least 25 cents on every dollar.

Less bother—less dust—fewer ashes—no clinkers. Order today from any coal dealer or Lowell Gas Light Company, Lowell, Mass. Gentlemen: Being somewhat doubtful that Lowell Coke would really save so much as some claim, I have kept close account of what it cost me and find I get the same heat for nearly one-fourth less money. Am free to recommend it to all. Have no trouble in keeping fire every night and it doesn't harm the grate in the slightest. Yours truly, DAVID P. MARTIN, 125 NeSmith Street.

THE MATHEW INSTITUTE

ITS 34TH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED LAST NIGHT BY INTERESTING MEETING

The Mathew Temperance Institute celebrated the 34th anniversary of the organization last evening by holding openhouse to some 300 members in the spacious headquarters in Central street.

WALTER POWERS, President, M. T. I.

President Walter T. Powers occupied the chair and in calling the meeting to order he reviewed the work of the institute the past year and showed that by the co-operation of the members the institute, spoke on the organization and told of the great need for their work at the present time. Mr. Slatery's remarks were highly interesting and he was loudly applauded.

James O'Sullivan, appealed to all the old members to rally to the support of the institute, and his talk aroused the members to a high degree of enthusiasm. Mr. O'Sullivan said that the society needed the older members at the present time more than ever before, in helping along the movement of total abstinence. As the officers had termed the meeting "revival night," he stated that he would do his share and once more become an active and interested worker for the organization.

Rev. Dr. Keleher set forth excellent reasons why every young man should become a total abstainer and a member of the Mathew Temperance Institute.

His talk concerning the manifold advantages to be derived from participation in the debates excited much interest. Before closing Rev. Dr. Keleher cited many interesting events which occurred during his younger days as a member of a debating society, and asked all in attendance to be present at the debate to be held next Tuesday evening. Several of the "old guard" made known their intention of participating in the affair.

The members then renewed their pledge of total abstinence and after the roll call, Mr. O'Sullivan again assured the members that the society would have his active support from now on.

McInerney's orchestra rendered several pleasing selections throughout the evening. It was announced that the debates and monthly smoke talk will be continued, and the ladies' nights which proved so popular will also be held every Friday evening. The officers responsible for the success of the affair were as follows: Walter T. Powers, president; Bernard Connors, vice president; Edward Draper, financial secretary; Thomas Tighe, recording secretary and Frank Lincoln, treasurer.

NO SCHOOL SIGNAL

Out in the Weed street school district they say it is impossible to hear the "no-school" signal on stormy days and just for that the people of that district will petition Commissioner Newell F. Putnam for the installation of a fire alarm siren, or bell to be placed in the Weed street school tower. Newell says he will do that little thing if the municipal council will give him the money.

MISS MARGARET FOLEY TELLS STORY OF HOW NEVADA BECAME A SUFFRAGE STATE

Miss Margaret Foley was the speaker last night at a meeting held under the auspices of the Lowell Equal Suffrage league in the hall of the Varnum school. Miss Foley was late in arriving, having missed the train she intended to take. There were graphophone selections and singing.

Miss Foley told the story of how Nevada became a suffrage state and of the difficulties of campaigning in a state where it was necessary to cover 110,000 miles in order to reach 20,000 voters. She said that Nevada is largely a mining state and in order to reach the voters it was necessary to go three different shifts of miners in each camp. To reach the third shift, she said, it was necessary to go down in the mines. She spoke about visiting every shack in a mining camp and occasionally attending dances at the ranches where she had to dance with every man on the ranch. This she said, gave her an excellent opportunity to talk suffrage.

The Nevada suffragists, Miss Foley says, spent only $10,000 in a three-years' campaign. While the miners were usually with them as soon as the case was presented to them, the women lost in the city of Reno, but the returns from the small places, showing every vote cast for suffrage, brought up the result to a good round total. They encountered many difficulties, among them being the opposition of the richest man in the state.

BEACON FALLS TOP NOTCH RUBBERS

WHERE DO YOUR RUBBERS WEAR OUT FIRST?

The ladies who wear high-heel shoes know from past experience that it is the heel.

Then why don't you buy a pair of Top Notch Rubbers with the patented, doubly-reinforced "Clincher Cushion" heel—the only real balanced rubbers sold in town. They won't break or split through at the heel before the rest of the rubber is worn. The heel is strengthened and reinforced to resist constant wear and tear.

Now is the time to buy these longer-wearing rubbers. You will find them just as stylish as they are serviceable.

INAUGURAL ECHOES

Inaugural addresses read in the principal cities of Massachusetts and New England last Monday, and the editorial comments thereon show that the conditions which were referred to officially in this city and which have been discussed by our public for some time past agitate other communities. Not an inaugural or a press commentary but has its clause applicable to local conditions. In some cases the papers speak of achievements which, by contrast with local conditions, reveal our inefficiency; in others they refer to shortcomings which are likewise apparent here.

One inaugural address that has a direct application to Lowell is that of Mayor Kay of Fall River who prefaced his remarks by calling attention to the fact that the new government of that city starts with a clean financial slate—something almost unique—and that the current obligations contracted during the last year have been discharged, while there remains a surplus of $25,000 after all bills had been paid. The mayor admitted that this could not have been done were it not for the abnormally high tax rate, and on this phase of the inaugural the Fall River Globe comments as follows:

The tax rate was, he admits, abnormally high, else this remarkable showing would not have been possible. What he now urges, and professes his belief will be feasible, is that by the exercise of judicious discretion in the authorizing of public improvements, in observing a conservative policy in dealing with requests for increases in salaries and wages and by promoting greater efficiency and economy in the administrations of the several municipal departments, a material reduction of the rate can be effected this year.

It goes without saying that it will be highly gratifying to the taxpayers if his faith in this respect should be justified by results. But is too frequently the fact that inauguration day hopes and promises fail to materialize.

In the suggestions of Mayor Kay for the reduction of the tax rate is a lesson for some of our own officials who declare that the way to reduce our rate is to avoid any new improvements and to do nothing which will involve any new expenditure, no matter how far-reaching the benefits may be. It is by genuine and sincere economy in the administration of the various departments that the tax rate may be reduced in any community.

Another reference to an inaugural that may fitly be applied to the local inaugural is that of the Worcester Post, which, commenting on the address of Mayor Wright says: "Our fault has been, as too generally with American cities, that we have been doing far too much work for the day merely, only to entail replacements and doing over again, with endless confusion and duplication between departments. In a word, it has been, not work really planned but partly a go-it-loose-and-blind system which, with the addition of city council deals in election of officials, keeping the latters' attention engaged a good share of each year in holding their positions, results in the city getting an average of about $2 value for each $3 spent." This method of doing municipal work which describes some Lowell politics adequately will not do much to reduce our tax rate which, judging by results, is altogether indefensible. The tax rate should never have been boosted without some extraordinary undertaking, such as a great system of street extension or some other public improvement, and nothing will justify its being kept at the present figure without something of a tangible nature to show for it. The high tax rate in this city is the one real stumbling block to our administration of last year, for there is nothing to excuse it or to explain it; neither has there been any indication of a sincere desire either to reduce it or to apply it to the public benefit with the exception of Commissioner Carmichael's statement as to how it might be reduced.

FAKE CHARITIES

The demands for genuine charity are so many and the needs in many quarters are so pressing that anything which would interfere with the helping of a worthy cause should be avoided, nevertheless there is need for caution lest the unworthy or the dishonest impose on good nature. When such impositions are successful and the real facts afterwards revealed, those who have been victimized are rendered, perhaps, unduly cautious and in this way real charity is oftentimes injured. The many claims made on the charitable from all over the world at the present time offer an opportunity to the dishonest which many of them do not hesitate to avail of.

In some sections of the city suspicious looking individuals have sought contributions, alleged to be in aid of the Belgians, though the local committees in charge of this work had not authorized any such soliciting. Others have asked for funds for the Red Cross, and so on. In most cases the fraud is so palpable that the solicitors do not succeed in their attempt. When any request of this nature is made, it is easy enough to discover if the collector is genuine by calling up the headquarters of the charities involved, the board of trade rooms, or even the newspapers. Usually one can discover in a few minutes if the solicitor is a fake or genuine. Sometimes it may be well to call up the police.

A rather unique instance of attempted fraud was tried on a prominent business man a short time ago. A little girl, poorly clad, went to his office and in an appealing manner asked for some firewood. Filled with the spirit of the holiday season he granted her request. He also determined to send some food supplies, etc., and so asked her name and residence. Remembering a former experience, however, he took down the directory to verify the story, seeing which the girl asked if she could go out to bring in her little brother. "Once outside she ran as fast as her legs could carry her to where a man, presumably her father, waited, and both disappeared. This in itself is only a slight incident but it is typical of much fraud in appeals for charity. Community organized charity may not be yet practicable but, for the sake of the deserving, all precautions should be taken to guard against the dishonest.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

In view of local claims pending against the city for damages resulting from the bursting of the water mains at Tower's corner in January, 1913, a recent verdict of the supreme court is of more than usual local interest. In a report handed down last Friday, January 1, the supreme court sustains a verdict of $1500 given Winfield S. Pearl, in his action against the town of Revere to recover damages for injuries inflicted by an automobile driven by an employee of the Revere water department.

The argument used by counsel for the town is practically the argument heard in this city following the bursting of the water main, viz: that inasmuch as the injury was inflicted in the course of a municipal undertaking for the good of the public, and as the statute under which the water department was created made it independent of the control of the town, Revere could not be held responsible for the injury.

In deciding against the contention of the town's counsel, the supreme court held that the town of Revere was not compelled by statute to establish a water supply, but was merely authorized to do so at the option of a popular vote of the town. It declares the water department to be a money-making enterprise on the part of the town, and not a governmental service solely for the public welfare such as schools, highways, police and fire departments. This decision will be followed with interest in many other communities besides ours, wherever, in fact, suits are pending against the water department for damages resulting from injuries to person or property.

SOUND ADVICE

Secretary Redfield speaks wisely and to the point in reminding the manufacturers and merchants of the country that now is an excellent time to attend to repairs, additions and improvements, in anticipation of a growth of business in the near future.

In all lines of business there are many minor things calling for constant attention but when business runs full blast they cannot be performed. Now that there is some degree of stagnation, it is to the interest of business and more directly to the interest of the unemployed that all necessary improvements should be attended to. It would help to tide employer and employee over the difficult place and on to the surer road. Unvarying prosperity tends to carelessness in some departments of manufacture and commerce; it takes a little adversity to show where the ends of efficiency may be more fully served. Another consideration that should influence corporations and individuals to get busy in making improvements and preparing for the future is the low price of most commodities. Indications are that prices will rise speedily as the war continues.

MASSACHUSETTS LEADS

According to a statistical report published last week, Massachusetts manufactured goods valued at $1,658,728,363 in 1913. This amount taken in itself may not give any definite idea of its significance, but as contrasted with some other facts, it shows the great part being played by this state in the industrial life of the country. Commenting on the report in question, Current Affairs says: "This is more than the total exports or imports of the twenty Latin-American countries in that year. It is more than the total exports of France, of the Netherlands, or Belgium in that year. Massachusetts factories make more goods than double the total foreign trade of China, exports and imports combined. When you think of foreign trade, hitch your foreign trade thinking to New England factory production."

There is nothing in this to make Massachusetts sit back complacently, but rather is it a spur to greater effort. Unless all auguries fall the industrial life of this country is in line for an unprecedented boost, and this state will not then take a secondary place. Massachusetts has long ago ceased to be a merely textile state and there is scarcely an industry which is not represented. Even our own city is typical of the entire state in this respect, and there are many indications of the growth of agitation in favor of

MRS. CLAYTON'S LETTER

To Run-Down Nervous Women
Louisville, Ky.—"I was a nervous wreck, and in a weak, run-down condition when a friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so, and as a result I have gained in health and strength. I think Vinol is the best medicine in the world for a nervous, weak, run-down system and for elderly people."
—Mrs. W. C. CLAYTON, Louisville, Ky.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, guaranteed to overcome all run-down, weak, debilitated conditions and for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

War news continues to give us routine accounts of pro and con without an account of anything brilliant or decisive. The weather may have something to do with this as each side seems to be content to hold what it

The ship purchase bill, otherwise known as the merchant marine bill, will soon be in the congressional limelight. As usual, there are a great many negative opinions but few positive or constructive ones. "Who was that tough looking chap I saw you with today, Hicks?"

HE GOT THERE

The man was reading the front page of the newspaper as he walked across the busy street.
"Gee," he mused, "I'd like to get my name in big type on the front page of a newspaper."

Just then a street car bumped into the man.
He got his name on the front page of the next edition of the paper.
But he missed the story.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A PLEASANT WAY TO HELP

"Mamma," lisped the cherub, while a smile of graphic sweetness illuminated his baby face, "do you know that sometimes I help Catherine's mamma."

"That's nice," prompted the proud parent. "And what do you do to help her, dear?"

"Oh," replied the cherub, "when

Catherine's mamma is no Cupid—she stands six feet two and weighs 250 pounds—but he determined to essay the role of Cupid's first assistant.

"You love this girl?" he asked one suitor.

"Yes," replied the interpreter, "he love her."

"And do you love her?" the captain asked the other.

"Yes, he love her too."

The captain looked at the girl, who was a pretty little thing, something over four feet high, with coal black hair plastered down over her temples, and deep-set, roguish eyes. Let no one doubt the vital beauty of Eskimo maid in the flush of youth and health.

"Here," said the captain to the girl, "which one of these men do you want?"

The interpreter put the question. The maiden's eyes grew brighter, her cheeks a deeper crimson, and a coy smile wreathed her lips. She stepped over to one of the young men unhesitatingly and touched him on the arm.

"This one," she said, and there was no need for the interpreter to translate.

"All right," said the captain, with a roar of laughter, "take him on the spot. Straight from the ship back to the village the newly wedded couple padded, to set up housekeeping and to live happily, no doubt, ever afterward. The bride's father touched off a few more explosions of vocal dynamite into the interpreter's ear.

The bride declared the interpreter to Captain Henderson, "he satisfied."

I MISS YOU SO

I miss you so, sometimes—
When weighty problems vex and fret
My mind, and hands grow tired
Of reaching for the things they never get.

And my dry eyes are hot with unshed tears—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When at the ending of the day,
When at the twilight falls, I seem to catch
The scent of roses from an old dead May.

And seem to hold again your hand—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When I awaken from some fitful dream
Whence you come as in the long ago
Just mine alone, and when I seem
To feel your lips again—and then—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
And all of life seems want and pain,
While in the turmoil and the strife
I try to pray for your dear arms again.

To hold me as no others can—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
That nothing else seems worth the while:
I long so for your dear, dear clinging lips,
Your gentle eyes and the bewitching smile.

They used to hold before I came
To miss and want you so!

CONDEMNNS LITERACY TEST

One of the most un-American places of legislation this evil congress has now passed through that body is the literacy test to keep desirable immigrants out of this country, merely because they cannot read or write.

When President Taft was in the White House he vetoed the proposition. Now President Wilson will receive for his signature a bill that embodies the same un-American provision that will not permit a man between 16 and 55 years to come into this country under any conditions, if he cannot read and write some language.—Holyoke Transcript.

THIS YEAR

What is this year going to mean to each one of us and to the nations of the world? As far as our individual lives are concerned, it will be the same old story. It will depend most largely upon ourselves. For while we speak in these days a great deal of environment and place much stress upon its power, nevertheless, it forever holds true that it is those qualities which are inherent in ourselves, our own inner lives, that determine how far we shall conquer the things about us and making a brief speaking tour President Wilson has aroused the ire of partisan critics; but his plans will be hailed with approbation by most of our people. It cannot surely be said that the chief executive has courted any undue publicity for in this respect he has been altogether different from other recent presidents. Though his personality has been written into every great measure of the administration, his personal views and opinions have rarely been aired either on the platform or on the press. Now after a long season of trial, it is meet that he should come before the American people to brush aside the veil of reticence. He will be received affectionately by most and heard respectfully by all.

War news continues to give us routine accounts of pro and con without an account of anything brilliant or decisive. The weather may have something to do with this as each side seems to be content to hold what it has already gained. It may be that winter will have gone before there is any great departure from the present policy—though most neutral people would rather see peace growing up with the opening of the buds and flowers.

The ship purchase bill, otherwise known as the merchant marine bill, will soon be in the congressional limelight. As usual, there are a great many negative opinions but few positive or constructive ones. While we are bombarding our own merchant ships with oratorical shells, the opportunity to profit by the rehabilitation of the merchant marine may pass. Of all sad words, etc.

Generals Scott and Villa will meet on international bridge and discuss the firing across the border. Thought that was all discussed and an understanding arrived at long ago.

Among the recent deaths were several good resolutions.

TO GET THE BEST RESULTS GO AFTER THEM YOURSELF

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to part his hair on the back of his head?

Still, when you think of it, it is hard to recall a time when people were not complaining of hard times.

Gasoline will remove grease spots from clothes. And will also clean the pockets in the clothes if you own a car.

RETREATING DISORDER

"Who was that tough looking chap I saw you with today, Hicks?"
"Be careful, Parker. That was my twin brother."

"By Jove, old chap, forgive me! I really ought to have known!"—Kansas City Times.

HE GOT THERE

The man was reading the front page of the newspaper as he walked across the busy street.
"Gee," he mused, "I'd like to get my name in big type on the front page of a newspaper."

Just then a street car bumped into the man.
He got his name on the front page of the next edition of the paper.
But he missed the story.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A PLEASANT WAY TO HELP

"Mamma," lisped the cherub, while a smile of graphic sweetness illuminated his baby face, "do you know that sometimes I help Catherine's mamma."

"That's nice," prompted the proud parent. "And what do you do to help her, dear?"

"Oh," replied the cherub, "when

Catherine's mamma is no Cupid—she stands six feet two and weighs 250 pounds—but he determined to essay the role of Cupid's first assistant.

"You love this girl?" he asked one suitor.

"Yes," replied the interpreter, "he love her."

"And do you love her?" the captain asked the other.

"Yes, he love her too."

The captain looked at the girl, who was a pretty little thing, something over four feet high, with coal black hair plastered down over her temples, and deep-set, roguish eyes. Let no one doubt the vital beauty of Eskimo maid in the flush of youth and health.

"Here," said the captain to the girl, "which one of these men do you want?"

The interpreter put the question. The maiden's eyes grew brighter, her cheeks a deeper crimson, and a coy smile wreathed her lips. She stepped over to one of the young men unhesitatingly and touched him on the arm.

"This one," she said, and there was no need for the interpreter to translate.

"All right," said the captain, with a roar of laughter, "take him on the spot. Straight from the ship back to the village the newly wedded couple padded, to set up housekeeping and to live happily, no doubt, ever afterward. The bride's father touched off a few more explosions of vocal dynamite into the interpreter's ear.

The bride declared the interpreter to Captain Henderson, "he satisfied."

I MISS YOU SO

I miss you so, sometimes—
When weighty problems vex and fret
My mind, and hands grow tired
Of reaching for the things they never get.

And my dry eyes are hot with unshed tears—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When at the ending of the day,
When at the twilight falls, I seem to catch
The scent of roses from an old dead May.

And seem to hold again your hand—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
When I awaken from some fitful dream
Whence you come as in the long ago
Just mine alone, and when I seem
To feel your lips again—and then—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
And all of life seems want and pain,
While in the turmoil and the strife
I try to pray for your dear arms again.

To hold me as no others can—
I miss you so!

I miss you so, sometimes—
That nothing else seems worth the while:
I long so for your dear, dear clinging lips,
Your gentle eyes and the bewitching smile.

They used to hold before I came
To miss and want you so!

ANOTHER STRAW

A welcome sign of changing industrial conditions is to be found in the announcement that the Southern Pacific railroad has resumed work in many of its shops, having taken back more than 6000 men. It is believed the coming few months will see a general resumption of industry, especially in lines affected by the stoppage of European production.—Burlington Free Press.

CENSORSHIP

Up in Clinton, Mass., the bill board censors ordered that paper be pasted over the shopily and somewhat familiar figure of a well known diving Venus. The strange part of it is that no objection is raised to the flesh and blood counterpart of the lithograph appearing before Clinton people. Censorship seems to be a strange thing.

TOURIST ROUTES

During the past few years, there has been a steady increase in the cost of European living, but at that point of American travelers' interest, to decide gain compared with rates home in touring Europe. If to this feature there be added the historic attractions (none reason is plainly the problem of the propriety of thousands of people in this country to spend their vacations abroad. In the nature of things, the traveler was summarily checked at the outbreak of the war, and a condition approaching paralysis must attend the continuance of hostilities.—Salem News.

SUDDEN DEATHS

It is a sad subject, but the close reader of the newspapers must have noted the large number of sudden deaths throughout the country. That was a not incomplete view of the great problem of human existence, that the counselor of the old British ruler gave when the first Christian preacher came to England: "The life of a man is like that of a bird that flies in at the open casement, lingers a short time impatiently, near the fire, and flies away, none knowing whither.—Providence News.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

GEN. NELSON A. MILES AT THE LOCAL ARMORY

GENERAL NELSON A. MILES

Military Night Under Auspices of Board of Trade Great Success— Fine Exhibition by Companies

An event that will live long in the annals of the Lowell armory and the local board of trade was the Military Night held last evening. At this time of world war and war discussion everything relating to it is of special interest, but the affair last evening was in itself not only instructive but most enjoyable, for while the grim side of war was often emphasized, the program was so arranged as to show the lighter side of camp and battle life, and there were many informal touches throughout which appealed to these unfamiliar with the more scientific events. Yet, the program was made up of actual scenes from practical military life, with their maneuver, struggles, war struggles, dress, parades, martial music, etc., which appealed to all that thrives a glimmer to the life of the soldier. There is no doubt that in the heart of many a son of a member of the board of trade was born the ambition to don the drab uniform in the near future and enlist in the service of Old Glory.

The Parade
The parade of honor was led by Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, a distinguished soldier of many battles, who, when the enthusiasm of the evening was at its height, made a stirring address, closing with an eloquent salute to the flag. Preceding the affair in the armory Gen. Miles was escorted from the York club by several military companies and a delegation from the board of trade. The parade started from the club promptly at 7:10. First came the band of the Sixth regiment which played martial music all along the route, led by Drum Major Walter Thomas, of the Eighth regiment, Somerville. Next came Companies K, G and C of the Sixth regiment and Company M of the Ninth, led by Major Colby T. Kittredge and staff. The members of the National Guard wore their drab uniforms and presented a striking appearance. Next came the officers of the high school regiment, led by Col. Warren and staff, their natty uniforms making a fine contrast with the companies gone before. The Spanish war veterans closed this section of the parade, headed by their commanding officers. Then followed nine automobiles, in the first of which, decorated with tiny red, white and blue electric lights rode Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Gardner, U. S. A., retired, and President Robert F. Marden of the board of trade. The streets were lined with people all along the route of march and the scene at the armory was most impressive. A detail of the National Guard stood at attention at each side of the entrance and as the military companies drew up they formed a single file in two lines, between which the guests of the evening marched into the armory. Hundreds were gathered in the vicinity and as Gen. Miles passed into the armory he was given a rousing welcome. Throughout the parade a military salute was fired from a cannon on the South common.

At the Armory
True to the character of the occasion the events started promptly as scheduled. Admission was by ticket only and there was no confusion. Long before 8 p. m. the large drill shed was filled with guests, but at the beginning of the military program the scene was most impressive. Seats to accommodate about 1500 members of the board of trade and their sons had been arranged along the sides of the long hall and at either end and these were all taken, the solid rows of spectators in dark suits making a fine frame for the military groups on the main floor. The gallery also was crowded. There was absolutely no confusion as the ushers under Major George D. Crowell attended to their duties promptly and well. Programs were given out to all.

The parade arrived at the armory at 8 sharp, and Gen. Miles, escorted by Gen. Pearson and President Marden of the board of trade entered. As the distinguished guest passed to his place the band of the Sixth regiment played a stirring national air and all rose in respect. In the section occupied by Gen. Miles and other guests of honor seats were reserved for out-of-town guests most of whom were prominent in military circles of the state and nation.

Those Present
Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, Washington, D. C.; General Gardner, U. S. A., retired, Lowell; Brig. Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, Malden; Brig. Gen. George H. Priest, Fitchburg; Col. Percy Parker, Lowell; Lieut. John Burke, Fitchburg; Colonel Warren E. Sweetser, Sixth, Quincy; Col. Edward Logan, Ninth, Boston; Lieut. Col. F. S. Robinson, Wakefield; Maj. Chas. T. Cahill, Forest Hills; Maj. John McLaughlin, Wakefield; Major Chas. A. Stevens, Lowell; Major William E. Sullivan, Nashua, N. H.; Major William H. Dolan, Fitchburg; Capt. Philip McNulty, Lowell; Capt. Henry H. Wheeler, Fitchburg; Capt. William P. White, U. S. N., retired; Capt. H. J. Patten, Tewksbury; Capt. W. Connolly, Wakefield; Capt. Herbert Leyden, Boston; Capt. Charles H. Blake, Nashua, N. H.; Capt. W. I. Elliott, Nashua, N. H.; Capt. Henry D. Crowley, Boston; Lieut. Arthur Ireland, Stoneham; Lieut. McCune, naval brigade, Melrose; Lieut. Nelson Gendron, Nashua, N. H.; Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Molloy, Supt. of Police Raymond Welch, President Robert F. Marden of the Lowell board of trade.

Military Program
The military program of the evening was a revelation to all civilians present, displaying not only efficiency but originality and giving glimpses into many phases of military life that most of the guests were familiar with only in books. There was also an apparent friendly rivalry between the various companies that gave a zest to each event in the nature of a contest. The members of the companies entered into the spirit of the occasion with splendid enthusiasm, often giving little individual touches that showed intelligence and lively interest.

The first event was a guard mounting ceremony by Co. M, Ninth regiment. This takes place each day in actual camp life. Men from each company are detailed for 24 hours duty. They walk their posts for two hours, then have four hours' rest during which time they remain at guard quarters, ready to any call for assistance. Lieut. D. C. Christian was in command of this feature which was impressive as the inspection of ranks went on while the band played martial music.

Pitching Camp
The camp pitching by K Company, Sixth regiment, was one of the most enjoyable as it was one of the most efficient features of the evening. It was in command of Capt. James N. Greig. Just as in the field the actual exercises of pitching tents, responding

RECORD SESSION OF THE BAY STATE LEGISLATURE Great and General Court Convened Today—Gov. Walsh Will be Inaugu- rated for Second Time Tomorrow— Other Inaugurations

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The great and general court of Massachusetts which convened today promised to begin the longest session in the history of the legislature. The usual flood of bills has been filed and many subjects of importance are to be considered.

Today was given over to organization. As the republicans have a large majority in both branches the election of senate and house officials was merely a ratification of the caucus action of that party. President Calvin Coolidge of the senate was renominated last night. The republican house caucus and the democratic caucuses in both branches were held before the legislature met today. Gov. David I. Walsh, democrat, will be inaugurated for a second term tomorrow.

At a spirited caucus held by the democrats before the session, E. A. McLaughlin of Boston, a former clerk of the house, defeated J. B. Doherty of Fall River as the party candidate for speaker. The minority candidate for speaker is usually regarded as the party's floor leader.

At the organization of the house the two progressive members voted with the republicans. Channing Cox of Boston, the republican floor leader last year, was chosen speaker of the house, and Calvin Coolidge of Northampton was re-elected president of the senate.

Both presiding officers appointed the customary committees before adjourn-

ing. so that a combination of republicans and progressives against the democrats would produce a tie vote.

The progressives last night nominated state officers to be chosen by the legislature. As a majority vote is required to elect this implied refusal to support the democrats seemed likely to precipitate a deadlock on the opening day.

INAUGURATION AT CONCORD
Gov. Roland H. Spaulding Will Deliver His Inaugural Address Tomorrow—
Republicans in Control.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 6.—In contrast to the legislature of 1914 which was in control of a combination of democrats and republicans, the house and senate are strongly republican. Consequently the opposition to the election of George I. Hazen of Manchester for president of the senate, Edwin C. Bean of Belmont for speaker of the house and the other republican caucus nominees was only nominal. Governor Roland H. Spaulding will deliver his inaugural address tomorrow.

CONTEST FOR SPEAKERSHIP
MONTPELIER, Vt., Jan. 6.—A con-

test for the speakership of the house appeared probable when the members gathered for the opening of the biennial session of the legislature today. The aspirants, John E. Weeks of Middlebury and Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea, both are republicans, the party having a majority of 107 in the house. The senate is solidly republican. Charles W. Gates will be inaugurated as governor tomorrow.

Dress Parade
The dress parade, being primarily meant for display, was as usual the most striking event of the evening. Company after company formed and marched around the drill shed, finally forming in a hollow square in the center of the hall. The Sixth regiment band, finally as the band played patriotic airs the flag was lowered and the exhibition part of the evening was ended. It would not be just to close this part of the affair without reference to the music of Tabor's band, which was one of the most notable features. The selections were appropriate, the music was in fine control and all seemed animated with the martial spirit of the occasion. Lowell is fortunate in having such a musical aggregation.

At the conclusion of the drill those present grouped on the floor and a platform was brought out, which President Robert F. Marden mounted to present the cups donated by the board of trade. President Marden said that in his opinion the evening was the most enjoyable the board of trade has ever had, and he expressed his own pleasure at being present and in presenting the board of trade cups to the respective winners. He then introduced Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who spoke as follows:

Gen. Miles
I thank you for your cordial greeting. It is a pleasure for me to be at an event of this nature, attended by such a large audience, and it is surely always a pleasure to be with military men. I appreciate the honor of being invited and I have enjoyed the evening thoroughly.

As I sat here this evening witnessing the exercises of this splendid body of members of the national guard, I cannot help recalling the days gone by when I first joined a company of cadets in the city of Boston. The company advanced rapidly in number and afterwards furnished officers for many Massachusetts regiments. This evening as I watched the splendid maneuvers, I could not but think of the difference between your conditions here and in the trenches of the continent of Europe. There, too, they are in the prime of manhood, the bloom of youth. They have left their homes and kindred, but in a different cause. They are subjects; you are citizens. They have nothing to say about the war one way or another; they must march to battle to maintain the dignity of some dynasty or to carry out some design of conquest. The present war is the most deplorable and most unjustifiable war in history. Its losses will never be recorded. It must go on until the nations, or some of them, are reduced to resources or men.

Communities on the continent that were happy and prosperous a short time ago now hear the groans of the dying and the sound of cannon. I hope that when the war drums sound no more and when peace is restored there will be enough intelligence and patriotism left in the world to ring the curtain down forever on the terrible drama of war. I trust there will be intelligence enough left in the world to demand a congress of nations that will settle all international tragedies and

Governor of New York Reads Inaugural Address Today—Initial Session of 1915 Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—The initial session of the 1915 legislature today was to be short. The plan was to meet at noon, elect leaders, hear the governor's message and then adjourn for a week.

Thus far there is no sign of serious defection in the ranks of the controlling party, the republicans, over anything. There are 29 republicans, 49 democrats and two progressives in the assembly. The senate embraces 33 republicans, 17 democrats and one republican-progressive. The attitude of the latter has not been announced.

draw the nations closer together. There is no reason why the world should not have a federation to settle disputes by the laws of humanity. But even with such a system it will not be necessary for nations to disarm. There must still be sufficient physical force to maintain authority. A city has its police, the state has its national guard, the nation has its army and navy. There are in this country 20,000,000 men capable of bearing arms, but we have a greater power than this. The greatest power in America is in the hands of its citizens. One hundred years ago our fathers placed this power in your possession. We must first be good citizens in order to be good soldiers. It will ever be thus so long as the intelligence of our people is maintained. Our glory is in a supreme type of sovereign citizenship. I rejoice to see that your patriotism is appreciated.

My one message, in closing, is this: Our flag represents our nationality. Its stars represent the galaxy of states, and its stripes the sacrifices made to maintain it. The flag is a symbol of our nation. We speak of it in connection with our system of government. Stand then by the flag on land or sea. Stand as our fathers stood while living, and in dying passed it on to us.

At the end of Gen. Miles' address all rose and sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." It was a great occasion from first to last.

FINDINGS OF RECESS COMMITTEE OF LAST GENERAL COURT

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The recess committee of the last general court, appointed to investigate city laws and charters, returned its findings yesterday.

Concerning the principles of "home rule" for cities the opinion is expressed that while this principle may be applied with safety to political questions, as well as to some of the minor matters of administration, yet the legislature should continue to reserve to itself the regulation of such fundamental matters as relate to municipal finances in general.

The committee submits four plans, any one of which it recommends may be adopted without recourse to the legislature by cities desiring to change their form of government, so far as it relates to the chief executive and the legislative branch.

No recommendations regarding the city of Boston were made and all drafts of legislation proposed exempt Boston from all their provisions.

The four plans are as follows: "Plan A"—A mayor and city council of nine members, to be elected at large for terms of two years in each case. The mayor is given absolute power in appointments, removals and veto.

"Plan B"—A mayor and city council composed of not more than 15 members, one to be elected from each ward of the city and the remaining members to be elected at large. The mayor is given the power of appointment, removal and veto, subject to the approval of the city council.

"Plan C"—The so-called commission form of government with five commissioners, one of whom shall be mayor, to be elected at large for terms of two years each.

RUSSIANS WIN DECISIVE VICTORY OVER THE TURKS

Two Turkish Army Corps Literally Wiped Out, One Surrendering and the Other Being Annihilated

LONDON, Jan. 6.—One of the most decisive victories of the war has been won by the Russians in the far-off Caucasus, where two entire Turkish army corps, totalling nearly 100,000 men, have been literally wiped out, one surrendering and the other being annihilated.

The news came to London last night in an official Petrograd bulletin, which gave the location of the victory as Sarikamish, a little town near the boundary between Russia's Caucasian territory and Turkey in Asia. The Ninth Turkish Army Corps, including its commander and three division commanders, fell into the hands of the Russians, while the accompanying corps was cut to pieces, such small bodies of the troops as succeeded in escaping being closely pursued and destroyed.

At the same time another Turkish column, further to the northwest, near Ardahan, who were said in a flamboyant bulletin from Constantinople two days ago to have captured that town, has also been driven back by the Russians and is threatened with disaster. The Turks here are practically surrounded by the Russians, who hold the main roads and are frantically trying to find an outlet through passes deep with snow. The Russians are attacking Ardahan on two sides and have brought heavy field artillery into effective play.

It is likely when full details are known, that the battle at Sarikamish will prove to be one of the most fiercely fought and picturesque of the war. If the combatants were equally divided as to strength there were at least 200,000 men engaged in a furious death grapple amid the heavy snows that cumber the Caucasian foothills at this season. The ancient hatred of Turk and Slav had an outlet that was without stint. Details of the battle that came filtering into London with every hour indicate that the Turks fought gamely and showed great bravery when they saw the tide going against them. When they were compelled to give way before the furious onslaughts of the Cossacks and the Russian infantry they made a valiant but futile effort to cover their retreat by rear guard actions, even the wounded continuing to fire from the ground after they had been struck down.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHTS EUROPEAN WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Two Turkish armies defeated in Trans-Caucasia; one corps captured bodily, says Russian report. French attack Germany in Alsace. Germans say French have been driven back toward Belfort.

Allies make slight gains along Belgian coast. Germans report they have captured Borjnow in Poland.

Russian cavalry routs rear guard of Austrians in Czech Pass. Cardinal Mercier of Belgium reported arrested by Germans.

New German effort to turn Russian flank by attack from Thorn. Forts on the Dardanelles open fire on allied fleet; torpedo boat damaged.

Russia still recovers munitions and sends out provisions at Archangel. Kaiser reports to be eating "war bread" of potato flour, to get his people to use it.

England and Germany to exchange prisoners incapacitated for further service. England gratified by American certification, but fears addition to cargoes at sea.

ENGLAND WILL NOT WAIVE RIGHT TO SEARCH SHIPS

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Although the foreign office regards with high favor the American government's plan of certifying cargoes loaded under the direction of officials of the treasury department and destined for European ports, it was said yesterday that England cannot accept such certification as an absolute guarantee of the nature of the cargo in case any cause for suspicion arises after the vessel leaves America. In other words, the right of search cannot be waived, because of the possibility of shifting cargoes at sea and of the impossibility of having the treasury officer who issues the certificate accompany the ship to its destination to guard against smugglers who may carry copper or other contraband on small ships to be transferred at sea.

The waiving of the right to search ships bearing contraband cargoes, in the opinion of several prominent British officials, would be an invitation for smuggling to ply their trade, whereas the retention of the right would tend to prevent dishonesty.

This position is precisely the same as that taken by the foreign office concerning the certification of manifests of American cargoes by British consuls at American ports.

The government is constantly in communication with representatives of Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland. It is reported that all of these nations are taking steps to revise their lists of prohibited exports, so that they will correspond with the British conditions, thus making possible a resumption of shipping to neutral European countries from America without delay or the danger of seizure.

A decidedly favorable impression has been produced here by the American certification plan. British officials regard it as a further manifestation of the desire of the American government to hasten a satisfactory settlement of the differences concerning the delay and seizure of American cargoes.

Owing to the failure of the London newspapers to discuss the preliminary negotiations between the British and the American governments, Secretary Gray extending over several weeks before the American note was presented, the English public was not well advised concerning the differences which grew up.

shall consist of six members, elected at large for three-year terms, with the mayor as chairman of the committee, ex-officio.

KILLS BOYHOOD CHUM

AXEL JENSEN, CHICAGO POLICE SERGEANT, DISCOVERS GEORGE HENNESSEY ROBBING STORE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Axel Jensen, a police sergeant, said yesterday that George Hennessey, whom he shot and killed yesterday morning on discovering him robbing a drug store, was a boyhood chum with whom he had been intimate for years.

The coroner's jury commended Jensen for his promptness in performing his duty. Jensen wept when he told of killing his former playmate.

WARSHIPS TORPEDOED

CONFIRMATION OF REPORT THAT AUSTRIAN VIRIBUS UNITIS AND RADEZKY WERE DAMAGED

GENEVA, Switzerland, via Paris, Jan. 6.—Recent reports that the Austrian battleships Viribus Unitis and Radetzky had been damaged during the attack by the Anglo-French fleet on Pola were confirmed in a despatch received by the Geneva Tribune, yesterday from Trieste.

The message says that both battleships were torpedoed and greatly damaged. They are now docked at Pola and will be useless for a long time.

A despatch from Venice Dec. 31 said that the Viribus Unitis, one of the largest ships of the Austrian navy, had been torpedoed by a French submarine. The damage sustained by the Radetzky, a smaller battleship, was said at the time to have been due not to a torpedo, but to the fire from the Austrian forts at Pola, mistakenly directed against the Austrian warship.
